THE SITUATION IN CYPRUS<sup>4</sup>

Decisions

On 24 August 2015, the President of the Security Council addressed the following letter to the Secretary-General:<sup>5</sup>

I have the honour to inform you that your letter dated 20 August 2015 concerning your request for the United Nations Interim Force in Lebanon demining team to remain in Cyprus under the current arrangement until December 2015<sup>6</sup> has been brought to the attention of the members of the Security Council. They take note of the information contained in your letter and the request expressed therein.

At its 7613th meeting, on 28 January 2016, the Council considered the item entitled:

“The situation in Cyprus

“Report of the Secretary-General on the United Nations operation in Cyprus (S/2016/11)

“Report of the Secretary-General on his mission of good offices in Cyprus (S/2016/15)”.

Resolution 2263 (2016) of 28 January 2016

The Security Council,

Welcoming the report of the Secretary-General of 6 January 2016 on the United Nations operation in Cyprus,<sup>7</sup>

Noting that the Government of Cyprus has agreed that, in view of the prevailing conditions on the island, it is necessary to keep the United Nations Peacekeeping Force in Cyprus beyond 31 January 2016,

---

Noting also the intention of the Secretary-General to report on his good offices in the next reporting period, echoing the Secretary-General's firm belief that the responsibility for finding a solution lies first and foremost with the Cypriots themselves, and reaffirming the primary role of the United Nations in assisting the parties to bring the Cyprus conflict and division of the island to a comprehensive and durable settlement,

Welcoming the good progress of negotiations, the positive momentum and the commitment expressed by the leaders to work tirelessly to reach a comprehensive settlement as soon as possible, in a results-oriented manner as agreed to in the joint declaration adopted by the Greek Cypriot and Turkish Cypriot leaders on 11 February 2014, and the support provided by the Special Adviser to the Secretary-General on Cyprus, Mr. Espen Barth Eide,

Recalling the importance that the international community attaches to all parties engaging fully, flexibly and constructively in the negotiations, noting that the negotiations have not yet resulted in an enduring, comprehensive and just settlement based on a bicommunal, bizonal federation with political equality, as set out in the relevant Security Council resolutions, encouraging the sides to intensify the substantive negotiations on the unresolved core issues interdependently, and stressing that the status quo is unsustainable,

Noting the need to advance the consideration of and discussions on military confidence-building measures, and calling for renewed efforts to implement all remaining confidence-building measures and for agreement on and implementation of further steps to build trust between the communities,

Reaffirming the importance of continued crossings of the Green Line by Cypriots, and encouraging the opening by mutual agreement of other crossing points,

Convinced of the many important benefits, including economic benefits, for all Cypriots that would flow from a comprehensive and durable Cyprus settlement, urging the two sides and their leaders to foster positive public rhetoric, and encouraging them clearly to explain the benefits of the settlement, as well as the need for increased flexibility and compromise in order to secure it, to both communities well in advance of any referendums,

Highlighting the importance, both political and financial, of the supporting role of the international community, and in particular that of all parties concerned in taking practical steps towards helping the Greek Cypriot and Turkish Cypriot leaders to exploit fully the current opportunity,

Taking note of the assessment of the Secretary-General that the security situation on the island and along the Green Line remains stable, and urging all sides to avoid any action, including violations of the military status quo, which could lead to an increase in tension, undermine the progress achieved so far or damage the goodwill on the island,

Recalling the Secretary-General's firm belief that the situation in the buffer zone would be improved if both sides accepted the 1989 aide-memoire used by the United Nations,

Noting with regret that the sides are withholding access to the remaining minefields in the buffer zone, and that demining in Cyprus must continue, noting the continued danger posed by mines in Cyprus, noting also proposals and discussions as well as positive initiatives on demining, and urging rapid agreement on facilitating the recommencement of demining operations and clearance of the remaining minefields,

Commending the work of the Committee on Missing Persons in Cyprus, highlighting the importance of intensifying its activities and, therefore, the need to provide all information required, noting that nearly half of all missing persons have yet to be located and about 69 per cent have yet to be identified, welcoming moves to allow the Committee access to 30 additional suspected burial sites in military areas in north Cyprus, urging the opening up of access to all areas expeditiously to allow the Committee to carry out its work, and trusting that this process will promote reconciliation between the communities,

Agreeing that active participation of civil society groups, including women's groups, is essential to the political process and can contribute to making any future settlement sustainable, recalling that women play a critically important role in peace processes, welcoming all efforts to promote bicommunal contacts and events, including on the part of all United Nations bodies on the island, and urging the two sides to promote the active engagement of civil society and the encouragement of cooperation between economic and commercial bodies and to remove all obstacles to such contacts,

Stressing the need for the Council to pursue a rigorous, strategic approach to peacekeeping deployments,

Welcoming the intention of the Secretary-General to keep all peacekeeping operations under close review to ensure efficiency and effectiveness, including a review of the Force when appropriate, and noting the importance of transition planning in relation to the settlement, including recommendations, as appropriate, for further adjustments to the mandate, force levels and other resources and concept of operations of the Force, taking into account developments on the ground and the views of the parties,

Noting with appreciation the efforts of Ms. Lisa Buttenheim as the Special Representative of the Secretary-General in Cyprus and the Force Commander, Major General Kristin Lund, and the appointment by the Secretary-General of his Special Adviser, Mr. Espen Barth Eide,

Echoing the Secretary-General's gratitude to the Government of Cyprus and the Government of Greece for their voluntary contributions to the funding of the Force and his request for further voluntary contributions from other countries and organizations, and expressing appreciation to Member States that contribute personnel to the Force,

Welcoming and encouraging efforts by the United Nations to sensitize peacekeeping personnel in the prevention and control of HIV/AIDS and other communicable diseases in all its peacekeeping operations,

1. Welcomes the progress so far of the negotiations led by the leaders and the ongoing efforts of the leaders and their negotiators to reach a comprehensive and durable settlement, and encourages the sides to grasp the current opportunity with determination to secure a comprehensive settlement;

2. Takes note of the reports of the Secretary-General;<sup>7,8</sup>

3. Recalls Security Council resolution 2026 (2011) of 14 December 2011, and calls upon the two leaders:

(a) To put their efforts behind further work on reaching convergences on the core issues;

(b) To continue to work with the technical committees with the objective of improving the daily lives of the Cypriots;

(c) To improve the public atmosphere for the negotiations, including by focusing public messages on convergences and the way ahead and delivering more constructive and harmonized messages;

(d) To increase the participation of civil society in the process, as appropriate;

4. Urges the implementation of confidence-building measures, and looks forward to agreement on and implementation of further such mutually acceptable steps, including military confidence-building measures and the opening of crossing points already agreed upon and others, that can contribute to a conducive environment for a settlement;

5. Welcomes all efforts to accommodate the exhumation requirements of the Committee on Missing Persons in Cyprus as well as the joint appeal for information issued by the two leaders on 28 May 2015, and calls upon all parties to provide more expeditious, full access to all areas, given the need to intensify the work of the Committee;

6. Reaffirms all its relevant resolutions on Cyprus, in particular resolution 1251 (1999) of 29 June 1999 and subsequent resolutions;

7. Expresses its full support for the United Nations Peacekeeping Force in Cyprus, and decides to extend its mandate for a further period ending 31 July 2016 and to increase force levels to 888;

8. Calls upon both sides to continue to engage, as a matter of urgency and while respecting the mandate of the Force, in consultations with the Force on the demarcation of the buffer zone and on the United Nations 1989 aide-memoire, with a view to reaching early agreement on outstanding issues;

9. Calls upon the Turkish Cypriot side and Turkish forces to restore in Strovolia the military status quo which existed there prior to 30 June 2000;

10. Calls upon both sides to allow access to deminers and to facilitate the removal of the remaining mines in Cyprus within the buffer zone, and urges both sides to extend demining operations outside the buffer zone;

11. Requests the Secretary-General to submit a report on the implementation of the present resolution, including on contingency planning in relation to the settlement, by 8 July 2016 and to keep the Council updated on events as necessary;

12. Welcomes the efforts being undertaken by the Force to implement the Secretary-General's zero-tolerance policy on sexual exploitation and abuse and to ensure full compliance of its personnel with the United Nations code of conduct, requests the Secretary-General to continue to take all necessary action in this regard and to keep the Council informed, and urges troop-contributing countries to take appropriate preventive action, including conducting predeployment awareness training, and to take disciplinary action and other action to ensure full accountability in cases of such conduct involving their personnel;

13. Decides to remain seized of the matter.

Adopted unanimously at the 7613th meeting.

Decisions

On 26 February 2016, the President of the Security Council addressed the following letter to the Secretary-General:<sup>9</sup>

I have the honour to inform you that your letter dated 23 February 2016 concerning your intention to appoint Ms. Elizabeth Spehar, of Canada, as your Special Representative in Cyprus and Head of the United Nations Peacekeeping Force in Cyprus<sup>10</sup> has been brought to the attention of the members of the Security Council. They take note of the intention expressed in your letter.

On 6 May 2016, the President of the Security Council addressed the following letter to the Secretary-General:<sup>11</sup>

I have the honour to inform you that your letter dated 28 April 2016,<sup>12</sup> in which you requested the establishment of a standing inter-mission cooperation arrangement for an initial period of one year between the United Nations Interim Force in Lebanon and the United Nations Peacekeeping Force in Cyprus, has been brought to the attention of the members of the Security Council.

The Council has consistently supported demining operations in Cyprus, most recently in its resolution 2263 \(2016\), in which it urged rapid agreement on facilitating the recommencement of demining operations and clearance of the remaining minefields, called upon both sides to allow access to deminers and to facilitate the removal of the remaining mines in Cyprus within the buffer zone, and urged both sides to extend demining operations outside the buffer zone.

In this vein, and with a view to ensuring greater clarity over the deployment of troop-contributing contingents at any given moment under inter-mission arrangements, the Council welcomes the submission, for its consideration, of any such specific requests in the area of demining in Cyprus on a case-by-case basis, rather than under a one-year standing arrangement.

On 25 July 2016, the President of the Security Council addressed the following letter to the Secretary-General:<sup>13</sup>

I have the honour to inform you that your letter dated 21 July 2016 concerning your intention to appoint Major General Mohammad Humayun Kabir, of Bangladesh, as the new Force Commander of the United Nations Peacekeeping Force in Cyprus<sup>14</sup> has been brought to the attention of the members of the Security Council. They take note of the intention expressed in your letter.

Decisions

At its 7504th meeting, on 17 August 2015, the Security Council considered the item entitled “The situation in the Middle East”.

At the same meeting, following consultations among members of the Security Council, the President made the following statement on behalf of the Council:<sup>22</sup>

The Security Council recalls its resolutions 2042 \(2012\), 2043 \(2012\), 2118 \(2013\), 2139 \(2014\), 2165 \(2014\), 2170 \(2014\), 2175 \(2014\), 2178 \(2014\), 2191 \(2014\), 2199 \(2015\) and 2235 \(2015\) and the statements by its President of 3 August 2011,<sup>23</sup> 2 October 2013<sup>24</sup> and 24 April 2015.<sup>25</sup>

The Council reaffirms its strong commitment to the sovereignty, independence, unity and territorial integrity of the Syrian Arab Republic and all other States affected by the Syrian conflict, and to the purposes and principles of the Charter of the United Nations.

The Council stresses that the only sustainable solution to the current crisis in the Syrian Arab Republic is through an inclusive and Syrian-led political process that meets the legitimate aspirations of the Syrian people, with a view to full implementation of the Geneva communiqué of 30 June 2012,<sup>26</sup> and in this regard emphasizes the urgency for all parties to work diligently and constructively towards this goal.

The Council reiterates its demands as set forth in resolution 2139 \(2014\) that all parties cease any attacks against civilians as such, as well as any indiscriminate use of weapons in populated areas, including such use involving shelling and barrel bombs; as well as its demand for the immediate end to arbitrary detention, torture, kidnappings, abductions and forced disappearances of civilians and the immediate release of those arbitrarily detained, including journalists and humanitarian personnel; stresses the importance of implementation of such demands, in accordance with relevant provisions of international law, in creating an environment conducive to the commencement of substantive political negotiations and in building confidence among the parties; and reiterates in this regard that the primary responsibility to protect the population lies with the Syrian authorities.

The Council expresses its gravest concern that parts of the Syrian Arab Republic are under the control of terrorist groups such as Islamic State in Iraq and the Levant (ISIL) and Al-Nusrah Front, condemns the ongoing and multiple terrorist acts by ISIL, Al-Nusrah Front and all other individuals, groups, undertakings and entities associated with Al-Qaida, condemns further the targeting of civilians based on their ethnicity, religion and/or confessional affiliations, expresses concern about the negative impact of terrorism, violent extremist ideology in support of terrorism, and action that destabilizes the Syrian Arab Republic and the region, with a devastating humanitarian impact on the civilian population, reaffirms its resolve to address all aspects of the threat, and calls upon all parties to commit to putting an end to terrorist acts perpetrated by ISIL, Al-Nusrah Front and all other individuals, groups, undertakings and entities associated with Al-Qaida.

The Council commends the Special Envoy of the Secretary-General for Syria for his efforts in convening the Geneva consultations, from April to June 2015, with a broad range of stakeholders with respect to the crisis in the Syrian Arab Republic as part of the effort to operationalize the 2012 Geneva communiqué.

The Council supports the approach set out by the Special Envoy that in order to work towards political negotiations and a political transition based on the Geneva communiqué, four thematic areas need to be addressed through more focused consultations and discussions with the Syrian parties in four thematic working groups: safety and protection for all; political and legal issues; military, security and counter-terrorism issues; and continuity of public services and reconstruction and development.

The Council urges all parties to engage in good faith in the efforts of the Special Envoy, through his good offices, and to continue consultations and thematic discussions, and notes that these efforts can build on recent initiatives, including the meetings held in Moscow, Cairo, Paris and Astana.

The Council demands that all parties work urgently towards the comprehensive implementation of the Geneva communiqué, aimed at bringing an end to all violence, violations and abuses of human rights and violations of international humanitarian law and the launching of a Syrian-led political process leading to a political transition that meets the legitimate aspirations of the Syrian people and enables them independently and democratically to determine their future, including through the establishment of an inclusive transitional governing body with full executive powers, which shall be formed on the basis of mutual consent while ensuring continuity of governmental institutions.

The Council welcomes the statement by the Secretary-General of 29 July 2015 that there can be no military solution to the Syrian conflict,<sup>27</sup> and reiterates its endorsement of a political solution through implementation of the Geneva communiqué.

The Council stresses that rapid progress on a political solution should include full participation by all segments of Syrian society, including women, and represents the only sustainable way to resolve the situation in the Syrian Arab Republic peacefully.

The Council emphasizes the need for robust international and regional assistance in support of the efforts of the Special Envoy.

The Council expresses grave alarm that the Syrian crisis has become the largest humanitarian emergency crisis in the world today, threatening peace and security in the region, and that at least 250,000 have been killed, including well over 10,000 children, and 12 million people have been forced to flee their homes, including over 4 million who have sought refuge in neighbouring countries, and more than 12.2 million people in the Syrian Arab Republic require urgent humanitarian assistance. In this regard, the Council recalls its decision as set forth in resolution 2165 \(2014\) that all Syrian parties to the conflict shall enable the immediate and unhindered delivery of humanitarian assistance directly to people throughout the Syrian Arab Republic.

The Council recalls the need for all parties to respect the relevant provisions of international humanitarian law and the United Nations guiding principles of humanitarian emergency assistance.

The Council requests that the Secretary-General report back to the Council on the results of the next phase of consultations within 90 days.

At its 7507th meeting, on 19 August 2015, the Council considered the item entitled “The situation in the Middle East”.

At the same meeting, the Council decided to extend an invitation, in accordance with rule 39 of its provisional rules of procedure, to Mr. Stephen O’Brien, Under-Secretary-General for Humanitarian Affairs and Emergency Relief Coordinator.

Reaffirming its strong commitment to the sovereignty, independence, unity and territorial integrity of the Syrian Arab Republic and to the purposes and principles of the Charter of the United Nations,

Expressing outrage at the unacceptable and escalating level of violence and the killing of over a quarter of a million people, including tens of thousands of child casualties, as a result of the Syrian conflict,

Gravely distressed by the continued deterioration of the devastating humanitarian situation in the Syrian Arab Republic and by the fact that urgent humanitarian assistance, including medical assistance, is now required by more than 13.5 million people in the Syrian Arab Republic – of whom 6.5 million are internally displaced, 4.5 million are living in hard-to-reach areas, including Palestinian refugees, and 393,700 civilians are trapped in besieged areas,

Gravely concerned at the lack of effective implementation of its resolutions 2139 \(2014\), 2165 \(2014\) and 2191 \(2014\), and recalling in this regard the legal obligations of all parties under international humanitarian law and international human rights law, as well as all the relevant decisions of the Security Council, including by ceasing all attacks against civilians and civilian objects, including those involving attacks on schools and medical facilities and the deliberate interruptions of water supply, the indiscriminate use of weapons, including artillery, barrel bombs and air strikes, indiscriminate shelling by mortars, car bombs, suicide attacks and tunnel bombs, as well as the use of starvation of civilians as a method of combat, including by the besiegement of populated areas, and the widespread use of torture, ill-treatment, arbitrary executions, extrajudicial killings, enforced disappearances and sexual and gender-based violence, as well as all grave violations and abuses committed against children,

Expressing its grave concern that areas of the Syrian Arab Republic are under the control of Islamic State in Iraq and the Levant (ISIL, also known as Da’esh) and Al-Nusra Front and about the negative impact of their presence, violent extremist ideology and actions on stability in the Syrian Arab Republic and the region, including the devastating humanitarian impact on the civilian populations which has led to the displacement of hundreds of thousands of people, reaffirming its resolve to address all aspects of the threat posed by ISIL (also known as Da’esh), Al-Nusra Front and all other individuals, groups, undertakings and entities associated with Al-Qaida, and other terrorist groups, as determined by the Security Council, and as may further be agreed by the International Syria Support Group and endorsed by the Council, and calling for the full implementation of Council resolutions 2170 \(2014\) of 15 August 2014, 2178 \(2014\) of 24 September 2014, 2199 \(2015\) of 12 February 2015, 2249 \(2015\) of 20 November 2015 and 2253 \(2015\) of 17 December 2015, and noting the statements by its President of 28 July 2014,<sup>41</sup> 19 November 2014<sup>42</sup> and 29 May 2015,<sup>43</sup>

international law, to prevent and suppress the flow of foreign terrorist fighters to ISIL, Al-Nusrah Front and all other individuals, groups, undertakings and entities associated with ISIL or Al-Qaida, and other terrorist groups, as determined by the Security Council, and as may further be agreed by the International Syria Support Group and endorsed by the Council,

Reaffirming the primary responsibility of the Syrian authorities to protect the population in the Syrian Arab Republic and reiterating that parties to armed conflict must take all feasible steps to protect civilians, and recalling in this regard its demand that all parties to armed conflict comply fully with the obligations applicable to them under international law related to the protection of civilians in armed conflict, including journalists, media professionals and associated personnel,

Strongly condemning the arbitrary detention and torture of individuals in the Syrian Arab Republic, notably in prisons and detention facilities, as well as the kidnappings, abductions, hostage-taking and forced disappearances, and demanding the immediate end of these practices and the release of all arbitrarily detained persons starting with women and children, as well as sick, wounded and elderly people, including United Nations and humanitarian personnel and journalists,

Recalling its strong condemnation in resolution 2175 \(2014\) of all forms of violence and intimidation to which those participating in humanitarian operations are increasingly exposed, as well as attacks on humanitarian convoys and acts of destruction and looting of their assets, and its urging of all parties involved in an armed conflict to promote the safety, security and freedom of movement of humanitarian personnel, including medical personnel and humanitarian personnel exclusively engaged in medical duties, and United Nations and associated personnel and their assets, expressing its admiration at the dedication and commitment of the Syrian Red Crescent volunteers and other humanitarian workers operating in deeply challenging conditions, and urging all parties to take all appropriate steps to ensure the safety and security of United Nations and associated personnel, those of its specialized agencies, and all other personnel engaged in humanitarian relief activities,

Noting that, despite all the challenges, since the adoption of resolution 2165 \(2014\), the United Nations and its implementing partners continue to deliver life-saving assistance to millions of people in need in the Syrian Arab Republic through humanitarian aid delivered across borders, including the delivery of food assistance for over 2.4 million people, non-food items for 1.6 million people, medical supplies for 4.1 million treatments, and water and sanitation supplies for over 1.3 million people,

Deeply disturbed by the decline in the number of people reached with humanitarian assistance in hard-to-reach and besieged areas, expressing grave alarm at the dire situation of the 393,700 civilians trapped in besieged areas in the Syrian Arab Republic, and noting in this regard that in 2015 the United Nations has only been able to reach 3.5 per cent of people in besieged areas with health assistance and 0.7 per cent of people with food assistance per month,

Expressing grave concern at all instances of hindrances to the effective delivery of humanitarian assistance, noting that ISIL (also known as Da'esh), Al-Nusrah Front and all other individuals, groups, undertakings and entities associated with Al-Qaida are hindering the effective delivery of humanitarian assistance, including to nearly half of the people in hard-to-reach areas and over half of the people in besieged areas, and are responsible for preventing aid delivery through deliberate interference and obstruction,

Expressing grave concern also at the continuing and growing impediments to the delivery of humanitarian assistance across conflict lines, including through a decline in convoy approvals by the Syrian authorities, and noting in this regard that as of 31 October, only 27 out of the 91 inter-agency requests made in 2015 by the United Nations had been approved in principle by the Syrian authorities, and that between 2013 and 2015, the percentage of inter-agency convoys approved in principle declined from 65 per cent to 29 per cent,

Expressing grave concern further that access to medical care continues to be severely restricted, and reiterating the need to respect the principle of medical neutrality and facilitate free passage to all areas for medical personnel, equipment, transport and supplies, including surgical items,

Reaffirming the need to support the United Nations and its implementing partners in their efforts to expand the delivery of humanitarian assistance to reach all people in need in the Syrian Arab Republic, and further reaffirming its decision in resolution 2165 \(2014\) that all Syrian parties to the conflict shall enable the immediate and unhindered delivery of humanitarian assistance directly to people throughout the Syrian Arab Republic by the United Nations and its implementing partners, on the basis of United Nations assessments of need and devoid of any political prejudices and aims, including by immediately removing all impediments to the provision of humanitarian assistance,

Expressing its interest in receiving more detailed information from the Secretary-General on the delivery of humanitarian assistance by the United Nations and its implementing partners, in accordance with resolution 2165 \(2014\),

Expressing its appreciation for the work of the United Nations monitoring mechanism in monitoring shipments and confirming their humanitarian nature, in accordance with resolutions 2165 \(2014\) and 2191 \(2014\), and commanding the mechanism's efforts in facilitating cross-border delivery of humanitarian aid by the United Nations and its implementing partners, and encouraging the United Nations and its implementing partners to continue to take steps to scale up humanitarian deliveries into hard-to-reach and besieged areas, including by using, as effectively as possible, border crossings under resolution 2165 \(2014\),

Recalling the need for all parties to respect the relevant provisions of international humanitarian law and the United Nations guiding principles of humanitarian emergency assistance, emphasizing the importance of upholding the principles of humanity, neutrality, impartiality and independence in the provision of humanitarian assistance, and recalling also the importance of humanitarian deliveries reaching their intended beneficiaries,

Noting the role that ceasefire agreements which are consistent with humanitarian principles and international humanitarian law can play in facilitating the delivery of humanitarian assistance in order to help to save civilian lives, and welcoming in this regard recent progress on ceasefire agreements in the Syrian Arab Republic that have benefited the humanitarian situation,

Expressing grave concern at the more than 4.2 million refugees, including more than 3.2 million women and children, who have fled the Syrian Arab Republic as a result of ongoing violence, and recognizing that the continued deterioration of the humanitarian situation in the Syrian Arab Republic is further contributing to the movement of refugees and poses risks to regional stability,

Reiterating its deep appreciation for the significant and admirable efforts that have been made by the countries of the region, notably Lebanon, Jordan, Turkey, Iraq and Egypt, to accommodate Syrian refugees, including the approximately 1.8 million refugees who have fled the Syrian Arab Republic since the adoption of resolution 2139 \(2014\), and mindful of the immense costs and social challenges incurred by these countries as a consequence of the crisis,

Noting with concern that the international response to the Syrian and regional crisis continues to fall short of meeting the needs as assessed by host Governments and the United Nations, therefore urging once again all Member States, based on burden-sharing principles, to support the United Nations and the countries of the region, including by adopting medium- and long-term responses to alleviate the impact on communities, providing increased, flexible and predictable funding as well as increasing resettlement efforts, taking note in this regard of the Berlin Communiqué on solidarity with refugees and their hosts of 28 October 2014,<sup>44</sup> and welcoming the announcement of the Syria donors conference to be held in London, which will be generously hosted by the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, Germany, Norway, Kuwait and the United Nations in early February 2016,

Noting with grave concern that impunity in the Syrian Arab Republic contributes to widespread violations and abuses of human rights and violations of international humanitarian law, stressing the need to end impunity for these violations and abuses, and re-emphasizing in this regard the need that those who have committed or are otherwise responsible for such violations and abuses in the Syrian Arab Republic must be brought to justice,

Emphasizing that the humanitarian situation will continue to deteriorate further in the absence of a political solution to the crisis,

Determining that the deteriorating humanitarian situation in the Syrian Arab Republic continues to constitute a threat to peace and security in the region,

The Security Council recalls that the Gulf Cooperation Council initiative and implementation mechanism, the outcomes of the comprehensive National Dialogue Conference and relevant Security Council resolutions provide the basis for inclusive negotiations for a political settlement of the crisis in Yemen.

The Council welcomes the commencement of a nationwide cessation of hostilities in Yemen which began at midnight on 10 April 2016, and the launch of Yemeni-Yemeni peace talks, hosted by Kuwait, led and facilitated by the Special Envoy of the Secretary-General for Yemen, Mr. Ismail Ould Cheikh Ahmed, which commenced on 21 April. The Council urges the parties to comply fully with the cessation of hostilities and exercise restraint in response to any reports of violations. The Council further notes the importance of reaching agreement on a framework of principles, mechanisms and processes for the conclusion of a comprehensive agreement which will bring about a permanent end to the conflict.

The Council also calls upon all Yemeni parties to develop a road map for the implementation of interim security measures, especially at the local level, withdrawals, handover of heavy weapons, restoration of State institutions and the resumption of political dialogue in line with relevant Security Council decisions, the Gulf Cooperation Council initiative and implementation mechanism and the outcomes of the comprehensive National Dialogue Conference.

The Security Council notes that, in line with Council resolution 2216 \(2015\) and the outcomes of the comprehensive National Dialogue Conference, the parties should commit to ensure that security mechanisms, including the formation of security committees, facilitate and oversee the negotiated withdrawal of militias and armed groups and provide for the orderly handover of heavy and medium weapons to State control.

The Council recalls the importance of the full participation of women and civil society in the peace process (including on security arrangements), in line with the outcomes of the National Dialogue Conference.

The Council expresses its strong concern about intensified terrorist attacks, including by Al-Qaida in the Arabian Peninsula and Islamic State in Iraq and the Levant (also known as Da'esh), and encourages all Yemeni parties to avoid any security vacuums that can be exploited by terrorists or other violent groups. The Council stresses that a political solution to the crisis is essential to address, in a durable and comprehensive manner, the threat of terrorism in Yemen.

The Council stresses the importance of the restoration of government control over all State institutions, including respect for the legally established lines of authority in State institutions; removal of any hindrance or obstructions to the proper functioning of State institutions; and changes to ensure inclusivity in political institutions.

The Council reiterates that resuming Yemen's peaceful political transition to a democratically governed State, in line with the Gulf Cooperation Council initiative, should be guided by a new constitution and the holding of parliamentary and presidential elections, and conducted in an inclusive manner involving the full participation of all of Yemen's diverse communities, including all regions of the country, youth and the full and effective participation of women.

The Security Council notes the devastating humanitarian impact of the conflict on the Yemeni people and emphasizes that the humanitarian situation will deteriorate in the absence of a political solution. In this regard, the Council calls upon all States to respect the mandate and processes of the United Nations Verification and Inspection Mechanism, based in Djibouti, and facilitate the full implementation of its mandate without any further delay.

The Council recalls its resolution 2266 \(2016\), in which the Council expressed its support for and commitment to the work of the Special Envoy of the Secretary-General for Yemen, Mr. Ismail Ould Cheikh Ahmed, in support of a Yemeni-led transition process.

Decisions

At its 7742nd meeting, on 22 July 2016, the Security Council decided to invite the representative of Lebanon to participate, without vote, in accordance with rule 37 of its provisional rules of procedure, in the discussion of the item entitled "The situation in the Middle East".

At the same meeting, following consultations among members of the Security Council, the President made the following statement on behalf of the Council:<sup>59</sup>

The Security Council recalls all its previous resolutions and the statements by its President on the situation in Lebanon. The Council reaffirms its strong support for the territorial integrity, sovereignty and political independence of Lebanon.

The Council stresses that the election of a President, the formation of a unity government and the election of a parliament by May 2017 are critical for Lebanon's stability and resilience to withstand regional challenges.

The Council underscores in this regard in the strongest possible terms its deepest concern over the two-year-long vacancy in the presidency of Lebanon since the expiration of the mandate of the former President, Mr. Michel Sleiman, on 24 May 2014. The Council further expresses deep concern at the Parliament's repeated inability to form a quorum and elect a President. The Council underlines that this prolonged vacancy has led to blockages in the Council of Ministers and rendered the Parliament incapable of passing critical legislation. The Security Council further stresses that the vacancy and the resulting political paralysis seriously impair Lebanon's ability to address the growing security, economic, social and humanitarian challenges facing the country.

The Council urges Lebanese leaders to adhere to Lebanon's Constitution and National Pact and calls upon all parties to act responsibly, put Lebanon's stability and national interests ahead of partisan politics and show the necessary flexibility and sense of urgency to apply mechanisms provided for by the Lebanese Constitution with regard to the election.

The Council reaffirms its call upon all Lebanese leaders to act with leadership and flexibility to convene urgently a parliamentary session and proceed to the election of a President. The Council calls upon all Lebanese parties, including in the Parliament, to apply mechanisms provided for by the Lebanese Constitution with regard to the presidential election. The Council further calls upon all parties to engage in negotiating a compromise agreement with the aim of ending the political and institutional crisis in Lebanon.

The Council welcomes the efforts of the Prime Minister, Mr. Tammam Salam, to govern under increasingly difficult circumstances and calls upon all parties in Lebanon to enable the Government to function effectively. The Council is, however, deeply concerned about the inability of the Government to take key decisions and calls upon the political leadership in Lebanon to stand together in the national interest despite their political differences.

The Council also commends the Government of Lebanon for the timely holding of local elections and further encourages the Lebanese authorities to move ahead within the set calendar for the next legislative elections.

The Council encourages all parties in Lebanon to demonstrate renewed unity and determination to resist a slide into violence and conflict. The Council stresses the importance of enhanced messages of moderation by Lebanon's leaders, including intensified dialogues and calls to defuse sectarian tensions.

The Council condemns in the strongest terms acts of terrorism on Lebanese territory, and commends the Lebanese Armed Forces and security forces for their commitment and critical role played in preventing and combating terrorism within Lebanon. The members of the Council reiterate in this regard their call for the continuation of international support for the Lebanese Armed Forces through additional and expedited assistance in areas where the Lebanese Armed Forces are most critically in need of support, including counter-terrorism and border protection.

The Council underscores its previous calls upon all Lebanese parties to recommit to Lebanon's policy of dissociation and to cease any involvement in the Syrian crisis, consistent with their commitment in the ministerial declaration of the current Government and in the Baabda Declaration of 11 June 2012.<sup>60</sup>

The Council affirms that the preservation of the stability of Lebanon is essential to regional stability and security. It encourages regional partners to engage constructively in resolving the presidential vacancy and preventing the spillover of regional crises into Lebanon, and it encourages the international community to continue to support Lebanon's political and economic stability, including through the continued provision of assistance.

The Council is in this regard gravely concerned by the impact of hosting over 1 million Syrian refugees registered with the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees in Lebanon, which represents more refugees per capita than any other country, and its impact on host communities, on the stability and security of Lebanon and the wider region. The Council underscores that support to Lebanon's efforts to manage the impact of the influx of refugees, including on essential services such as education and health, is crucial to preserving the stability and security of Lebanon. The Council acknowledges the extraordinary challenges Lebanon and the Lebanese people continue to face in this regard and Lebanon's efforts to host, assist and protect those refugees and the importance of upholding human rights and humanitarian principles.

In this regard, the Council commends the statement of intent presented by Lebanon at the Supporting Syria and the Region conference, held in London on 4 February 2016 and encourages its full implementation to support the stability of Lebanon. The Council in this regard commends donors for their disbursement of funds to date and calls upon others to fulfil their pledges of support.

The Council expresses its appreciation for the International Support Group for Lebanon and urges the Support Group to continue its work in coordination with the United Nations Special Coordinator for Lebanon to seek opportunities to help to address rising challenges to the security and stability of Lebanon. It welcomes the proposal made by the President of France on 16 April 2016 in Beirut to organize a ministerial meeting of the Support Group. The Council encourages the Special Coordinator, in the context of her good offices role and in close coordination with the members of the Support Group, to conduct intensified contacts with Lebanon's partners, to convey the above messages and to engage key national and regional stakeholders with the aim of helping Lebanon towards a solution to the presidential vacancy. The Council further requests the Secretary-General to provide updates on the presidential vacancy and its impact on Lebanese institutions in subsequent reports on Lebanon.

Expressing outrage at the unacceptable and escalating level of violence and the killing of well over a quarter of a million people, including tens of thousands of child casualties, as a result of the Syrian conflict,

Gravely distressed by the continued deterioration of the devastating humanitarian situation in the Syrian Arab Republic and by the fact that urgent humanitarian assistance, including medical assistance, is now required by more than 13.5 million people in the Syrian Arab Republic, of whom 6.3 million are internally displaced, 3.9 million are living in hard-to-reach areas, including Palestinian refugees, and hundreds of thousands of civilians are trapped in besieged areas,

Gravely concerned at the lack of effective implementation of its resolutions 2139 \(2014\), 2165 \(2014\), 2191 \(2014\) and 2258 \(2015\), and recalling in this regard the legal obligations of all parties under international humanitarian law and international human rights law, as well as all the relevant decisions of the Security Council, including by ceasing all attacks against civilians and civilian objects, including those involving attacks on schools and medical facilities and the deliberate interruptions of water supply, the indiscriminate use of weapons, including artillery, barrel bombs and air strikes, indiscriminate shelling by mortars, car bombs, suicide attacks and tunnel bombs, as well as the use of starvation of civilians as a method of combat, including by the besiegement of populated areas, and the widespread use of torture, ill-treatment, arbitrary executions, extrajudicial killings, enforced disappearances and sexual and gender-based violence, as well as all grave violations and abuses committed against children,

Noting the progress made during 2016 in taking back areas of the Syrian Arab Republic from Islamic State in Iraq and the Levant (ISIL, also known as Da'esh) and Al-Nusrah Front, but expressing its grave concern that areas remain under their control and about the negative impact of their presence, violent extremist ideology and actions on stability in the Syrian Arab Republic and the region, including the devastating humanitarian impact on the civilian populations which has led to the displacement of hundreds of thousands of people, reaffirming its resolve to address all aspects of the threat posed by ISIL (also known as Da'esh), Al-Nusrah Front and all other individuals, groups, undertakings and entities associated with Al-Qaida, and other terrorist groups, as determined by the Security Council, and as may further be agreed by the International Syria Support Group and endorsed by the Council, and calling for the full implementation of Council resolutions 2170 \(2014\) of 15 August 2014, 2178 \(2014\) of 24 September 2014, 2199 \(2015\) of 12 February 2015, 2249 \(2015\) of 20 November 2015 and 2253 \(2015\) of 17 December 2015,

Expressing grave concern at the movement of foreign terrorist fighters and other terrorists and terrorist groups into and out of the Syrian Arab Republic, and reiterating its call upon all States to take steps, consistent with international law, to prevent and suppress the flow of foreign terrorist fighters to ISIL, Al-Nusrah Front and all other individuals, groups, undertakings and entities associated with Islamic State in Iraq and the Levant or Al-Qaida, and other terrorist groups, as determined by the Security Council, and as may further be agreed by the International Syria Support Group and endorsed by the Council,

Reaffirming the primary responsibility of the Syrian authorities to protect the population in the Syrian Arab Republic and reiterating that parties to armed conflict must take all feasible steps to protect civilians, and recalling in this regard its demand that all parties to armed conflict comply fully with the obligations applicable to them under international law related to the protection of civilians in armed conflict, including journalists, media professionals and associated personnel,

Strongly condemning the arbitrary detention and torture of individuals in the Syrian Arab Republic, notably in prisons and detention facilities, as well as the kidnappings, abductions, hostage-taking and forced disappearances, and demanding the immediate end of these practices and the release of all arbitrarily detained persons starting with women and children, as well as sick, wounded and elderly people and United Nations and humanitarian personnel and journalists,

Reiterating its strong condemnation of all forms of violence and intimidation to which those participating in humanitarian operations are increasingly exposed, as well as attacks on humanitarian convoys and acts of destruction and looting of their assets, and its urging of all parties involved in an armed conflict to promote the safety, security and freedom of movement of humanitarian personnel, including medical personnel and humanitarian personnel exclusively engaged in medical duties, and United Nations and associated personnel and their assets, expressing its ongoing admiration at the dedication and commitment of the Syrian Red Crescent volunteers and other humanitarian workers operating in deeply challenging conditions, and urging all parties to take all appropriate steps to ensure the safety and security of United Nations and associated personnel, those of its specialized agencies, and all other personnel engaged in humanitarian relief activities,

Noting that, despite ongoing challenges, the United Nations and its implementing partners continue to deliver life-saving assistance to millions of people in need in the Syrian Arab Republic through humanitarian aid delivered across borders, including the delivery of food assistance for over 3 million people, non-food items for 2.9 million people, medical supplies for 9 million treatments, and water and sanitation supplies for over 2.5 million people,

Deeply disturbed by the number of people reached with humanitarian assistance in hard-to-reach and besieged areas, and expressing grave alarm at the dire situation of the hundreds of thousands of civilians trapped in besieged areas in the Syrian Arab Republic,

Reiterating its grave concern at all instances of hindrances to the effective delivery of humanitarian assistance, noting that ISIL (also known as Da'esh), Al-Nusrah Front and all other individuals, groups, undertakings and entities associated with Al-Qaida are hindering the effective delivery of humanitarian assistance and are responsible for preventing aid delivery through deliberate interference and obstruction,

Reiterating further its grave concern at the continuing and growing impediments to the delivery of humanitarian assistance across conflict lines, including through a decline in convoy approvals by the Syrian authorities,

Expressing grave concern that access to medical care continues to be severely restricted, and reiterating the need to respect the principle of medical neutrality and facilitate free passage to all areas for medical personnel, equipment, transport and supplies, including surgical items,

Reaffirming the need to support the United Nations and its implementing partners in their efforts to expand the delivery of humanitarian assistance to reach all people in need in the Syrian Arab Republic, and further reaffirming its decision in resolution 2165 \(2014\) that all Syrian parties to the conflict shall enable the immediate and unhindered delivery of humanitarian assistance directly to people throughout the Syrian Arab Republic by the United Nations and its implementing partners, on the basis of United Nations assessments of need and devoid of any political prejudices and aims, including by immediately removing all impediments to the provision of humanitarian assistance,

Expressing its interest in receiving more detailed information from the Secretary-General on the delivery of humanitarian assistance by the United Nations and its implementing partners, in accordance with resolution 2165 \(2014\),

Expressing its appreciation for the work of the United Nations monitoring mechanism in monitoring shipments and confirming their humanitarian nature, in accordance with resolutions 2165 \(2014\), 2191 \(2014\) and 2258 \(2015\), and commending the mechanism's efforts in facilitating cross-border delivery of humanitarian aid by the United Nations and its implementing partners, and encouraging the United Nations and its implementing partners to continue to take steps to scale up humanitarian deliveries into hard-to-reach and besieged areas, including by using, as effectively as possible, border crossings under resolution 2165 \(2014\),

Reiterating the need for all parties to respect and uphold the relevant provisions of international humanitarian law and the United Nations guiding principles of humanitarian emergency assistance, emphasizing the importance of upholding the principles of humanity, neutrality, impartiality and independence in the provision of humanitarian assistance, and recalling also the importance of humanitarian deliveries reaching their intended beneficiaries,

Noting the role that ceasefire agreements which are consistent with humanitarian principles and international humanitarian law can play in facilitating the delivery of humanitarian assistance in order to help to save civilian lives, and recalling in this regard that the Terms for the Cessation of Hostilities in Syria, endorsed in its resolution 2268 \(2016\), when implemented, have benefited the humanitarian situation,

Expressing grave concern at the more than 4.8 million refugees, including more than 3.4 million women and children, who have fled the Syrian Arab Republic as a result of ongoing violence, and recognizing that the continued deterioration of the humanitarian situation in the Syrian Arab Republic is further contributing to the movement of refugees and poses risks to regional stability,

Reiterating its deep appreciation for the significant and admirable efforts that have been made by the countries of the region, notably Lebanon, Jordan, Turkey, Iraq and Egypt, to accommodate Syrian refugees, including the approximately 2.4 million refugees who have fled the Syrian Arab Republic since the adoption of resolution 2139 \(2014\), and mindful of the immense costs and social challenges incurred by these countries as a consequence of the crisis,

Noting with concern that the international response to the Syrian and regional crisis continues to fall short of meeting the needs as assessed by host Governments and the United Nations, therefore urging once again all Member States, based on burden-sharing principles, to support the United Nations and the countries of the region, including by adopting medium- and long-term responses to alleviate the impact on communities, providing increased, flexible and predictable funding as well as increasing resettlement efforts, and noting the Syria donors conference held in London in February 2016, hosted by the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, Germany, Norway, Kuwait and the United Nations,

Noting with grave concern that impunity in the Syrian Arab Republic contributes to widespread violations and abuses of human rights and violations of international humanitarian law, stressing the need to end impunity for these violations and abuses, and re-emphasizing in this regard the need that those who have committed or are otherwise responsible for such violations and abuses in the Syrian Arab Republic must be brought to justice,

Emphasizing that the humanitarian situation will continue to deteriorate further in the absence of a political solution to the crisis,

Determining that the deteriorating humanitarian situation in the Syrian Arab Republic continues to constitute a threat to peace and security in the region,

Underscoring that Member States are obligated under Article 25 of the Charter to accept and carry out the decisions of the Council,

1. Reiterates its demand that all parties, in particular the Syrian authorities, immediately comply with their obligations under international law, including international humanitarian law and international human rights law as applicable, and further demands the full and immediate implementation of all the provisions of Security Council resolutions 2139 \(2014\), 2165 \(2014\), 2191 \(2014\) and 2258 \(2015\), noting also the statements by its President of 2 October 2013<sup>24</sup>, 24 April 2015<sup>25</sup> and 17 August 2015,<sup>22</sup> and recalls that some of the violations and abuses committed in the Syrian Arab Republic may amount to war crimes and crimes against humanity;

5. Requests the Secretary-General to report to the Council on the implementation of the present resolution and on compliance by all relevant parties in the Syrian Arab Republic, within the framework of his reporting on resolutions 2139 \(2014\), 2165 \(2014\), 2191 \(2014\) and 2258 \(2015\), and further requests the Secretary-General to include in his reports overall trends in humanitarian access;

1. Reaffirms that the establishment by Israel of settlements in the Palestinian territory occupied since 1967, including East Jerusalem, has no legal validity and constitutes a flagrant violation under international law and a major obstacle to the achievement of the two-State solution and a just, lasting and comprehensive peace;

<sup>82</sup> Resolutions or decisions on this question were first adopted by the Security Council in 1990.

Commissioner of the United Nations Organization Stabilization Mission in the Democratic Republic of the Congo, and Mr. Gregory Hinds, Police Commissioner of the United Nations Mission in Liberia.

At its 7599th meeting, on 31 December 2015, the Council considered the item entitled “United Nations peacekeeping operations”.

At the same meeting, following consultations among members of the Security Council, the President made the following statement on behalf of the Council:<sup>83</sup>

The Security Council recalls the issue of consultations between the Security Council, troop- and police-contributing countries and the Secretariat (triangular consultations), and the report of its Working Group on Peacekeeping Operations on the enhancement of cooperation with troop- and police-contributing countries and other stakeholders of 17 December 2009,<sup>84</sup> its resolutions 1353 (2001) and 2086 (2013), the notes by its President of 26 July 2010<sup>85</sup> and 28 October 2013<sup>86</sup> and the statement by its President of 25 November 2015.<sup>87</sup>

The Council takes note of the recommendations contained in the report of the Secretary-General entitled “The future of United Nations peace operations: implementation of the recommendations of the High-level Independent Panel on Peace Operations”<sup>88</sup> and of the recommendations in the report of the High-level Independent Panel on Peace Operations,<sup>89</sup> with respect to consultations between the Council, troop- and police-contributing countries and the Secretariat. The Council notes, in particular, the view of the Panel and the Secretary-General that the lack of effective dialogue through consultations between these three stakeholders has generated frustration on all sides and has undermined mandate implementation.

The Council takes note of the views expressed at the ninth meeting of its Working Group, on the theme “Towards a strategic dialogue between the Security Council, troop- and police-contributing countries and the Secretariat”, held on 11 December 2015 under the chairmanship of Chad.

The Council recognizes that sustained consultations with the Secretariat and troop- and police-contributing countries are essential for a shared understanding of appropriate responses and their implications for the mandate and conduct of an operation. In this regard, the Council recalls the many mechanisms that exist to facilitate consultations between the Council, troop- and police-contributing countries and the Secretariat, particularly the Working Group, formal and informal consultations with troop- and police-contributing countries as well as the role of the Special Committee on Peacekeeping Operations of the General Assembly and the Military Staff Committee. The Council recognizes that, despite the existence of these mechanisms, current consultations between these three stakeholders do not meet their expectations and have yet to reach their full potential.

The Council recognizes that the experience and expertise of troop- and police-contributing countries in theatres of operation can greatly assist the planning of operations. The Council stresses the importance of substantive, representative and meaningful exchanges and underscores the importance of full participation by the three stakeholders so that meetings are useful and productive. The Council acknowledges the importance of effective consultations between the Council, troop- and police-contributing countries and the Secretariat, and that these consultations must extend beyond the issue of mandates of operations and to areas such as safety and security of peacekeepers, strategic force generation, gender, conduct and discipline, including allegations of sexual exploitation and abuse, implementation of protection of civilians mandates, capability, performance, equipment and national caveats.

The Council recalls the statement by its President of 31 January 2001,<sup>90</sup> by which it established its Working Group to, where appropriate, seek the views of troop- and police-contributing countries, including through meetings between the Working Group and troop- and police-contributing countries, with their views being taken into account by the Council. The Council stresses the usefulness of full and comprehensive briefings by the Secretariat at private meetings and the importance of full participation by all those involved, including troop- and police-contributing countries taking the initiative to call for meaningful exchanges of information. The Council views consultations with troop- and police-contributing countries as an opportunity to set expectations for the required capabilities, performance standards and timelines, as well as to understand the limitations of troop- and police-contributing countries. Recalling paragraph 7 of resolution 2242 (2015), the Council underlines that such briefings must include the appropriate information in order to ensure that a gender perspective is taken into account in the planning of new missions and the review of existing ones.

The Council encourages the Secretariat to further provide to relevant troop- and police-contributing countries information, as appropriate and in a timely manner, in particular related to critical security incidents within missions. The Council welcomes developments in the informal approach to consultations between the three stakeholders, as reflected in the report on the activities of its Working Group for the period from 1 January to 31 December 2015.<sup>91</sup> The Council strongly encourages its members to continue to hold and further develop such informal, interactive and focused consultations with the Secretariat and troop- and police-contributing countries.

The Council underscores that sustained consultations with potential troop- and police-contributing countries prior to the establishment and during the life cycle of a mission are important for a shared understanding of the mandates and a common commitment to their implementation, recognizing that such consultations should not delay the establishment of a mission. The Council emphasizes the importance of holding inclusive and meaningful consultations on a regular basis with the Secretariat and troop- and police-contributing countries at senior levels, including with specialized personnel, experts and high-level military officials, as needed, the aim of which should be to ensure a shared understanding among the Secretariat and potential contributors on required capabilities, resulting in commitments to deliver on the mandate and concept of operations.

The Council invites the Secretariat to brief potential troop- and police-contributing countries, as needed, together with Council members on its assessment of a conflict and potential mandate options before an operation is authorized, with a view to allowing the consideration of capabilities required and giving the Council an opportunity to obtain insights on the challenges and opportunities involved in mandating certain tasks and in generating the required capabilities under specific time frames. The Council also invites the Secretariat to regularly brief troop- and police-contributing countries, through existing mechanisms when appropriate, and emphasizes the importance of a full exchange of views on the operational challenges being faced by troop- and police-contributing countries. The Council welcomes in this regard the establishment of the Strategic Force Generation and Capability Planning Cell. The Council requests the Secretariat to regularly brief troop- and police-contributing countries, together with the Council, and seek their views, including the views of their uniformed personnel deployed on the ground, in assessing progress once the mandate of a peace operation is established.

The Council recognizes that the success of peacekeeping operations will increasingly require strong collaboration between the United Nations and regional and subregional organizations from the outset and in this regard encourages the Secretariat, and expresses its readiness, as appropriate, to consult with relevant regional organizations, in particular the African Union, especially if transitioning from a regional to a United Nations peacekeeping operation. The Council strongly encourages the Secretariat to consult with troop- and police-contributing countries in a timely manner when planning any change in military tasks, mission-specific rules of engagement, concept of operations or command and control structure or early peacebuilding that would have an impact on the personnel, equipment, training and logistics requirements, so as to enable troop- and police-contributing countries to contribute their advice during the planning process and to ensure that their personnel have the capacity to meet the new demands. The Council calls upon the Secretary-General to ensure that heads of mission, force commanders and police commissioners engage early with senior civilian and military staff of the mission on changes to a mandate in advance of the issuance of a new concept of operations and directives, to ensure unity of understanding of mandate changes and better mandate implementation across the mission, and to ensure that the views of operational commanders are considered during this process.

The Council takes note of the intention of the Secretary-General to provide briefings to the Council on conduct, discipline and performance issues that undermine implementation of the mandate, including failure of troop- and police-contributing countries to implement the mandated tasks and on implementation of protection of civilians mandates and allegations of sexual exploitation and abuse, as well as the intention of the Secretary-General to inform the Council appropriately, and notes the importance of these issues for triangular consultations. The Council also notes the importance of the issues of capabilities and performance requirements for triangular consultations, through a thorough common understanding of the tasks to be performed by missions, and in this regard calls upon the Secretariat to assist troop- and police-contributing countries by clarifying these requirements, and welcomes ongoing support by Member States to troop- and police-contributing countries in meeting these requirements. The Council encourages troop- and police-contributing countries to communicate, during negotiations in respect of possible deployment, national caveats regarding the use of military or police contingents and emphasizes that these caveats will be taken into account in the decision-making process when selecting forces, including whether to proceed with deployment.

The Council, including through its Working Group, remains committed to further discussions to enhance triangular consultations, particularly its partnership with troop- and police-contributing countries, and to take forward the undertakings of the present statement. Recalling its resolution 1353 \(2001\) and related statements by its President, the Council expresses its readiness to further develop the process of informal consultation sessions with troop- and police-contributing countries on an ongoing basis and in advance of mandate renewals and urges troop- and police-contributing countries to provide their views on this issue by 31 March 2016, including through its Working Group.

At its 7642nd meeting, on 10 March 2016, the Council decided to invite the representatives of India, Pakistan and Rwanda to participate, without vote, in accordance with rule 37 of its provisional rules of procedure, in the discussion of the item entitled:

“United Nations peacekeeping operations

“Sexual exploitation and abuse”.

At the same meeting, the Council also decided to extend an invitation, in accordance with rule 39 of its provisional rules of procedure, to Mr. Atul Khare, Under-Secretary-General for Field Support.

At its 7643rd meeting, on 11 March 2016, the Council considered the item entitled:

“Report of the Secretary-General on the situation with respect to piracy and armed robbery at sea off the coast of Somalia (S/2015/776)”.

Resolution 2246 (2015) of 10 November 2015

The Security Council,

Recalling its previous resolutions concerning the situation in Somalia, especially resolutions 1814 \(2008\) of 15 May 2008, 1816 \(2008\) of 2 June 2008, 1838 \(2008\) of 7 October 2008, 1844 \(2008\) of 20 November 2008, 1846 \(2008\) of 2 December 2008, 1851 \(2008\) of 16 December 2008, 1897 \(2009\) of 30 November 2009, 1918 \(2010\) of 27 April 2010, 1950 \(2010\) of 23 November 2010, 1976 \(2011\) of 11 April 2011, 2015 \(2011\) of 24 October 2011, 2020 \(2011\) of 22 November 2011, 2077 \(2012\) of 21 November 2012, 2125 \(2013\) of 18 November 2013 and 2184 \(2014\) of 12 November 2014, as well as the statements by its President of 25 August 2010<sup>115</sup> and 19 November 2012,<sup>116</sup>

Welcoming the report of the Secretary-General of 12 October 2015, as requested in resolution 2184 \(2014\), on the implementation of that resolution and on the situation with respect to piracy and armed robbery at sea off the coast of Somalia,<sup>117</sup>

Reaffirming its respect for the sovereignty, territorial integrity, political independence and unity of Somalia, including Somalia's sovereign rights in accordance with international law, with respect to offshore natural resources, including fisheries,

Noting that the joint counter-piracy efforts of States, regions, organizations, the maritime industry, the private sector, think tanks and civil society have resulted in a steady decline in pirate attacks as well as hijackings since 2011, and continuing to be gravely concerned by the ongoing threat that piracy and armed robbery at sea poses to the prompt, safe and effective delivery of humanitarian aid to Somalia and the region, to the safety of seafarers and other persons, to international navigation and the safety of commercial maritime routes and to other ships, including fishing activities in conformity with international law,

Expressing concern about the reported involvement of children in piracy off the coast of Somalia, reported sexual exploitation of women and children in areas controlled by pirates, as well as their reported coercion to participate in activities that support piracy,

Further reaffirming that international law, as reflected in the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea of 10 December 1982,<sup>118</sup> sets out the legal framework applicable to activities in the ocean, including countering piracy and armed robbery at sea,

Recognizing the need to investigate and prosecute not only suspects captured at sea, but also anyone who incites or intentionally facilitates piracy operations, including key figures of criminal networks involved in piracy who plan, organize, facilitate or illicitly finance or profit from such attacks, reiterating its concern over persons suspected of piracy having been released without facing justice, and reaffirming that the failure to prosecute persons responsible for acts of piracy and armed robbery at sea off the coast of Somalia undermines anti-piracy efforts,

Noting with concern that the continuing limited capacity and domestic legislation to facilitate the custody and prosecution of suspected pirates after their capture has hindered more robust international action against pirates off the coast of Somalia, and too often has led to pirates being released without facing justice, regardless of whether there is sufficient evidence to support prosecution, and reiterating that, consistent with the provisions of the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea concerning the repression of piracy, the Convention for the Suppression of Unlawful Acts against the Safety of Maritime Navigation of 10 March 1988<sup>119</sup> provides for parties to create criminal offences, establish jurisdiction and accept delivery of persons responsible for or suspected of seizing or exercising control over a ship by force or threat thereof or any other form of intimidation,

Underlining the primary responsibility of the Somali authorities in the fight against piracy and armed robbery at sea off the coast of Somalia, and noting the several requests from Somali authorities for international assistance to counter piracy off the coast of Somalia, including the letter dated 4 November 2014 from the Permanent Representative of Somalia to the United Nations expressing the appreciation of Somali authorities to the Security Council for its assistance, expressing their willingness to consider working with other States and regional organizations to combat piracy and armed robbery at sea off the coast of Somalia and requesting that the provisions of resolution 2125 \(2013\) be renewed for an additional 12 months,

Welcoming the participation of the Federal Government of Somalia and regional partners in the eighteenth plenary session of the Contact Group on Piracy off the Coast of Somalia, chaired by the European Union in New York on 8 July 2015,

Recognizing the work of the Contact Group and the Law Enforcement Task Force to facilitate the prosecution of suspected pirates, and of the Working Group on Capacity-Building of the Contact Group to coordinate judicial, penal and maritime capacity-building efforts to enable regional states to better tackle piracy,

Resolution 2316 (2016)
of 9 November 2016

The Security Council,

Recalling its previous resolutions concerning the situation in Somalia, especially resolutions 1814 \(2008\) of 15 May 2008, 1816 \(2008\) of 2 June 2008, 1838 \(2008\) of 7 October 2008, 1844 \(2008\) of 20 November 2008, 1846 \(2008\) of 2 December 2008, 1851 \(2008\) of 16 December 2008, 1897 \(2009\) of 30 November 2009, 1918 \(2010\) of 27 April 2010, 1950 \(2010\) of 23 November 2010, 1976 \(2011\) of 11 April 2011, 2015 \(2011\) of 24 October 2011, 2020 \(2011\) of 22 November 2011, 2077 \(2012\) of 21 November 2012, 2125 \(2013\) of 18 November 2013, 2184 \(2014\) of 12 November 2014 and 2246 \(2015\) of 10 November 2015, as well as the statements by its President of 25 August 2010<sup>115</sup> and 19 November 2012,<sup>116</sup>

Welcoming the report of the Secretary-General of 7 October 2016, as requested in resolution 2246 \(2015\), on the implementation of that resolution and on the situation with respect to piracy and armed robbery at sea off the coast of Somalia,<sup>135</sup>

Reaffirming its respect for the sovereignty, territorial integrity, political independence and unity of Somalia, including Somalia’s sovereign rights in accordance with international law, with respect to offshore natural resources, including fisheries,

Noting that the joint counter-piracy efforts of States, regions, organizations, the maritime industry, the private sector, think tanks and civil society have resulted in a steady decline in pirate attacks as well as hijackings since 2011, and continuing to be gravely concerned by the ongoing threat that resurgent piracy and armed robbery at sea poses to the prompt, safe and effective delivery of humanitarian aid to Somalia and the region, to the safety of seafarers and other persons, to international navigation and the safety of commercial maritime routes and to other ships, including fishing vessels operating in conformity with international law,

Further reaffirming that international law, as reflected in the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea of 10 December 1982,<sup>118</sup> sets out the legal framework applicable to activities in the ocean, including countering piracy and armed robbery at sea,

Recognizing the need to investigate and prosecute not only suspects captured at sea, but also anyone who incites or intentionally facilitates piracy operations, including key figures of criminal networks involved in piracy who plan, organize, facilitate or illicitly finance or profit from such attacks, reiterating its concern over persons suspected of piracy having been released without facing justice, and reaffirming that the failure to prosecute persons responsible for acts of piracy and armed robbery at sea off the coast of Somalia undermines anti-piracy efforts,

Noting with concern that the continuing limited capacity and domestic legislation to facilitate the custody and prosecution of suspected pirates after their capture has hindered more robust international action against pirates off the coast of Somalia, which has led to pirates being released without facing justice, regardless of whether there is sufficient evidence to support prosecution, and reiterating that, consistent with the provisions of the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea concerning the repression of piracy, the Convention for the Suppression of Unlawful Acts against the Safety of Maritime Navigation of 10 March 1988<sup>119</sup> provides for parties to create criminal offences, establish jurisdiction and accept delivery of persons responsible for or suspected of seizing or exercising control over a ship by force or threat thereof, or any other form of intimidation,

Underlining the primary responsibility of the Somali authorities in the fight against piracy and armed robbery at sea off the coast of Somalia, and noting the several requests from Somali authorities for international assistance to

Commending the efforts of the European Union Naval Force Operation Atalanta, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization Operation Ocean Shield, the Combined Maritime Forces Combined Task Force 151, the counter-piracy activities of the African Union onshore in Somalia and the naval activities of the Southern African Development Community and other States acting in a national capacity in cooperation with Somali authorities and each other to suppress piracy and to protect ships transiting through the waters off the coast of Somalia, and welcoming the Shared Awareness and Deconfliction initiative and the efforts of individual countries, including China, India, Iran (Islamic Republic of), Japan, the Republic of Korea and the Russian Federation, which have deployed naval counter-piracy missions in the region,

Noting the efforts of flag States in taking measures to permit vessels sailing under their flag transiting the high-risk area to embark vessel protection detachments and privately contracted armed security personnel and to allow charters that favour arrangements that make use of such measures, while urging States to regulate such activities in accordance with applicable international law,

Noting also that the high-risk area boundaries are set and defined by the insurance and maritime industry, and were redefined in December 2015,

Welcoming the capacity-building efforts in the region made by the International Maritime Organization-funded Code of Conduct concerning the Repression of Piracy and Armed Robbery against Ships in the Western Indian Ocean and the Gulf of Aden (Djibouti Code of Conduct), the Trust Fund and the activities of the European Union under its Mission on Regional Maritime Capacity-building in the Horn of Africa (EUCAP Nestor), which is working with the Federal Government of Somalia to strengthen its criminal justice system, and recognizing the need for all engaged international and regional organizations to coordinate and cooperate fully,

Supporting the development of a coastal police force, noting with appreciation the efforts made by the International Maritime Organization and the shipping industry to develop and update guidance, best management practices and recommendations to assist ships to prevent and suppress piracy attacks off the coast of Somalia, including in the Gulf of Aden, and in relevant parts of the Indian Ocean that are still within the high-risk area, and recognizing the work of the International Maritime Organization and the Contact Group in this regard, noting the efforts of the International Organization for Standardization, which has developed industry standards of training and certification for private maritime security companies when providing privately contracted armed security personnel on board ships in high-risk areas, and further welcoming the European Union's EUCAP Nestor, which is working to develop the maritime security capacities of Somalia,

Underlining the importance of continuing to enhance the collection, preservation and transmission to competent authorities of evidence of acts of piracy and armed robbery at sea off the coast of Somalia, welcoming the ongoing work of the International Maritime Organization, the International Criminal Police Organization (INTERPOL) and industry groups to develop guidance to seafarers on the preservation of crime scenes following acts of piracy, and noting the importance of enabling seafarers to give evidence in criminal proceedings to prosecute acts of piracy,

Recognizing that pirate networks continue to rely on kidnapping and hostage-taking to help generate funding to purchase weapons, gain recruits and continue their operational activities, thereby jeopardizing the safety and security of civilians and restricting the flow of commerce, and welcoming international efforts to coordinate the work of investigators and prosecutors, inter alia, through the Law Enforcement Task Force, and collect and share information to disrupt the pirate enterprise, as exemplified by INTERPOL's Global Database on Maritime Piracy, and taking note of the ongoing efforts of the Regional Fusion and Law Enforcement Centre for Safety and Security at Sea, hosted by Seychelles, to combat piracy and transnational organized crime,

Reaffirming international condemnation of acts of kidnapping and hostage-taking, including offences contained within the International Convention against the Taking of Hostages,<sup>120</sup> strongly condemning the continuing practice of hostage-taking by pirates operating off the coast of Somalia, expressing serious concern at the inhumane conditions that hostages face in captivity, recognizing the adverse impact on their families, calling for the immediate release of all hostages, and noting the importance of cooperation between Member States on the issue of hostage-taking and the prosecution of suspected pirates for taking hostages,

Commending Kenya, Mauritius, Seychelles and the United Republic of Tanzania for their efforts to prosecute suspected pirates in their national courts, and noting with appreciation the assistance provided by the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime Maritime Crime Programme, the Trust Fund and other international organizations and donors, in coordination with the Contact Group, to support Kenya, Mauritius, Seychelles, Somalia, the United Republic of Tanzania and other States in the region with their efforts to prosecute, or incarcerate in a third State after prosecution elsewhere, pirates, including facilitators and financiers ashore, consistent with applicable international human rights law, and emphasizing the need for States and international organizations to further enhance international efforts in this regard,

Welcoming the readiness of the national and regional administrations of Somalia to cooperate with each other and with States that have prosecuted suspected pirates with a view to enabling convicted pirates to be repatriated back to Somalia under suitable prisoner transfer arrangements, consistent with applicable international law, including international human rights law, and acknowledging the return from Seychelles to Somalia of convicted prisoners willing and eligible to serve their sentences in Somalia,

Welcoming also the work of the Maritime Security Coordination Committee as an important mechanism of information-sharing, and encouraging the Somali national and regional administrations to take increasing responsibility for counter-piracy initiatives,

Expressing serious concern at reports of illegal, unreported and unregulated fishing in Somalia's exclusive economic zone, noting the complex relationship between illegal, unreported and unregulated fishing and piracy, and recognizing that illegal, unreported and unregulated fishing accounts for millions of dollars in lost revenue for Somalia each year and can contribute to destabilization among coastal communities,

Noting Somalia's accession to the Agreement on Port State Measures to Prevent, Deter and Eliminate Illegal, Unreported and Unregulated Fishing of the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations,<sup>136</sup> recognizing the projects supported by the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations and the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime aimed at enhancing Somalia's capacity to combat such activities, and stressing the need for States and international organizations to further intensify their support to the Federal Government of Somalia, at its request, in enhancing Somalia's capacity to combat such activities,

Stressing the need for States to consider possible methods to assist the seafarers who are victims of pirates, and welcoming in this regard the efforts of the Hostage Support Programme and the Piracy Survivor Family Fund launched at the 2014 Contact Group session to provide support to hostages during their release and return home, as well as to their families throughout the hostage situation,

Determining that the incidents of piracy and armed robbery at sea off the coast of Somalia, as well as the activity of pirate groups in Somalia, are an important factor exacerbating the situation in Somalia, which continues to constitute a threat to international peace and security in the region,

Acting under Chapter VII of the Charter of the United Nations,

1. Reiterates that it condemns and deplores all acts of piracy and armed robbery at sea off the coast of Somalia;

5. Recognizes the need to continue to investigate and prosecute those who plan, organize or illicitly finance or profit from pirate attacks off the coast of Somalia, including key figures of criminal networks involved in piracy, and urges States, working in conjunction with relevant international organizations, to adopt legislation to facilitate prosecution of suspected pirates off the coast of Somalia;

At the same meeting, following consultations among members of the Security Council, the President made the following statement on behalf of the Council:<sup>156</sup>

The Security Council recalls its resolution 1966 \(2010\) of 22 December 2010, by which it established the International Residual Mechanism for Criminal Tribunals to carry out, in accordance with the provisions of the statute contained in annex 1 to that resolution (the statute) and the transitional arrangements contained in annex 2 to the resolution, residual functions of the International Tribunal for the Prosecution of Persons Responsible for Serious Violations of International Humanitarian Law Committed in the Territory of the Former Yugoslavia since 1991 and the International Criminal Tribunal for the Prosecution of Persons Responsible for Genocide and Other Serious Violations of International Humanitarian Law Committed in the Territory of Rwanda and Rwandan Citizens Responsible for Genocide and Other Such Violations Committed in the Territory of Neighbouring States between 1 January 1994 and 31 December 1994.

The Council also recalls that, in view of the substantially reduced nature of the residual functions, the Mechanism should be a small, temporary and efficient structure, whose functions and size will diminish over time, with a small number of staff commensurate with its reduced functions.

The Council further recalls its decision that the Mechanism shall operate for an initial period of four years starting from 1 July 2012, and its decision to review the progress of the work of the Mechanism, including in completing its functions, before the end of this initial period and every two years thereafter, and its further decision that the Mechanism shall continue to operate for subsequent periods of two years following each such review, unless the Council decides otherwise.

The Council notes the annual reports of the Mechanism to the Council and to the General Assembly and its six-monthly reports to the Council on the progress of the Mechanism, submitted in accordance with article 32 of the statute.

The Council requests the Mechanism to present by 20 November 2015 its report on the progress of its work in the initial period, including in completing its functions, with detailed schedules for the proceedings currently under consideration as well as factors relevant to projected completion dates for the cases and other matters over which the Mechanism has jurisdiction, including in accordance with the transitional arrangements in annex 2 to resolution 1966 \(2010\).

The Council requests the Informal Working Group on International Tribunals to carry out, including by reference to an executive summary of available and relevant reports of the Office of Internal Oversight Services, a thorough examination of the report of the Mechanism and to present its views and any findings or recommendations for consideration by the Council in its review of the work of the Mechanism, including in completing its functions with efficiency and effective management. This review will be completed by 21 December 2015 and its outcome shall be reflected by the Council in an appropriate form.

The Council notes that the process described in the sixth paragraph of the present statement, with any findings or recommendations adopted by the Council, shall constitute the review of the work of the Mechanism, as indicated in paragraph 17 of resolution 1966 \(2010\). It further underlines that this process shall include in the next reviews evaluation reports sought from the Office of Internal Oversight Services with respect to the methods and work of the Mechanism.

The Council further notes that the Informal Working Group may formulate, if necessary, additional questions to be addressed in the report of the Mechanism requested in accordance with the present statement.

The Council stresses its ongoing determination to combat impunity for those responsible for serious violations of international humanitarian law and the necessity of all persons indicted by the International Tribunal for the Former Yugoslavia and the International Criminal Tribunal for Rwanda being brought to justice.

Reaffirming its strong commitment to the sovereignty, independence, territorial integrity and unity of Haiti,

Recognizing that, over the past year, Haiti has taken important steps towards stabilization that paved the way for the completion of the legislative elections and for the presidential, municipal and local elections to take place in 2015,

Welcoming the organization of the first round of the legislative elections on 9 August 2015 in a relatively peaceful environment, and acknowledging the steps taken by the Haitian institutions to take corrective measures to address irregularities and improve the upcoming rounds of elections,

Noting the importance of the Government of Haiti, the Electoral Council and political parties in ensuring that the upcoming rounds of elections are conducted in a free, fair, peaceful and democratic manner and in accordance with the electoral law,

Recognizing that the overall security situation remained generally stable with some improvement since the adoption of its resolution 2180 \(2014\),

Recognizing also the importance of conditions-based security-related decisions about the future of the United Nations Stabilization Mission in Haiti, and noting that there were incidents of sporadic violence during the first round of elections while there was no increase in levels of insecurity or violence in the departments from which the military component withdrew,

Recognizing further the important role of the Mission in ensuring stability and security in Haiti, commending the Mission for continuing to assist the Government of Haiti to ensure a secure and stable environment, expressing its gratitude to the personnel of the Mission and to their countries and paying tribute to those injured or killed in the line of duty, and commanding the wide range of reconstruction efforts in Haiti and the successful work achieved by the military engineering units of the Mission,

Underlining the need to further strengthen Haitian judicial and correctional systems, in order to support a more integrated and cohesive Haitian security sector, noting the commitment by the Government of Haiti to strengthen the rule of law and to make further progress in security sector reform, and encouraging Haitian authorities to continue to pursue efforts in that regard,

Recognizing the interconnected nature of the challenges in Haiti, reaffirming that sustainable progress on security, the rule of law and institutional reform, national reconciliation and development, including the combat against unemployment and poverty, are mutually reinforcing, and welcoming the continuing efforts of the Government of Haiti and the international community to address these challenges, in line with the priorities of the Government,

Reiterating the critical role of the Haitian National Police for the security and stability of Haiti, welcoming the ongoing strengthening, professionalization and reform of the National Police; noting the partial progress made in the implementation of the five-year 2012–2016 Haitian National Police development plan, and reiterating the importance of maintaining support for it, especially in the area of recruitment and retention,

Underscoring the importance of adequately funding the Haitian National Police to enhance its logistic, administrative and operational capacities, encouraging the Government of Haiti to take advantage of the support being provided by the international community to guarantee the provision of adequate security for the Haitian people, and calling upon all international partners to strengthen their coordination in this regard,

Recognizing the steps taken by the Superior Council of the Judiciary, including important appointments in 2015 that contributed to the strengthening of its capacity and the adoption of its internal rules of procedure in June 2014, to carry out its mandate and promote the strengthening of judicial independence, and expressing the need to further address human rights concerns that still remain in the corrections system, such as prolonged pretrial detentions, prison overcrowding and inhumane conditions,

Noting with concern that the humanitarian situation in Haiti has deteriorated significantly since the report of the Secretary-General on the Mission released in March 2015,<sup>173</sup> while also noting that reduced funding has limited the ability of the United Nations system and its partners to provide an adequate response to the multiple challenges,

Noting with concern also that food insecurity, as a result of drought and the consequent decrease in the harvest during the period from March to June, could impact the humanitarian situation and stability,

Acknowledging that, while important progress has been made, Haiti continues to face significant humanitarian challenges, with approximately 60,801 internally displaced persons, whose living conditions in the remaining sites, which are characterized by malnutrition and uneven access to water and sanitation, affecting especially women and children, must be further addressed, and underscoring that funding to provide basic services and relocation subsidies for the remaining internally displaced persons is no longer available,

Welcoming the ongoing efforts by the Government of Haiti to control and eliminate the cholera epidemic and the progress made in reducing the incidence of cholera in Haiti, urging the United Nations country team in coordination with other actors to continue to support the Government in addressing the structural weaknesses, in particular in the water and sanitation systems, underscoring the importance of strengthening the Haitian national health institutions and recognizing United Nations efforts to combat cholera, including through the initiative of the Secretary-General to support the National Plan for the Elimination of Cholera in Haiti, stressing the importance of adequate and sustainable support with particular attention to rapid and targeted medical responses to outbreaks designed to reduce the threat, recalling the visit that the Secretary-General undertook in July 2014 to Haiti, and taking note that he, among other things, launched jointly with the former Prime Minister of Haiti the “Total Sanitation Campaign” as a key initiative against cholera, and of the creation of the High-level Committee for the Elimination of Cholera,

Welcoming also the first meeting of the High-level Committee since the change of Government in January 2015, co-chaired by the Prime Minister of Haiti, Mr. Evans Paul and the Special Representative of the Secretary General for Haiti, Ms. Sandra Honoré, and noting that the increase in cholera cases reported at the end of 2014 and in the first four months of 2015 began showing signs of reversal in May, although the situation remains of concern in the West, Centre, Artibonite and North departments, which account for more than 80 per cent of the total number of cases between March and August 2015,

Emphasizing that progress in the reconstruction of Haiti, as well as in the social and economic development of Haiti, including through effective, coordinated, commendable international development assistance and increased Haitian institutional capacity to benefit from this assistance, are crucial to achieving lasting and sustainable stability, and reiterating the need for security to be accompanied by social and economic development, including efforts in risk reduction and preparedness that address the country’s extreme vulnerability to natural disasters, efforts in which the Government of Haiti plays a leading role,

Welcoming the continued development of the Government of Haiti’s External Aid Coordination Framework for the Development of Haiti as its preferred donor coordination mechanism and venue for supporting the development priorities of the Government, welcoming also the increased joint programming of the United Nations country team in Haiti in alignment and coordination with the Government-endorsed Integrated Strategic Framework, and welcoming further the commitment to foster greater alignment of international assistance with national priorities, increase transparency and strengthen mutual accountability, as well as the need for stronger coordination,

Welcoming also the review and the revision of the Integrated Strategic Framework between the United Nations country team and the Mission, which culminated in the signature of the revised Framework on 28 May 2015, which serves to reinforce cooperation among the different elements of the United Nations presence in Haiti and has allowed the Mission and the United Nations country team to identify specific areas for enhanced collaboration, subject to the availability of additional financial resources,

Urging donors to complete their pledges in order, inter alia, to help to promote access to services and jobs for the most vulnerable, and underlining the responsibility of the Government of Haiti to provide clear guidance to donors on its priorities and to facilitate delivery of assistance to those most in need,

Emphasizing the role of regional organizations in the ongoing process of stabilization and reconstruction of Haiti, and calling upon the Mission to continue to work closely with international financial institutions, regional and subregional organizations and other stakeholders, in particular the Organization of American States, the Union of South American Nations and the Caribbean Community,

Welcoming the continued efforts of the Haitian National Police to patrol and enhance its presence and direct engagement with the population, recognizing the continued community policing efforts of the Mission, in close coordination with camp committees, in sites for internally displaced persons, and welcoming their engagement with the population,

Expressing serious concern that sexual and gender-based violence, especially against women and children, remains a substantial problem, particularly in marginalized districts of Port-au-Prince, in remaining sites for internally displaced persons and in remote areas of the country,

Recognizing that strengthening national human rights institutions as well as respect for human rights, including of children, and due process, combating criminality and sexual and gender-based violence, and putting an end to impunity and ensuring accountability are essential to ensuring the rule of law and security in Haiti, including access to justice,

Reaffirming the authority of the Special Representative of the Secretary-General in the coordination and conduct of all activities of United Nations agencies, funds and programmes in Haiti, and reaffirming also its support for the role of the Special Representative in ensuring optimal coordination and collaboration between the Mission and the United Nations country team in connection with the aspects of their respective mandates that are correlated, particularly as part of the conditions-based consolidation plan of the Mission,

THE SITUATION IN BURUNDI<sup>176</sup>

Decisions

At its 7546th meeting, on 28 October 2015, the Security Council considered the item entitled “The situation in Burundi”.

At the same meeting, following consultations among members of the Security Council, the President made the following statement on behalf of the Council:<sup>177</sup>

The Security Council expresses its deep concern about the growing insecurity and the continued rise in violence in Burundi, as well as the persisting political impasse in the country, marked by a lack of dialogue among Burundian stakeholders.

The Council takes note of the meeting of the African Union Peace and Security Council of 17 October 2015 on the situation in Burundi and the statement, including its proposed next steps, adopted on that occasion.

The Council is deeply concerned by the increased cases of human rights violations and abuses, including those involving extrajudicial killings, acts of torture and other cruel, inhuman and/or degrading treatment, arbitrary arrests and illegal detentions. The Council expresses also its deep concerns about the prevalence of impunity, the daily assassinations, the restrictions on enjoyment of the freedom of expression, including for members of the press, and the continued worsening of the humanitarian situation, marked by the more than 200,000 Burundian citizens seeking refuge in neighbouring countries. The Council commends efforts by those in the region to respond to the humanitarian crisis and provide necessary resources to Burundian refugees.

The Council strongly condemns all violations and abuses of human rights and acts of unlawful violence committed in Burundi both by security forces and by militias and other illegal armed groups, and expresses its determination to seek accountability for perpetrators of such acts. The Council welcomes the decision of the African Union to launch an in-depth investigation into the violations and abuses of human rights against individuals in Burundi.

The Council recalls the importance of respecting the Constitution of Burundi as well as the Arusha Peace and Reconciliation Agreement for Burundi, of 28 August 2000, and stresses that the situation prevailing in Burundi has the potential to seriously undermine the significant gains achieved through the Arusha Agreement, with devastating consequences for Burundi and the region as a whole.

The Council urges all those involved to reject armed rebellion to resolve the current crisis and once again urgently appeals to the Burundian stakeholders to engage in dialogue and to spare their country and its people further suffering. The Council reiterates its conviction that genuine and inclusive dialogue, based on respect for the Constitution and the Arusha Agreement, would best enable the Burundian stakeholders to find a consensual solution to the crisis facing their country, preserve peace and consolidate democracy and the rule of law. The Council notes the establishment of the National Commission for the Inter-Burundi Dialogue.

The Council re-emphasizes the importance of the mediation efforts led by Mr. Yoweri Museveni, President of Uganda, on behalf of the East African Community and as endorsed by the African Union, underlines the importance of the urgent resumption of the mediation process, and urges the Government of Burundi and other concerned stakeholders to extend full cooperation to the Mediator. The Council stresses the importance of convening an inter-Burundian dialogue in coordination with the Government of Burundi and all concerned and peaceful stakeholders, both those in Burundi and those outside the country, in order to find a consensual and nationally owned solution to the current crisis.

The Council welcomes the decision by the African Union Peace and Security Council to increase the number of African Union human rights observers and military experts deployed by the African Union in Burundi and reiterates its call upon the Government of Burundi and other stakeholders to provide full cooperation to facilitate their effective and immediate deployment and the implementation of their mandate.

The Council acknowledges the political agreement reached on 18 October 2016,<sup>241</sup> and takes note of the appointment of the new Prime Minister. The Council is also deeply concerned by the humanitarian situation that continues to severely affect the civilian population in eastern Democratic Republic of the Congo and the persistence of violence in eastern Democratic Republic of the Congo, in particular in North Kivu Province, where nearly 840,000 people were internally displaced as of 30 September 2016 and more than 700 civilians have been killed since October 2014. The Council urges authorities to hold accountable those deemed responsible for the violence.

The Council calls upon the Government of the Democratic Republic of the Congo to take further action, in accordance with international law, including international humanitarian law and international human rights law, as applicable, and with the support of the Mission in accordance with its mandate, to end the threat posed by the Allied Democratic Forces, the Forces démocratiques de libération du Rwanda and all other armed groups operating in the Democratic Republic of the Congo. At the same meeting, the Council also decided to extend invitations, in accordance with rule 39 of its provisional rules of procedure, to Mr. Babacar Gaye, Special Representative of the Secretary-General for the Central African Republic and Head of the United Nations Multidimensional Integrated Stabilization Mission in the Central African Republic, and Mr. Abderrazzak Laassel, Deputy Permanent Representative of Morocco to the United Nations, in his capacity as representative of the Chair of the Central African Republic configuration of the Peacebuilding Commission.

On 14 August 2015, the President of the Security Council addressed the following letter to the Secretary-General:<sup>243</sup>

I have the honour to inform you that your letter dated 13 August 2015 concerning your intention to appoint Mr. Parfait Onanga-Anyanga, of Gabon, as your Acting Special Representative for the Central African Republic and Head of the United Nations Multidimensional Integrated Stabilization Mission in the Central African Republic<sup>244</sup> has been brought to the attention of the members of the Security Council. They take note of the intention expressed in your letter.

At its 7537th meeting, on 20 October 2015, the Council considered the item entitled “The situation in the Central African Republic”.

At the same meeting, following consultations among members of the Security Council, the President made the following statement on behalf of the Council:<sup>245</sup>

The Security Council expresses its deep concern about the recent upsurge of violence and instability in the Central African Republic, which aimed at destabilizing the country and jeopardizing the transition process. The Council strongly condemns such violence, including all attacks against civilians, intercommunal violence, targeted violence against women and children, lootings of humanitarian premises and attacks against United Nations peacekeepers.

The Council emphasizes that some of these attacks may constitute war crimes and that those responsible for all abuses and violations of human rights and violations of international humanitarian law must be held accountable.

The Council also emphasizes that those undermining the peace, stability or security of the Central African Republic, threatening or impeding the political transition process, targeting civilians and attacking peacekeepers may meet criteria for designation under sanctions as stated in Council resolution 2196 \(2015\).

The Council reiterates its strong condemnation of all violations of applicable international law and demands that all parties concerned strictly comply with their obligations under international humanitarian law and international human rights law, as applicable, as well as implement relevant decisions of the Council.

to commit to peace and reconciliation through the implementation of the agreements adopted at the Bangui Forum on National Reconciliation, held from 4 to 11 May 2015.<sup>246</sup>

The Council reiterates its decision to apply the asset freeze and travel ban measures contained in paragraphs 4 and 7 of resolution 2196 \(2015\) to individuals and entities engaging in or providing support for acts that undermine the peace, stability or security of the Central African Republic, consistent with paragraphs 11 and 12 of resolution 2196 \(2015\). The Council also reiterates its intention to further expand the list of individuals and entities maintained by the Security Council Committee established pursuant to resolution 2127 \(2013\) by adding those responsible for the recent outbreak of violence, particularly those who have provided support to, acted for or on behalf of, or at the direction of, an individual or an entity already sanctioned by the Committee.

The Council reiterates that those responsible for the recent violence, both perpetrators and those who otherwise participate, should be held accountable and reiterates that some of those recent acts of violence may amount to crimes under the Rome Statute of the International Criminal Court,<sup>247</sup> to which the Central African Republic is a State party. The Council welcomes in this regard the statement of the Prosecutor of the International Criminal Court of 30 September 2015 regarding the recent upsurge of violence in the Central African Republic, in which the Prosecutor noted that a year ago, following a referral by the Central African Republic authorities, the Prosecutor opened an investigation into crimes committed in the country since 1 August 2012.

The Council calls upon the transitional authorities to launch, with the technical assistance of the United Nations Multidimensional Integrated Stabilization Mission in the Central African Republic, investigations to identify those responsible and bring them to justice.

The Council underlines the possible role that the national Special Criminal Court might play in this regard, stresses the urgency of the Court taking up its initial functions and emphasizes the need for the Stabilization Mission to provide technical assistance and capacity-building for the Central African Republic authorities, in line with paragraph 32 (g) of its mandate pursuant to resolution 2217 \(2015\).

The Council expresses concern about the recurring incidents of prisoners escaping from custody in the Central African Republic, which negatively impacts the fight against impunity and the efforts to stabilize the country, and calls upon the transitional authorities to bolster their efforts to investigate and prosecute and to detain prisoners in a safe, secure and humane manner, with the support of the Stabilization Mission, as appropriate, in accordance with its mandate. It also expresses its concerns about the reported participation of some elements of the Armed Forces of the Central African Republic in the recent incidents in Bangui, underlining the need for training and the importance of progress in reforming the security sector, including in vetting and accountability processes in the defence and security forces, to be accomplished before the Armed Forces can be returned to operational duties.

The Council demands that all those who seek to weaken the Transitional Government from within and outside the Central African Republic, including militias and non-State armed groups, cease all forms of violence and destabilizing activities immediately, lay down their arms and fully implement the agreement on cessation of hostilities and violence signed on 23 July 2014 in Brazzaville, as well as the agreement on the principles of disarmament, demobilization and reintegration and security sector reform adopted at the Bangui Forum in May 2015.

The Council takes note of the significant progress achieved in the voter registration process in the Central African Republic, with an unprecedented number of citizens registered to date, calls for this process to be completed swiftly and emphasizes the importance of the registration of all Central African Republic populations, including refugees in neighbouring States.

The Council reiterates the critical importance and urgency of holding the constitutional referendum and first rounds of presidential and legislative elections by the end of 2015, in a free, fair and transparent manner, which is inclusive of all the components of Central African Republic society, and in accordance with the Constitutional Charter for the Transition. In this regard, the Council underlines that the provisions of the Constitutional Charter should be strictly and fully implemented and calls upon the transitional authorities, including the National Electoral Authority and the National Transitional Council, to adopt and publish, without any further delay, a revised calendar for the holding of elections as soon as possible. The Council also calls upon the Electoral Authority to continue the preparations for the referendum and the elections, without delay.

The Council underscores the importance of making all appropriate efforts to ensure peace and reconciliation in the Central African Republic, in this regard commends the joint action of religious leaders in the Central African Republic in pursuing intercommunal peace and calls upon the Central African Republic authorities to take all steps necessary to create conditions for lasting reconciliation, including by protecting civilians from any religious or ethnic-based violence.

The Council emphasizes that the continued role of the region, including the International Mediator in the Central African Republic crisis, the Chair of the Economic Community of Central African States and the countries of the subregion, as well as the African Union and the United Nations, as participants in the mediation is critical for the promotion of lasting peace and stability in the Central African Republic. The Council encourages countries in the region to further use their leverage and regional meetings to encourage progress on the transition and towards the elections and to prevent spoilers, within the Central African Republic and outside, from attempting to disrupt these processes.

The Council calls upon troop- and police-contributing countries to the Stabilization Mission to expedite the upgrading of their capabilities and urges other Member States to provide the support necessary to enable them to reach United Nations standards without any further delay.

The Council further calls upon the international community to continue to support the Central African Republic by addressing critical priorities articulated by Central Africans during the Bangui Forum for the next 12 to 18 months, which include disarmament, demobilization, reintegration and repatriation, security sector reform, justice and reconciliation, including the establishment of the national Special Criminal Court, strengthening the capacity of local courts and the establishment of the Justice, Truth Reparation and Reconciliation Commission, the restoration and extension of State authority in support of democratic and economic governance and economic and social development. The Council welcomes the high-level event held on the margins of the General Assembly and encourages Member States that have pledged support for these programmes to disburse funds quickly and to garner additional support in priority areas that remain underfunded.

The Council reiterates its support for the Stabilization Mission to assist, as mandated by the Council in resolution 2217 \(2015\), the transitional authorities and the people of the Central African Republic in their efforts to bring lasting peace and stability to their country, protect civilians, including those targeted on ethnic or religious grounds, and restore State authority over the entire territory.

The Council expresses concern over reports that two sanctioned individuals are travelling in the region and underlines its observation that individuals who knowingly facilitate the travel of a listed individual in violation of the travel ban may be determined by the Committee to have met the designation criteria for sanctions.

On 19 November 2015, the President of the Security Council addressed the following letter to the Secretary-General:<sup>248</sup>

I have the honour to inform you that your letter dated 17 November 2015 concerning the temporary deployment and the immediate transfer to the United Nations Multidimensional Integrated Stabilization Mission in the Central African Republic of a detachment of 300 personnel from the quick reaction force deployed in the United Nations Operation in Côte d'Ivoire<sup>249</sup> has been brought to the attention of the members of the Security Council. Expressing grave concern at the threat to peace and security in the Central African Republic arising from the illicit transfer, destabilizing accumulation and misuse of small arms and light weapons, and the use of such weapons against civilians, “Report of the Secretary-General on the situation in the Central African Republic (S/2016/824 and Corr.1”).

At the same meeting, the Council also decided to extend invitations, in accordance with rule 39 of its provisional rules of procedure, to Mr. Hervé Ladsous, Under-Secretary-General for Peacekeeping Operations, and Mr. Abderrazzak Laassel, Deputy Permanent Representative of Morocco to the United Nations, in his capacity as representative of the Chair of the Central African Republic configuration of the Peacebuilding Commission.

At its 7812th meeting, on 16 November 2016, the Council considered the item entitled “The situation in the Central African Republic”.

At the same meeting, following consultations among members of the Security Council, the President made the following statement on behalf of the Council:<sup>265</sup>

The Security Council welcomes the steps taken recently on the Central African Republic peace process with the signing of the national strategy on disarmament, demobilization, reintegration and repatriation, the national security policy, the internal security forces development Plan and the national reconciliation strategy, and calls for their swift implementation.

The Council acknowledges the achievement of significant post-transition milestones, namely, the peaceful and transparent election of President Faustin Archange Touadera, the swift formation of a new Government and the establishment of the National Assembly.

The Council renews its support to President Touadera and welcomes his significant role in stabilizing the country and enabling long-term development, with the support of regional and international partners, in particular the United Nations Multidimensional Integrated Stabilization Mission in the Central African Republic.

The Council emphasizes that the only viable way forward towards the consolidation of peace, recovery and stability is that of a political commitment from all parties to address the root causes of the conflict, including by addressing marginalization and local grievances of all components of society over the whole territory of the Central African Republic. In this regard, the Council recalls the inclusive and comprehensive manner in which the Bangui Forum on National Reconciliation and the preparatory grass-roots consultations were held in 2015 and encourages the Central African Republic authorities to demonstrate the same spirit of inclusiveness, including towards women, youth, internally displaced persons and refugees.

The Council recognizes that the continued presence of armed groups represents the country’s most immediate impediment to stability and recovery. It encourages the Central African Republic authorities to urgently address this situation through a comprehensive approach, building on the principles and outcomes of the Bangui Forum,<sup>246</sup> including by deepening and accelerating the disarmament, demobilization, reintegration and repatriation of armed groups and the dialogue with their representatives, as well as urgently implementing critical reform programmes, in particular the reform of the security sector, and strengthening the fight against impunity through the upholding of national accountability mechanisms, including the regular courts and the Special Criminal Court.

The Council expresses its deep concern about the continued fragility in the Central African Republic and strongly condemns the recent upsurge of violence and instability in the Central African Republic, in particular in Kaga Bandoro, Bambari, Dekoa and Bangui, during which dozens of civilians were killed and wounded and national gendarmes were killed.

The Council also strongly condemns the recent attacks against Stabilization Mission-escorted convoys, as well as any attacks against civilians, intercommunal violence, targeted violence against women and children, lootings of humanitarian premises and attacks against United Nations peacekeepers and humanitarian personnel.

The Council recalls the primary responsibility of the State to protect all populations in the Central African Republic, in particular from genocide, war crimes, ethnic cleansing and crimes against humanity.

The Council commends the contribution in providing operational support to the Stabilization Mission made by the French Sangaris forces, whose mission was completed on 31 October 2016.

The Council commends the Special Representative of the Secretary-General for the Central African Republic, Mr. Parfait Onanga-Anyanga, and the teams and personnel of the Stabilization Mission. The Council renews its call upon the Secretary-General, in collaboration with the troop- and police-contributing countries to the Mission, to take all possible steps to maximize the Mission's operational capacity and ability to discharge its mandate, with a specific focus on priority areas, over the entire territory of the Central African Republic, and calls upon the Mission to maintain a robust posture, in accordance with its mandate.

The Council reiterates its call upon all the people of the Central African Republic to refrain from engaging in or providing support for acts that undermine the peace, stability or security of the Central African Republic, and recalls that engaging in such acts or providing support for such acts, including acts that threaten or impede the stabilization and reconciliation process or that fuel violence, constitutes a designation criterion for sanctions.

The Council emphasizes the crucial role of the regional States, along with regional and subregional organizations, in the implementation of the sanctions regime in all its aspects, including, in particular, in preventing violations of the arms embargo and the travel ban for individuals under Council sanctions.

The Council stresses the need to closely monitor developments in the Central African Republic as well as the need for it to be regularly updated regarding the situation there, including through timely updates from, and regular interaction with, the Secretariat, especially on key issues pertaining to developments in the situation and the implementation of the mandate of the Stabilization Mission.

The Council welcomes the continued support from the African Union and the region, which remains critical for the promotion of lasting peace and stability in the Central African Republic, and welcomes the establishment of the International Support Group on the Central African Republic to assist in mobilizing international support for post-conflict reconstruction and development as well as peacebuilding efforts in the Central African Republic. In this context, the Council further stresses the valuable role of the Peacebuilding Commission in bringing strategic advice and fostering a more coherent, coordinated and integrated approach in support of the long-term peacebuilding needs of the Central African Republic with a view to preventing relapse into conflict.

The Council welcomes the recent visit of the Deputy Secretary-General to the Central African Republic ahead of the upcoming international conference, to be held in Brussels on 17 November 2016, and emphasizes the significant role that this conference will play to express the firm political support of the international community and to secure essential resources to enable the country to implement key recovery and stabilization priorities during the next three to five years. It strongly encourages contributions that will support efforts to meet the most basic humanitarian needs of the country as well as to stabilize the Central African Republic and rebuild its institutions, including through disarmament, demobilization, reintegration and repatriation and security sector reform programmes, the fight against impunity, and socioeconomic development projects, in line with the peacebuilding priorities of the country as outlined in the Central African Republic national strategy for recovery and peace consolidation.

The Council recognizes the contribution of the updated aide-memoire for the consideration of issues pertaining to the protection of civilians in armed conflict,<sup>273</sup> contained in the annex to the present statement, to the protection of civilians, and as a practical tool that provides a basis for improved analysis and diagnosis of key protection issues, and stresses the need to continue its use on a more systematic and consistent basis.

The Council takes note with appreciation of the report of the Secretary-General on the protection of civilians in armed conflict of 18 June 2015<sup>274</sup> and the recommendations contained therein, and reiterates the need for systematic monitoring and reporting on the protection of civilians in armed conflict, and the challenges and progress made in this regard. ### Aide-memoire

For the consideration of issues pertaining to the protection of civilians in armed conflict

Enhancing the protection of civilians in armed conflict is at the core of the work of the Security Council for the maintenance of peace and security. In order to facilitate the Council's consideration of protection of civilians concerns in a given context, including at the time of the establishment or renewal of peacekeeping mandates, in June 2001, members of the Council suggested that an aide-memoire, listing the relevant issues, be drafted in cooperation with the Council.<sup>275</sup> On 15 March 2002, the Council adopted the aide-memoire as a practical guide for its consideration of protection of civilians issues and agreed to review and update its contents periodically.<sup>276</sup> It was subsequently updated twice and adopted as an annex to the presidential statements of 15 December 2003<sup>277</sup> and 22 November 2010.<sup>278</sup>

This is the sixth edition of the aide-memoire and is based on the previous deliberations of the Council on the protection of civilians, including resolutions 1265 \(1999\), 1296 \(2000\), 1674 \(2006\), 1738 \(2006\), 1894 \(2009\) and 2222 \(2015\). It is the result of consultation between the Council and the Office for the Coordination of Humanitarian Affairs of the Secretariat, as well as between the Office and concerned United Nations departments and agencies, and other relevant humanitarian organizations.

The Aide-memoire is intended to facilitate the Council's consideration of issues relevant to the protection of civilians in armed conflict. To this end, it highlights primary objectives for Council action; offers, on the basis of the Council's past practice, specific issues for consideration in meeting those objectives; and provides, in the addendum, a selection of agreed language from Council resolutions and presidential statements that refer to such concerns.

Bearing in mind that each peacekeeping mandate has to be elaborated on a case-by-case basis, the aide-memoire is not intended as a blueprint for action. The relevance and practicality of the various measures described has to be considered and adapted to the specific conditions in each situation.

Most frequently, civilians are caught in circumstances of dire need where a peacekeeping operation has not been established. Such situations may require the urgent attention of the Council. This aide-memoire may, therefore, also provide guidance in circumstances where the Council may wish to consider action outside the scope of a peacekeeping operation.

The [Security] Council stresses further that the fight against impunity and to ensure accountability for genocide, crimes against humanity, war crimes and other egregious crimes perpetrated against children has been strengthened through the work on and prosecution of these crimes in the international criminal justice system, ad hoc and mixed tribunals as well as specialized chambers in national tribunals. The Council highlights in this regard the contribution of the International Criminal Court, in accordance with the principle of complementarity to national criminal jurisdictions as set out in the Rome Statute, towards holding accountable those responsible for such crimes. In this regard, the Council reiterates its call upon the importance of State cooperation with these courts and tribunals in accordance with the respective obligations of the States.

<sup>288</sup> On 17 May 2016, the Permanent Mission of the Czech Republic to the United Nations advised the Secretariat that “Czechia” was to be used as the short form of the country name.

Recalling further the Geneva Conventions of 1949<sup>289</sup> and the Additional Protocols thereto of 1977<sup>290</sup> and 2005,<sup>291</sup> as applicable, as well as relevant customary international law concerned with the protection of the wounded and sick, medical personnel and humanitarian personnel exclusively engaged in medical duties, their means of transport and equipment, as well as hospitals and other medical facilities, and the obligation of parties to armed conflict to respect and ensure respect for international humanitarian law in all circumstances,

Recalling the Convention on the Safety of United Nations and Associated Personnel<sup>292</sup> and the Optional Protocol thereto,<sup>293</sup>

Recognizing the particular challenges faced by humanitarian personnel exclusively engaged in medical duties and medical personnel, and reaffirming that all humanitarian personnel are entitled to respect and protection under international humanitarian law,

Stressing that identification of medical personnel and humanitarian personnel exclusively engaged in medical duties, their means of transport and equipment, as well as hospitals and other medical facilities may enhance their protection, and in this regard recalling also the obligations, in situations of armed conflict, pertaining to the use and the protection of the distinctive emblems under the Geneva Conventions of 1949 and where applicable, the Additional Protocols thereto,

Recalling further the specific obligations under international humanitarian law to respect and protect, in situations of armed conflict, medical personnel and humanitarian personnel exclusively engaged in medical duties, their means of transport and equipment, and hospitals and other medical facilities, which must not be attacked, and to ensure that the wounded and sick receive, to the fullest extent practicable and with the least possible delay, the medical care and attention required,

Recalling also the obligation under international humanitarian law to distinguish between civilian populations and combatants, and the prohibition against indiscriminate attacks, and the obligations to do everything feasible to verify that the objectives to be attacked are neither civilians nor civilian objects and are not subject to special protection, including medical personnel, their means of transport and equipment, and hospitals and other medical facilities, and recalling further the obligation to take all feasible precautions with a view to avoiding and in any event minimizing harm to civilians and civilian objects,

Deeply concerned that, despite these obligations, acts of violence, attacks and threats against medical personnel and humanitarian personnel exclusively engaged in medical duties, their means of transport and equipment, as well as hospitals and other medical facilities, are being perpetrated in situations of armed conflict and that the number of such acts is increasing,

Recalling that locally recruited medical personnel and humanitarian personnel exclusively engaged in medical duties account for the majority of casualties among such personnel in situations of armed conflict,

Concerned further that the delivery of humanitarian assistance, including medical assistance, to populations in need is being obstructed by parties to armed conflicts in many conflict situations,

Recalling that, under international humanitarian law, persons engaged in medical activities shall not be compelled to perform acts or to carry out work contrary to the rules of medical ethics or to other medical rules designed for the benefit of the wounded and the sick,

Convinced that acts of violence, attacks and threats against medical personnel and humanitarian personnel exclusively engaged in medical duties, their means of transport and equipment, as well as hospitals and other medical facilities, and obstructing the delivery of humanitarian assistance, including medical assistance, may exacerbate ongoing armed conflicts and undermine the efforts of the Council to maintain international peace and security under the Charter of the United Nations,

Urging States to ensure that violations of international humanitarian law related to the protection of the wounded and sick, medical personnel and humanitarian personnel exclusively engaged in medical duties, their means of transport and equipment, as well as hospitals and other medical facilities in armed conflicts do not remain unpunished, affirming the need for States to ensure that those responsible do not operate with impunity and that they are brought to justice, as provided for by national laws and obligations under international law,

Recalling that, under international law, attacks intentionally directed against hospitals and places where the sick and wounded are collected, provided that they are not military objectives, as well as attacks intentionally directed against buildings, material, medical units and transport and personnel using the distinctive emblems of the Geneva Conventions in conformity with international law are war crimes,

Stressing that the fight against impunity and to ensure accountability for war crimes and other serious violations of international humanitarian law has been strengthened through the work on and prosecution of these crimes in the international criminal justice system, and in this regard reiterating the importance of State cooperation with international courts and tribunals in accordance with States' respective obligations,

Noting that medical personnel and humanitarian personnel exclusively engaged in medical duties in an armed conflict situation continue to be under a duty to provide competent medical service in full professional and moral independence, with compassion and respect for human dignity, and always to bear in mind human life and to act in the best interest of the patient, and stressing the need to uphold their respective professional codes of ethics, and further noting the applicable rules of international humanitarian law relating to the non-punishment of any person for carrying out medical activities compatible with medical ethics,

Reaffirming the primary responsibility of States to protect the population throughout their whole territory, and recalling in this regard that all parties to armed conflict must comply fully with the obligations applicable to them under international humanitarian law related to the protection of civilians in armed conflict and medical personnel,

1. Strongly condemns acts of violence, attacks and threats against the wounded and sick, medical personnel and humanitarian personnel exclusively engaged in medical duties, their means of transport and equipment, as well as hospitals and other medical facilities, and deplores the long-term consequences of such attacks for the civilian population and the health-care systems of the countries concerned;

2. Demands that all parties to armed conflicts fully comply with their obligations under international law, including international human rights law, as applicable, and international humanitarian law, in particular their obligations under the Geneva Conventions of 1949<sup>289</sup> and the obligations applicable to them under the Additional Protocols thereto of 1977<sup>290</sup> and 2005,<sup>291</sup> to ensure the respect and protection of all medical personnel and humanitarian personnel exclusively engaged in medical duties, their means of transport and equipment, as well as hospitals and other medical facilities;

3. Also demands that all parties to armed conflicts facilitate safe and unimpeded passage for medical personnel and humanitarian personnel exclusively engaged in medical duties, their equipment, transport and supplies, including surgical items, to all people in need, consistent with international humanitarian law;

4. Strongly urges States and all parties to armed conflict to develop effective measures to prevent and address acts of violence, attacks and threats against medical personnel and humanitarian personnel exclusively engaged in medical duties, their means of transport and equipment, as well as hospitals and other medical facilities in armed conflict, including, as appropriate, through the development of domestic legal frameworks to ensure respect for their relevant international legal obligations, and the collection of data on obstruction, threats and physical attacks on medical personnel and humanitarian personnel exclusively engaged in medical duties, their means of transport and medical facilities, and to share challenges and good practice in this regard;

5. Underlines the important role that education and training in international humanitarian law can play in supporting efforts to halt and prevent acts of violence, attacks and threats against the wounded and sick, medical personnel and humanitarian personnel exclusively engaged in medical duties, their means of transport and equipment, as well as hospitals and other medical facilities;

6. Calls upon States to ensure that their armed forces and security forces, within their respective competencies under domestic law, make or, where relevant, continue their efforts to integrate practical measures for the protection of the wounded and sick and medical services into the planning and conduct of their operations;

7. Emphasizes the responsibility of States to comply with the relevant obligations under international law to end impunity and to ensure that those responsible for serious violations of international humanitarian law are held to account;

8. Strongly condemns the prevailing impunity for violations and abuses committed against medical personnel and humanitarian personnel exclusively engaged in medical duties, their means of transport and equipment, as well as hospitals and other medical facilities in armed conflict, which in turn may contribute to the recurrence of these acts;

9. Strongly urges States to conduct, in an independent manner, full, prompt, impartial and effective investigations within their jurisdiction of violations of international humanitarian law related to the protection of the wounded and sick, medical personnel and humanitarian personnel exclusively engaged in medical duties, their means of transport and equipment, as well as hospitals and other medical facilities in armed conflict, and, where appropriate, take action against those responsible in accordance with domestic and international law, with a view to reinforcing preventive measures, ensuring accountability and addressing the grievances of victims;

10. Expresses its intention to ensure that the mandates of relevant United Nations peacekeeping operations can, where appropriate and on a case-by-case basis, help to contribute to a secure environment to enable the delivery of medical assistance, in accordance with humanitarian principles;

11. Encourages the Secretary-General, in accordance with his prerogatives under the Charter of the United Nations, to bring to the attention of the Security Council situations in which the delivery of medical assistance to populations in need is being obstructed by parties to the armed conflict;

12. Requests the Secretary-General to include in his country-specific situation reports, and other relevant reports which address the protection of civilians, the issue of the protection of the wounded and sick, medical personnel and humanitarian personnel exclusively engaged in medical duties, their means of transport and equipment, as well as hospitals and other medical facilities, including recording specific acts of violence against them, remedial actions taken by parties to the armed conflict and other relevant actors, including humanitarian agencies, to prevent similar incidents, and actions taken to identify and hold accountable those who commit such acts;

The Security Council reaffirms its commitment to the full and effective implementation, in a mutually reinforcing manner, of resolutions 1325 \(2000\), 1820 \(2008\), 1888 \(2009\), 1889 \(2009\), 1960 \(2010\), 2106 \(2013\), 2122 \(2013\) and 2242 \(2015\) on women and peace and security, as part of the Council’s comprehensive approach to conflict prevention and mediation, and of all relevant statements by its President.

The Council welcomes the adoption of regional frameworks to implement resolution 1325 \(2000\), including the African Union Gender, Peace and Security Programme 2015–2020, and expresses its support for the African Union Special Envoy on Women, Peace and Security, Ms. Bineta Diop. The Council further welcomes the efforts of Member States in this regard, including the development of national action plans on women and peace and security, but notes that, despite these commitments, inconsistent levels of political will, resourcing, accountability, dedicated gender expertise and attitudinal change have often prevented the full and meaningful inclusion of women in regional and international efforts to prevent and resolve conflict and to build and sustain peace.

The Council emphasizes the importance of a comprehensive approach to sustaining peace, particularly through the prevention of conflict and addressing its root causes, and in this regard reaffirms the substantial link between the meaningful involvement of women in efforts to prevent, resolve and rebuild from conflict and the effectiveness and long-term sustainability of those efforts. The Council reiterates its call to increase the equal participation, representation and full involvement of women in preventive diplomacy efforts and all related decision-making processes with regard to conflict resolution and peacebuilding, in line with resolutions 1325 (2000), 1820 (2008), 1888 (2009), 1889 (2009), 2122 (2013) and 2242 (2015).

The Council acknowledges the positive impact that the economic empowerment of women can have on their full participation in political decision-making and peace and security efforts, and in this regard calls upon Member States to provide better occupational skills training and greater funding support for entrepreneurship for African women in order to comprehensively improve their incomes and livelihoods.

The Council emphasizes the important role that women and civil society, including women's organizations and formal and informal community leaders, as well as religious leaders, can play in exerting influence over parties to armed conflict. The Council welcomes women-led prevention initiatives such as the women's situation rooms throughout Africa, which have helped to prevent or mitigate the eruption and escalation of violence, inter alia, by observing and monitoring and by engaging stakeholders in constructive dialogue and peace advocacy. The Council reiterates the continuing need to increase success in preventing conflict by increasing the participation of women at all stages of mediation and post-conflict resolution and by increasing the consideration of gender-related issues in all discussions pertinent to conflict prevention.

The Council recognizes the differential impact on the human rights of women and girls of terrorism and violent extremism, including in the context of their health, education and participation in public life, and that they are often directly targeted by terrorist groups, and in this regard notes the presentation by the Secretary-General of his Plan of Action to Prevent Violent Extremism,<sup>308</sup> and his call to ensure that the protection and empowerment of women is a central consideration of strategies devised to counter terrorism and violent extremism and that efforts to counter terrorism and violent extremism do not impact adversely on women's rights.

The Council recognizes that mediation is an important means for the pacific settlement of disputes, calls upon regional and subregional organizations involved in peace processes to facilitate the meaningful participation of women at all levels of conflict prevention and resolution as well as implementation of peace agreements, and welcomes in this regard the initiative of the African Union to build a dedicated roster of women mediators on the continent for the use of both the African Union and the United Nations. The Council calls upon the Mediation Support Unit of the Department of Political Affairs of the Secretariat, as a provider of mediation support to the United Nations system, in accordance with agreed mandates, to work in collaboration with Member States, regional organizations, including the African Union and other relevant actors, to significantly increase the numbers of women mediators on their existing roster, as well as to ensure that mediators and their teams have training on designing inclusive mediation strategies.

The Council encourages Member States to increase their funding on women and peace and security, including through more aid in conflict and post-conflict situations for programmes that further gender equality and women's empowerment, as well as through support to civil society. The Council recognizes the launch of the Global Acceleration Instrument for Women, Peace and Security and Humanitarian Action, in addition to existing complementary mechanisms, as one avenue to attract resources, coordinate responses and accelerate implementation, and encourages Member States to consider funding the Global Acceleration Instrument.

The Council further welcomes the valuable work undertaken by the Peacebuilding Fund as a catalytic, rapid-response and flexible pre-positioned pooled fund providing financing to activities to sustain peace in conflict-affected countries, and in advancing strategic alignment within the United Nations system and between the United Nations and the international financial institutions.

At its 7793rd meeting, on 25 October 2016, the Council decided to invite the representatives of Argentina, Australia, Azerbaijan, Bangladesh, Belgium, Botswana, Brazil, Cambodia, Canada, Chile, Colombia, Costa Rica, Croatia, Czechia, the Democratic Republic of the Congo, Estonia, Ethiopia, the Gambia, Georgia, Germany,

The Security Council reaffirms its primary responsibility for the maintenance of international peace and security, in accordance with the Charter of the United Nations.

The Council further reaffirms that terrorism in all its forms and manifestations constitutes one of the most serious threats to international peace and security, and that any acts of terrorism are criminal and unjustifiable, regardless of their motivation, wherever, whenever and by whosoever committed.

The Council reaffirms its respect for the sovereignty, territorial integrity and political independence of all States in accordance with the Charter.

The Council emphasizes that terrorism cannot and should not be associated with any religion, nationality or civilization, and in this regard stresses the importance of promoting tolerance and interreligious dialogue.

The Council stresses that terrorism can only be defeated by a sustained and comprehensive approach involving the active participation and collaboration of all States, international and regional organizations and civil society as appropriate, to impede, impair, isolate and incapacitate the terrorist threat, consistent with the United Nations Global Counter-Terrorism Strategy.<sup>331</sup>

The Council reaffirms that Member States must ensure that any measures taken to counter terrorism comply with the Charter and all other obligations under international law, in particular international human rights law, international refugee law and international humanitarian law.

The Council reiterates the obligation of Member States to refrain from providing any form of support, active or passive, to entities or persons involved in or associated with terrorist acts, including by suppressing recruitment of members of terrorist groups, consistent with international law, and eliminating the supply of weapons to terrorists.

The Council underlines the importance of prompt and effective implementation of its resolutions related to the fight against terrorism, and recalls in this regard, among others, its resolutions 1373 \(2001\), 1624 \(2005\) and 2178 \(2014\).

The Council, consistent with its primary responsibility for the maintenance of international peace and security, in accordance with the Charter, further recalls that countering violent extremism, which can be conducive to terrorism, including preventing radicalization, recruitment and mobilization of individuals into terrorist groups and becoming foreign terrorist fighters is an essential element of addressing the threat to international peace and security posed by foreign terrorist fighters, as underlined in resolution 2178 \(2014\), and in this regard takes note of the Secretary General's Plan of Action to Prevent Violent Extremism,<sup>335</sup> and further notes that the General Assembly welcomed the initiative by the Secretary-General and took note of said Plan,<sup>336</sup> which will be subject to further consideration during the review of the United Nations Global Counter-Terrorism Strategy in June 2016, as well as in other relevant forums.

The Council notes with concern that Islamic State in Iraq and the Levant (ISIL, also known as Da'esh), Al-Qaida and associated individuals, groups, undertakings and entities craft distorted narratives that are based on the misinterpretation and misrepresentation of religion to justify violence, which are utilized to recruit supporters and foreign terrorist fighters, mobilize resources and garner support from sympathizers, in particular by exploiting information and communications technologies, including through the Internet and social media.

The Council recognizes the role that victims of terrorism in particular, among other legitimate voices, can play in countering radicalization to violence, and to develop robust social media campaigns and counter-messaging efforts to counter terrorist narratives and online recruitment attempts.

The Council further notes, in this regard, the urgent need to globally counter the activities of ISIL (Da'esh), Al-Qaida and associated individuals, groups, undertakings and entities to incite and recruit to commit terrorist acts and recognizes that the international community should consider developing an accurate understanding of how these groups motivate others to commit terrorist acts or recruit them; developing the most effective means to counter terrorist propaganda, incitement and recruitment, including through the Internet, in compliance with international law, including international human rights law; developing a counter-narrative campaign to encourage, and amplify active denouncers of ISIL (Da'esh), Al-Qaida and associated individuals, groups, undertakings and entities to point out the fallacies and inconsistencies of terrorist narratives, where applicable, while recognizing the need for such a campaign to be adaptive to national contexts; raising public awareness, including through education regarding counter-terrorist narratives; developing more effective ways for Governments to partner with appropriate civil society actors, local communities and private sector industry partners, as applicable, to counter radicalization and recruitment efforts of ISIL (Da'esh), Al-Qaida and associated individuals, groups, undertakings and entities; strengthening international cooperation mechanisms; identifying any additional relevant infrastructure and capability needs of Member States; and mobilizing necessary resources to where there is need.

The Council, accordingly, requests the Counter-Terrorism Committee, in close consultation with the Counter-Terrorism Committee Executive Directorate and other relevant United Nations bodies and international and regional organizations, in particular the Counter-Terrorism Implementation Task Force Office, as well as interested Member States, to present a proposal to the Council by 30 April 2017 for a “comprehensive international framework”, with recommended guidelines and good practices to effectively counter, in compliance with international law, the ways that ISIL (Da’esh), Al-Qaida and associated individuals, groups, undertakings and entities use their narratives to encourage, motivate and recruit others to commit terrorist acts, including with a counter-narrative campaign, consistent with any similar campaign undertaken by the United Nations, as well as options for coordinating the implementation of the framework and mobilizing resources as necessary, emphasizing, in that regard, the primary role of Member States with regard to activities and arrangements consistent with such framework and welcoming their continuing efforts to enhance inter-agency cooperation and coordination and establish relevant partnerships with private sector, civil society, religious, educational and cultural institutions with a view to countering the narratives of terrorist groups and incitement to commit terrorist acts.

At its 7692nd meeting, on 13 May 2016, the Council considered the item entitled “Threats to international peace and security caused by terrorist acts”.

At the same meeting, following consultations among members of the Security Council, the President made the following statement on behalf of the Council:<sup>337</sup>

The Security Council strongly condemns all terrorist attacks, abuses of human rights and violations of international humanitarian law by Boko Haram in the Lake Chad basin region, including those involving killings and other violence against civilians, notably women and children, abductions, pillaging, rape, sexual slavery and other sexual violence, recruitment and use of children and destruction of civilian property. The Council expresses serious concern over the reported violations and abuses of human rights and large-scale displacement of the civilian population across the Lake Chad basin region as a result of the activities of Boko Haram. The Council stresses that those responsible for these abuses and violations of human rights and violations of international humanitarian law must be held accountable and brought to justice.

The Council expresses deep concern that the activities of Boko Haram continue to undermine the peace and stability of the West and Central African region. The Council expresses alarm at Boko Haram’s linkages with Islamic State in Iraq and the Levant (ISIL, also known as Da’esh).

The Council demands that Boko Haram immediately and unequivocally cease all violence and all abuses of human rights and violations of international humanitarian law. The Council demands the immediate and unconditional release of all those abducted who remain in captivity, including 219 schoolgirls abducted in Chibok, Borno State, Nigeria, in April 2014 among the reported thousands of others held captive by Boko Haram. The Council recognizes that some of such acts may amount to crimes against humanity and war crimes.

The Council expresses deep concern at the alarming scale of the humanitarian crisis caused by the activities of Boko Haram in the Lake Chad basin region, including the internal displacement of more than 2.2 million Nigerians, and over 450,000 internally displaced persons and refugees in neighbouring Cameroon, Chad and Niger. The Council notes that an estimated 4.2 million people in the Lake Chad basin region face a food security crisis, including 800,000 in Borno and Yobe States, Nigeria, where an estimated 184 children a day risk starvation without the immediate provision of emergency food assistance. The Council commends the support provided to the displaced populations by the international community, in particular the people and Governments of the Lake Chad basin region, including with the assistance of humanitarian actors and relevant United Nations entities. The Council urges the international community to immediately support the provision of urgent humanitarian assistance for the people most affected by the crisis in Cameroon, Chad, Niger and Nigeria and notes that approximately 10 per cent of the $531 million required to fulfil such assistance has been received this year.

The Council commends the important territorial advances by the Governments of Cameroon, Chad, Niger and Nigeria against Boko Haram, including through the Multinational Joint Task Force headquartered in N'Djamena. The Council urges the Member States participating in the Task Force to further enhance regional military cooperation and coordination, particularly to consolidate military gains, deny safe haven to Boko Haram, allow humanitarian access and facilitate the restoration of the rule of law in liberated areas. The Council underscores the importance of a holistic approach to degrade and defeat Boko Haram that includes coordinated security operations, conducted in accordance with applicable international law, as well as enhanced civilian efforts to improve governance and promote economic growth in the affected areas.

The Council welcomes the crucial initiative of the President of Nigeria, Mr. Muhammadu Buhari, to convene the second Regional Security Summit on 14 May 2016 in Abuja to evaluate the regional response to the threat posed by Boko Haram, including with a view to adopting a comprehensive strategy to address the governance, security, development, socioeconomic and humanitarian dimensions of the crisis, as a follow-up to the Paris Summit of 17 May 2014, which aimed to strengthen regional cooperation between Cameroon, Chad, Niger and Nigeria, as well as Benin, in the fight against Boko Haram.

The Council encourages the Economic Community of Central African States and the Economic Community of West African States, in coordination with the African Union, to accelerate joint efforts to adopt a common strategy to combat the threat posed by Boko Haram.

The Council urges the Member States participating in the Multinational Joint Task Force to continue efforts toward the sustainable, viable and effective operationalization of the Task Force. In this regard, the Council welcomes the assistance provided by bilateral partners and multilateral organizations and encourages further support, including the provision of financial and logistical assistance, relevant equipment and modalities to increase the timely and effective exchange of intelligence to further the collective efforts of the region to combat Boko Haram.

The Council stresses the need for Member States in the Lake Chad basin region to complement the regional military and security operations against Boko Haram by national and regional efforts, with the assistance of bilateral partners and multilateral organizations, to improve livelihoods, provide humanitarian assistance to displaced and other conflict-affected populations, promote education and job creation, consolidate the rule of law, facilitate stabilization efforts, reconstruction, development and economic recovery, assist victims and vulnerable populations, prevent illicit trafficking of weapons to armed groups and criminal networks, as well as to strengthen measures to protect civilians and promote and protect human rights, particularly of women and children. The Council calls upon relevant United Nations entities, including the United Nations Office for West Africa and the Sahel and the United Nations Regional Office for Central Africa, to support, as appropriate, the Member States of the region, as well as subregional and regional organizations, to address the impact of Boko Haram violence on the peace and stability of the region.

The Council reiterates that any acts of terrorism are criminal and unjustifiable, regardless of their motivation, wherever, whenever and by whomsoever committed. The Council reaffirms the need for all States to combat by all means, in accordance with the Charter of the United Nations and their other obligations under international law, including international human rights law, international refugee law and international humanitarian law, threats to international peace and security caused by terrorist acts. The Council stresses that terrorism can only be defeated by a sustained and comprehensive approach involving the active participation and collaboration of all States and international, regional and subregional organizations to counter the terrorist threat.

The Council underlines the need to bring perpetrators, organizers, financiers and sponsors of these reprehensible acts of terrorism to justice and stresses that those responsible should be held accountable, and urges all States, in accordance with their obligations under international law and relevant Council resolutions, to cooperate actively with all relevant authorities in this regard.

The Council underlines the importance of prompt and effective implementation of its relevant resolutions and statements related to the fight against terrorism, and recalls in this regard, among others, its resolutions 1373 \(2001\), 1624 \(2005\), 2178 \(2014\) and 2253 \(2015\), as well as the statement by its President of 11 May 2016,<sup>334</sup> in which, inter alia, it recognizes the importance of countering terrorism and recruitment by terrorist organizations.

Resolution 2309 (2016)
of 22 September 2016

The Security Council,

Reaffirming that terrorism in all forms and manifestations constitutes one of the most serious threats to international peace and security and that any acts of terrorism are criminal and unjustifiable regardless of their motivations, whenever, wherever and by whomsoever committed, and remaining determined to contribute further to enhancing the effectiveness of the overall effort to fight this scourge on a global level,

Noting with concern that the terrorism threat has become more diffuse, with an increase, in various regions of the world, of terrorist acts, including those motivated by intolerance or violent extremism, and expressing its determination to combat this threat,

Reaffirming its commitment to the sovereignty, including sovereignty over the airspace above a State’s territory, territorial integrity and political independence of all States in accordance with the Charter of the United Nations,

Recognizing the vital importance of the global aviation system to economic development and prosperity, and of all States strengthening aviation security measures to secure a stable and peaceful global environment, and further recognizing that secure air services in this regard enhance transportation, connectivity, trade, and political and cultural links between States, and that public confidence in the security of air transport is vital,

Noting that the global nature of aviation means that States are dependent on the effectiveness of each other’s aviation security systems for the protection of their citizens and nationals and relevant aspects of their national security, bearing in mind the common goal of the international community in this regard, which means that States are dependent on each other to provide a common secure aviation environment,

Expressing concern that terrorist groups continue to view civil aviation as an attractive target, with the aim of causing substantial loss of life, economic damage and disruption to connectivity between States, and that the risk of terrorist attacks against civil aviation may affect all regions and Member States,

Expressing grave concern over terrorist attacks against civil aviation, and strongly condemning such attacks,

Expressing concern that civil aviation may be used as a transportation means by foreign terrorist fighters, and noting in this regard that Annex 9 – Facilitation to the Convention on International Civil Aviation, done at Chicago on 7 December 1944 (the Chicago Convention) contains standards and recommended practices relevant to the detection and prevention of terrorist threats involving civil aviation,

Reaffirming that terrorist attacks against civil aviation, like any act of international terrorism, constitute a threat to international peace and security, and that any acts of terrorism are criminal and unjustifiable regardless of their motivations, whenever, wherever and by whomsoever committed, and reaffirming the need to combat by all means threats to international peace and security caused by terrorist acts, in accordance with the Charter and other international law, in particular international human rights law, international refugee law and international humanitarian law,

Expressing particular concern that terrorist groups are actively seeking ways to defeat or circumvent aviation security, looking to identify and exploit gaps or weaknesses where they perceive them, noting in this regard the high-priority risk areas for aviation as identified by the Council of the International Civil Aviation Organization in its global Risk Context Statement, and stressing the need for international aviation security measures to keep pace with the evolution of this threat,

Affirming the role of the International Civil Aviation Organization as the United Nations organization responsible for developing international aviation security standards, monitoring their implementation by States and its role in assisting States in complying with these standards, noting in this regard the “no country left behind” initiative of the International Civil Aviation Organization, noting also the adoption at the thirty-seventh session of the Assembly of the Organization in 2010 of the Declaration on Aviation Security and the Comprehensive Aviation Security Strategy of the Organization, both of which have become key instruments of leadership and engagement for the Organization in carrying out its aviation security programme, and noting the intention to develop a Global Aviation Security Plan as the future global framework for progressive aviation security enhancement,

Noting that the protection of civil aviation from acts of unlawful interference is addressed by the Convention on Offences and Certain Other Acts Committed on Board Aircraft (Tokyo, 1963),<sup>338</sup> by the Convention for the Suppression of Unlawful Seizure of Aircraft (The Hague, 1970),<sup>339</sup> by the Convention for the Suppression of Unlawful Acts against the Safety of Civil Aviation (Montreal, 1971),<sup>340</sup> by the Protocol for the Suppression of Unlawful Acts of Violence at Airports Serving International Civil Aviation, Supplementary to the Convention for the Suppression of Unlawful Acts against the Safety of Civil Aviation (Montreal, 1988),<sup>341</sup> by the Convention on the Marking of Plastic Explosives for the Purpose of Detection (Montreal, 1991),<sup>342</sup> by the Convention for the Suppression of Unlawful Acts Relating to International Civil Aviation (Beijing, 2010), by the Protocol Supplementary to the Convention for the Suppression of Unlawful Seizure of Aircraft (Beijing, 2010), by the Protocol to Amend the Convention on Offences and Certain Other Acts Committed on Board Aircraft (Montreal, 2014) and by bilateral agreements for the suppression of such acts,

Reaffirming its call upon all States to become party to the relevant international counter-terrorism conventions and protocols as soon as possible, whether or not they are party to regional conventions on the matter, and to fully implement their obligations under those to which they are party,

1. Affirms that all States have the responsibility to protect the security of citizens and nationals of all nations against terrorist attacks on air services operating within their territory, in a manner consistent with existing obligations under international law;

2. Also affirms that all States have an interest to protect the safety of their own citizens and nationals against terrorist attacks conducted against international civil aviation, wherever these may occur, in accordance with international law, including international human rights law and international humanitarian law;

3. Notes that Annex 17 – Security to the Convention on International Civil Aviation, done at Chicago on 7 December 1944 (the Chicago Convention) provides that contracting States shall develop and implement regulations, practices, and procedures to safeguard civil aviation against acts of unlawful interference and to ensure that such measures are capable of responding rapidly to meet any increased security threat, and further notes that Annex 17 to the Chicago Convention establishes additional standards to safeguard international civil aviation against

Further condemning harassment and targeting of civil society, humanitarian personnel and journalists, and emphasizing the importance of accountability for those responsible for violations of international humanitarian law and violations and abuses of human rights and that the Government of South Sudan bears the primary responsibility to protect its populations from crimes against humanity, war crimes, ethnic cleansing and genocide,

Expressing serious and urgent concern over the more than 2.21 million displaced persons and deepening humanitarian crisis, stressing the responsibility borne by all parties to the conflict for the suffering of the people of South Sudan, and the necessity of ensuring that the basic needs of the population are met, and commending United Nations humanitarian agencies, partners and donors for their efforts to provide urgent and coordinated support to the population,

Stressing the increasingly urgent need to end impunity in South Sudan and to bring to justice all perpetrators of such crimes, and further stressing the importance of accountability, reconciliation and healing in ending impunity and ensuring a sustainable peace,

Strongly condemning the use of media to broadcast hate speech and transmit messages instigating violence against a particular ethnic group, which has the potential to play a significant role in promoting mass violence and exacerbating conflict, calling upon the Government of South Sudan to take the appropriate measures in order to deter such activity, and further urging all parties to desist from these actions and instead contribute to promoting peace and reconciliation among the communities,

Recognizing the important role played by civil society organizations, faith leaders, women and youth in South Sudan in reaching the Agreement, and underscoring the importance of their participation – and that of other political parties – in implementing the Agreement,

Stressing the need for effective human rights monitoring and reporting, including of any sexual and gender-based violence and violations and abuses committed against women and children, taking note that there have been no developments with regard to the operationalization of human rights monitoring in the Abyei Area, and reiterating its concern at the lack of cooperation by the parties with the Secretary-General to this end,

Recalling that in its resolution 2086 (2013) of 21 January 2013 it reiterated the importance, when establishing and renewing the mandates of United Nations missions, of including provisions on the promotion of gender equality and the empowerment of women in post-conflict situations and on children and armed conflict, and emphasizing that persistent barriers to full implementation of resolution 1325 (2000) and subsequent resolutions on women and peace and security, including resolution 2242 (2015), will only be dismantled through dedicated commitment to women's empowerment, participation and human rights, and through concerted leadership, consistent information and action, and support, to build women's engagement in all levels of decision-making,

Acknowledging the acceptance by the Government of the Sudan and the Government of South Sudan at the Joint Political and Security Mechanism meeting of 13 and 14 October 2015 of the map presented by the African Union High-level Implementation Panel in November 2011 relating to the Safe Demilitarized Border Zone, their agreement that the centreline is only the location of the separation line between armed forces, as well as the parties' agreement to activate all mechanisms relating to the Joint Political and Security Mechanism as provided for in relevant agreements, and encouraging the parties to delineate or agree on the coordinates of, and demilitarize the Zone, including the 14-mile area, and to fully implement the Joint Border Verification and Monitoring Mechanism, in accordance with Security Council resolution 2046 (2012) and the Peace and Security Council road map of 24 April 2012,<sup>402</sup> and underlining the importance of fully establishing and maintaining effective monitoring by the Joint Border Verification and Monitoring Mechanism of the Zone, including the 14-mile area, and further urging the parties to cooperate in allowing the United Nations Interim Security Force for Abyei to fulfil its responsibility to provide security for the Mechanism's mission to monitor the Zone, implement pending aspects of the Agreement of 20 June 2011, in particular to resolve the dispute over the Abyei Area agreement, and to resolve the dispute over the Abyei Area Council and immediately establish the Abyei Area Administration and Abyei Police Service,

Taking note of the security situation in the Abyei Area as characterized in the reports of the Secretary-General of 11 September 2015<sup>404</sup> and 13 November 2015,<sup>405</sup> and acknowledging the contribution of the Force to enhanced peace and stability since its deployment and expressing its determination to prevent the recurrence of violence against or displacements of civilians and to avert intercommunal conflict,

Noting with concern the continued delay in establishing the temporary institutions and resolving the final status of Abyei and that the continued threat of intercommunal violence contributes to heightened tensions in the Abyei Area, including those ongoing tensions that prevent Sudanese staff of the Force and other agencies from returning to Abyei,

Urging all parties to refrain from any unilateral action that could aggravate intercommunal relations within the Abyei Area, expressing concern over the continued implications of what the Peace and Security Council described in its press statement of 6 November 2013 as “the decision by the Ngok Dinka to conduct a unilateral referendum”, and also in this context taking note that the Government of the Sudan proceeded with its April 2015 national elections in Abyei,

Taking note of the information in the report of the Secretary-General of 13 November 2015 regarding continued earthwork excavation in Diffra,

Bearing in mind the current humanitarian situation in which humanitarian actors continue to provide assistance to over 89,000 people in the Abyei Area and the importance of coherence of United Nations assistance in the region, and further stressing the urgency of facilitating the delivery of humanitarian assistance to all affected populations,

Affirming the importance of voluntary, safe, dignified return and sustainable reintegration of displaced persons, and of peaceful and orderly migration cycles respecting the traditional migratory routes from the Sudan to South Sudan through Abyei, and urging the Force to continue to take measures as necessary to ensure security in the Abyei Area in accordance with its mandate,

Recalling its resolution 2117 (2013) of 26 September 2013, and expressing grave concern at the threat to peace and security in Abyei arising from the illicit transfer, destabilizing accumulation and misuse of small arms and light weapons, and in this regard welcoming the progress of the Force on completing infrastructure, systems and policy for weapons confiscation, storage and destruction,

Expressing its concern at any statement or action by any party suggesting a lack of commitment to implement the Agreement, as contained exclusively in the annex to document S/2015/654, and noting with deep concern reports of continued fighting, calling upon the parties to adhere to the permanent ceasefire immediately, and noting with deep concern the delays in implementing some other parts of the Agreement, including the establishment of a Transitional Government of National Unity,

Commending the expanded efforts of the “Intergovernmental Authority on Development-Plus” configuration in helping to facilitate the signing of the Agreement by the parties and welcoming its ongoing support to implement the Agreement, and urging enhanced support by the international community, in particular the Intergovernmental Authority and the African Union, during the peace implementation,

Recognizing the important role played by civil society organizations, faith leaders, women and youth in South Sudan in reaching the Agreement, and underscoring the importance of their participation – and that of other political parties – in implementing the Agreement,

Recalling its resolution 2086 \(2013\) of 21 January 2013 and reaffirming the basic principles of peacekeeping, including consent of the parties, impartiality and non-use of force except in self-defence and defence of the mandate, recognizing that the mandate of each peacekeeping mission is specific to the need and situation of the country concerned, and underlining in this regard that the basic principles are consistent with the mandates that the Security

Council authorizes that seek to tackle new challenges faced by peacekeeping operations, such as force protection and safety and security, protection of civilians and asymmetric threats, and that the Council expects full delivery of the mandates it authorizes,

Reiterating its grave alarm and concern regarding the political, security, economic and humanitarian crisis in South Sudan, resulting from the internal Sudan People's Liberation Movement political dispute, and subsequent violence caused by the country's political and military leaders since December 2013,

Recognizing that the safe return of all parties to Juba and the implementation of stable security arrangements in the capital during the transitional period are essential to the successful implementation of the Agreement as it will build confidence in the wider transitional security arrangements, and encouraging all parties to continue their efforts at reconciliation and building a democratic State,

Taking note with interest of the reports on the human rights situation in South Sudan issued by the United Nations Mission in South Sudan and the Secretary-General, welcoming the release of the report of the African Union Commission of Inquiry on South Sudan and the separate opinion, and emphasizing its hope that these and other credible reporting will be duly considered by any transitional justice and reconciliation mechanisms for South Sudan, including those established in the Agreement,

Expressing grave concern that according to some of these reports there are reasonable grounds to believe that war crimes and crimes against humanity, including those involving extrajudicial killings, rape and other acts of sexual violence, enforced disappearances, the use of children in armed conflict, arbitrary arrests and detention, and attacks on schools and hospitals have been committed by both government and opposition forces, and noting that crimes involving these actions threaten the peace, security and stability of South Sudan,

Strongly condemning all human rights violations and abuses and violations of international humanitarian law, including those involving extrajudicial killings, ethnically targeted violence, rape and other forms of sexual and gender-based violence, recruitment and use of children, enforced disappearances, arbitrary arrests and detention, violence aimed at spreading terror among the civilian population, targeting of members of civil society, and attacks on schools, places of worship, hospitals and United Nations and associated peacekeeping personnel, by all parties, including armed groups and national security forces, as well as the incitement to commit such abuses and violations,

Further condemning the harassment and targeting of journalists and the use of media to broadcast hate speech and transmit messages instigating violence against a particular ethnic group, a practice that has the potential to play a significant role in promoting mass violence and exacerbating conflict, calling upon the Government of South Sudan to take all appropriate measures in order to deter such activity, and further urging all parties to desist from these actions and instead contribute to promoting peace and reconciliation among the communities,

Emphasizing the importance of accountability for those responsible for violations of international humanitarian law and violations and abuses of human rights and that the Government of South Sudan bears the primary responsibility to protect its populations from crimes against humanity, war crimes, ethnic cleansing and genocide,

Expressing serious and urgent concern over the approximately 2.4 million displaced persons and deepening humanitarian crisis, stressing the responsibility borne by all parties to the conflict for the suffering of the people of South Sudan, and the necessity of ensuring that the basic needs of the population are met, and commending United Nations humanitarian agencies, partners and donors for their efforts to provide urgent and coordinated support to the population,

Condemning all attacks against humanitarian personnel and facilities, including those that resulted in the deaths of at least 41 personnel since December 2013, and recalling that attacks against humanitarian personnel and depriving civilians of objects indispensable to their survival may amount to violations of international humanitarian law,

Expressing its deep appreciation for the actions taken by Mission peacekeepers and troop- and police-contributing countries to protect civilians, including foreign nationals, under threat of physical violence and to stabilize the security situation within and beyond Mission sites, recognizing the significant resource and capacity challenges the Mission faces in implementing its mandate, expressing appreciation for the efforts of the Mission to support internally displaced persons seeking protection on its sites, while underlining the necessity to find sustainable solutions for internally displaced persons, including in alternative safe and secure locations and in keeping with the Guiding Principles on Internal Displacement,<sup>386</sup> and underlining in this regard the need to extend its presence, including through proactive deployment and patrolling, to areas of displacement, return and resettlement,

Reaffirming that sustainable peace requires an integrated approach based on coherence between political, security, development, human rights, including gender equality, rule of law and justice and reconciliation activities, and in this regard emphasizing the importance of the rule of law as one of the key elements of conflict prevention, peacekeeping, conflict resolution and peacebuilding,

Emphasizing that individuals or entities responsible for or complicit in, or having engaged in, directly or indirectly, actions or policies that threaten the peace, security or stability of South Sudan may be designated for targeted sanctions pursuant to resolution 2206 \(2015\), recalling its willingness to impose targeted sanctions, and noting with interest the communiqué of 26 September 2015 of the African Union Peace and Security Council expressing its determination to impose measures against all those who impede implementation of the Agreement,

Emphasizing also that persistent barriers to full implementation of resolution 1325 \(2000\) of 31 October 2000 and subsequent resolutions on women and peace and security, including resolution 2242 \(2015\) of 13 October 2015, will only be dismantled through dedicated commitment to women's empowerment, participation and human rights, and through concerted leadership, consistent information and action, and support, to build women's engagement in all levels of decision-making,

Expressing deep concern at persistent restrictions placed upon the movement and operations of the Mission, including through repeated violations of the status-of-forces agreement and blocking the deployment of essential assets and enablers, and underscoring the importance of close cooperation and communication between the Mission and the Government of South Sudan in addressing these issues,

Decisions

At its 7650th meeting, on 17 March 2016, the Security Council considered the item entitled “Reports of the Secretary-General on the Sudan and South Sudan”.

At the same meeting, following consultations among members of the Security Council, the President made the following statement on behalf of the Council:<sup>414</sup>

The Security Council expresses deep alarm at the situation in South Sudan. The Council notes that, while the ceasefire has largely held in the former theatre of conflict in greater Upper Nile, it is deeply concerned at ongoing violence, as reported in briefings to the Council on 19 February 2016. The Council calls upon the Government of South Sudan to uphold its responsibility for the protection of civilians.

The Council expresses particular alarm at credible reports of armed men in Sudan People’s Liberation Army uniforms entering the United Nations Mission in South Sudan protection of civilians site and firing on civilians. The Council stresses that attacks against civilians, Mission personnel, as well as United Nations premises are unacceptable and may constitute war crimes. The Council calls upon the Government of South Sudan to investigate and prosecute those responsible for the attack and commends the United Nations for quickly announcing the establishment of a high-level board of inquiry to be convened by the Department of Peacekeeping Operations and the Department of Field Support of the Secretariat which will conduct an in-depth investigation into the response of the Mission to this incident, and awaits with interest its findings.

The Council condemns reported human rights violations and abuses and violations of international humanitarian law and in this regard expresses deep concern over those detailed in the report of the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights assessment mission to improve human rights, accountability, reconciliation and capacity in South Sudan of 11 March 2016<sup>415</sup> and the report of the United Nations Mission in South Sudan and the Office of the High Commissioner of 4 December 2015, entitled “The state of human rights in the protracted conflict in South Sudan”. The Council expresses deep alarm at the numerous reports of sexual violence in armed conflict. The Council also underscores its grave concern at the deteriorating economic and humanitarian situation in South Sudan, with an estimated 2.8 million people who are severely food insecure, and that humanitarian access continues to be restricted.

The Council underscores its support for the Chairperson of the Joint Monitoring and Evaluation Commission, Mr. Festus Mogae, and calls upon all parties to fully cooperate with him to advance the Agreement on the Resolution of the Conflict in the Republic of South Sudan (the Agreement).<sup>416</sup>

The Council welcomes some progress in the implementation of the Agreement, including the commencement of the work of the Joint Monitoring and Evaluation Commission, the establishment of some of the transitional security mechanisms, agreement on the selection of ministerial portfolios, the appointment by President Salva Kiir of Mr. Riek Machar as First Vice-President, and the parties’ endorsement of the Commission’s transitional security arrangements proposal.

The Council expresses its deep concern at the failure of the parties to fully adhere to their commitments to implement the Agreement. In this regard, the Council calls for the following steps to be taken:

1. The Government of South Sudan and the Sudan People's Liberation Movement in Opposition fully and immediately adhere to the permanent ceasefire in accordance with their obligations under the Agreement.
2. The Government of South Sudan, the Sudan People's Liberation Movement in Opposition and all other relevant actors extend their full cooperation to complete implementation of the Juba security arrangements as decided by the Chairperson of the Joint Monitoring and Evaluation Commission and agreed by the parties on 24 February 2016.
3. The President, the First Vice-President and the Vice-President, as set out in the Agreement, take up their positions in the Transitional Government of National Unity in Juba.
4. The parties to the Agreement abide by and take no action inconsistent with the Intergovernmental Authority on Development communiqué of 31 January 2016, which was subsequently endorsed by the parties and the Joint Monitoring and Evaluation Commission, on the issue of the presidential decree on the creation of 28 new states.
5. The Government of South Sudan and the Sudan People's Liberation Movement in Opposition protect civilians and civilian facilities, including schools and hospitals, allow people to move freely and allow, in accordance with relevant provisions of international law and United Nations guiding principles of humanitarian assistance, full, safe and unhindered humanitarian access to help to ensure timely delivery of humanitarian assistance to all those in need.

The Council expresses its intention to review progress on the steps outlined above no later than 31 March 2016.

The Council underscores the pressing need for accountability for violations and abuses of human rights and violations of international humanitarian law in South Sudan, including ongoing violations and abuses that have been reported since the Agreement was signed. The Council takes note in this regard of chapter V of the Agreement, calls for its implementation, and appreciates the African Union Peace and Security Council communiqué of 26 September 2015, in which the Peace and Security Council requested that the Chairperson of the African Union Commission take all necessary steps towards the establishment of the Hybrid Court for South Sudan, which will have jurisdiction over serious crimes committed through the end of the transitional period. The Security Council also calls for implementation of the other mechanisms outlined in chapter V of the Agreement, including the Commission for Truth, Reconciliation and Healing.

The Council expresses deep concern at reports of repeated violations of the status-of-forces agreement and underscores the importance of close cooperation on this issue. The Council underscores its steadfast support for the United Nations Mission in South Sudan and renews its deep appreciation for the courageous actions taken by Mission personnel and troop- and police-contributing countries to protect hundreds of thousands of civilians under threat of physical violence and to stabilize the security situation across South Sudan. The Council recognizes the need to strengthen cooperation between the Government of South Sudan and the Mission to ensure the safety and security of peacekeepers and other United Nations and associated personnel, including humanitarian personnel.

The Council reaffirms its unwavering support for the people of South Sudan.

On 17 March 2016, the President of the Security Council addressed the following letter to the Secretary-General:<sup>417</sup>

Resolution 2296 (2016) of 29 June 2016

The Security Council,

Reaffirming all its previous resolutions and the statements by its President concerning the situation in the Sudan, and underlining the importance of full compliance with these,

Reaffirming also its strong commitment to the sovereignty, unity, independence and territorial integrity of the Sudan and its determination to work with the Government of the Sudan, in full respect of its sovereignty, to assist in tackling the various challenges in the Sudan,

Recalling the importance of the principles of the peaceful settlement of international disputes, good-neighbourliness, non-interference and cooperation in the relations among States in the region,

Reaffirming the basic principles of peacekeeping, including consent of the parties, impartiality and non-use of force except in self-defence and defence of the mandate, and recognizing that the mandate of each peacekeeping mission is specific to the country concerned,

Recalling all its relevant resolutions on women and peace and security, on children and armed conflict, on the protection of humanitarian and United Nations personnel and on the protection of civilians in armed conflict,

Expressing deep concern at the ongoing insecurity in Darfur as characterized by attacks by rebel groups and government forces in Jebel Marra, intertribal fighting, banditry and criminality, including sexual and gender-based violence targeting women and girls, which continues to threaten civilians, in particular women and children; and reiterating its demand that all parties to the conflict in Darfur immediately end violence, including attacks on civilians, peacekeepers and humanitarian personnel,

Taking note of the lack of military confrontation between the Government of the Sudan and armed groups in Darfur over the past year, except for Jebel Marra, expressing deep concern at a significant increase in violence in and around Jebel Marra, where fighting between the Government and the Sudan Liberation Army/Abdul Wahid continued, including aerial bombardments and reported attacks on women and children, as well as intercommunal conflict over land, access to resources, migration issues and tribal rivalries, including with the involvement of paramilitary units and tribal militias, including in East, West and North Darfur where intercommunal conflict led to significant displacement as well as the killing and wounding of civilians and the wounding of a peacekeeper,

Emphasizing that those responsible for violations of international humanitarian law and violations and abuses of human rights must be held accountable and that the Government of the Sudan bears the primary responsibility to protect civilians within its territory and subject to its jurisdiction, including protection from crimes against humanity and war crimes,

Recalling its resolution 2117 (2013) of 26 September 2013, and expressing concern at the threat to peace and security in Darfur arising from the illicit transfer, destabilizing accumulation and misuse of small arms and light weapons, and the continued threats to civilians posed by unexploded ordnance,

Expressing deep concern at the significant increase in population displacements in 2015 and so far in 2016 and the consequent increase in humanitarian assistance and protection needs, with 80,000 persons displaced across Darfur during the first five months of 2016 according to the United Nations and partners, some of whom have already returned, and unconfirmed reports due to access restrictions that up to an additional 127,000 were also reportedly displaced, in addition to 247,000 persons newly displaced in 2015, increasing the estimated total number of long-term internally displaced persons in Darfur to 2.6 million and a total number of people in need of humanitarian assistance of 3.3 million,

Recalling the commitments made by the Government of the Sudan and other signatories to the Doha Document for Peace in Darfur<sup>411</sup> to ensure the unimpeded access of humanitarian assistance to the population in need and the protection of humanitarian workers and their operations in areas under their control, as well as to guarantee the African Union-United Nations Hybrid Operation in Darfur unimpeded freedom of movement in all areas and at all times in Darfur in the exercise of its mandate, and further recalling the role of the Implementation Follow-up Commission in assessing the implementation of the Doha Document,

Expressing concern that the continued denial of access and restrictions imposed on humanitarian actors have left significant gaps in the delivery of humanitarian assistance, and calling upon the Government of the Sudan to ensure that humanitarian actors can operate in support of addressing basic needs,

Expressing concern also at access restrictions and obstacles, including bureaucratic obstacles, imposed on the African Union-United Nations Hybrid Operation in Darfur which continue to jeopardize its ability to deliver on its mandate, including access restrictions in North and Central Darfur which prevent access to populations displaced by the fighting in Jebel Marra, welcoming the recent clearance by the Government of the Sudan of 233 shipments with food rations for the Operation and 16 shipments with United Nations- and contingent-owned equipment, noting that clearance for 298 shipments containing United Nations- and contingent-owned equipment remains pending, recognizing the commitment by the Government to cooperate with the Operation and humanitarian personnel on all logistical issues, and calling upon the Government to continuously honour its commitment in full,

Calling upon donors, the regional authorities in Darfur and the Government of the Sudan to provide the financial resources necessary to reach those in need,

Reiterating that there can be no military solution to the conflict in Darfur and that an inclusive political settlement is essential to re-establishing peace, underscoring the importance of fully addressing the root causes of the conflict in the search for a sustainable peace, which should rapidly deliver real benefits for the Darfuri people, and in this regard reiterating its support for the Doha Document for Peace in Darfur as a viable framework for the peace process in Darfur, and for its accelerated implementation, as well as the peace talks mediated by the African Union High-level Implementation Panel,

Acknowledging the Sudan National Dialogue convened in Khartoum in October 2015 and the efforts of the Government of the Sudan to promote the National Dialogue, and further acknowledging that this National Dialogue was not sufficiently inclusive as it did not include all relevant parties,

Recalling the statements made by the Secretary-General and the Chairperson of the African Union Commission, which welcome the signing by the Government of the Sudan of the road map agreement proposed by the African Union High-level Implementation Panel, urge the non-signatory groups to sign it urgently and call upon all signatories to fully abide by the road map agreement,

Deplored the fact that some armed groups are impeding the peace process and have continued to resort to violence, reiterating its demand for the release of members of the former movement of Mohamed Bashir, taken captive in May 2013 by Justice and Equality Movement-Gibril forces, and condemning any actions by any armed group aimed at the forced overthrow of the Government of the Sudan,

Noting that the ability of the African Union-United Nations Hybrid Operation in Darfur to facilitate progress in the implementation of the Doha Document for Peace in Darfur is hampered by delays and the absence of an inclusive political settlement between the Government of the Sudan and non-signatory movements, urging the signatory parties to take the remaining steps necessary to implement the Doha Document fully, expressing concern that the humanitarian and security situation, as well as the lack of capacity of the regional authorities in Darfur, hinder the transition from relief to stabilization and development activities, urging the Government, with the support of interested donors, to ensure that the outstanding work of the Darfur Regional Authority and the commissions are properly resourced to continue implementation, urging donors and the Government to honour their pledges and fulfil their obligations in a timely manner, including those commitments made at the conference held in Doha in April 2013, and affirming that development can support a lasting peace in Darfur,

Noting also that local dispute resolution mechanisms play an important role in preventing and resolving intercommunal conflict, including conflict over natural resources, urging an intensification of effective efforts to prevent local disputes leading to violence, with its corresponding impact on the local civilian populations, acknowledging the efforts of Sudanese authorities and local mediators to intervene through the deployment of security forces and the establishment of buffer zones between warring communities and to mediate in intercommunal fighting, welcoming the encouraging conclusion of several intercommunal peace agreements, with support from the African Union-United Nations Hybrid Operation in Darfur and the United Nations country team, and urging their continued work in collaboration with the Government of the Sudan to find sustainable solutions to these conflicts,

Acknowledging efforts by local governments to restore law and order through the deployment of additional police, corrections and judicial human and material resources across Darfur, including legal advisers, prosecutors, legal aid assistants and family protection units, and noting that these efforts should be consolidated and expanded to enhance the protective environment for the civilian population, particularly with respect to violations and abuses of women's rights and sexual and gender-based violence,

Underlining, without prejudice to the primary responsibility of the Security Council for the maintenance of international peace and security, the importance of the partnership between the United Nations and the African Union, consistent with Chapter VIII of the Charter of the United Nations, with regard to the maintenance of peace and security in Africa, particularly in the Sudan,

Taking note of the regular consultations held between the United Nations, the African Union and the Government of the Sudan in the format of the Tripartite Mechanism, the report of the Joint Working Group of 23 May 2016 and the intention of the Joint Working Group to reconvene in four months,

Reaffirming its concern over the negative effect of ongoing violence in Darfur on the stability of the Sudan as a whole as well as the region, welcoming the ongoing good relations between the Sudan and Chad, including on border control, and encouraging the Sudan, Chad and the Central African Republic to continue to cooperate in order to achieve peace and stability in Darfur and the wider region,

Noting with concern the continued delay in establishing the temporary institutions and resolving the final status of Abyei and that the continued threat of intercommunal violence contributes to heightened tensions in the Abyei Area, including those ongoing tensions that prevent Sudanese staff of the Force and other agencies from returning to Abyei,

Urging all parties to refrain from any unilateral action that could aggravate intercommunal relations within the Abyei Area, expressing concern over the continued implications of what the Peace and Security Council described in its press statement of 6 November 2013 as “the decision by the Ngok Dinka to conduct a unilateral referendum”, and also in this context taking note that the Government of the Sudan proceeded with its April 2015 national elections in Abyei,

The Council recognizes that peacebuilding is an inherently political process aimed at preventing the outbreak, escalation, recurrence or continuation of conflict, and further recognizes that peacebuilding encompasses a wide range of political, development and human rights programmes and mechanisms.

The Council reaffirms the importance of national ownership and leadership in peacebuilding, whereby the responsibility for sustaining peace is broadly shared by the Government and all other national stakeholders, and underlines the importance, in this regard, of inclusivity in order to ensure that the needs of all segments of society are taken into account, and further reaffirms the primary responsibility of national Governments and authorities in identifying, driving and directing priorities, strategies and activities for sustaining peace.

The Council recognizes the critical role of the African Union in peacebuilding and sustaining peace in Africa, and commends the efforts of the African countries, the African Union and the regional economic communities in this regard. The Council welcomes various forums for dialogue among national Governments, the African Union, civil societies and other relevant actors, including beyond the United Nations.

The Council calls upon the United Nations system, and invites Member States, to assist African countries emerging from conflict, upon their request, in pursuit of global development and win-win cooperation.

The Council reaffirms the importance of addressing the root causes of conflicts throughout the process of peacebuilding, as well as ensuring national reconciliation and moving towards recovery, reconstruction and development. In particular, the Council underlines the importance of socioeconomic development for sustaining peace in Africa through economic development, including transnational and trans-regional infrastructure development, industrialization, job creation, agricultural modernization and promotion of entrepreneurship. In this regard, the Council also underscores the importance of the rule of law in support of socioeconomic development. The Council also notes that the African Union Post-Conflict Reconstruction and Development Framework policy highlights the need for undertaking comprehensive institution-building to enhance good economic governance through the reinforcement of fiscal and financial management institutions in support of effective revenue collection, monitoring and evaluation mechanisms and anti-corruption structures to ensure accountability and transparency. The Council stresses the importance of strengthening public-private partnerships and political commitments to reinforce such efforts.

The Council, while welcoming the statement by the World Health Organization on 29 March 2016 that the Ebola situation in West Africa no longer constitutes a public health emergency of international concern, reiterates its concern about economic, social and humanitarian consequences of this virus disease and underlines the importance of promoting long-term human and institutional capacity-building to build strong national health systems. The Council supports current efforts and underscores the need to strengthen the global health architecture, including through the implementation of the World Health Organization International Health Regulations and its Health Emergencies Programme, in order to better respond to public health emergencies, as well as for promoting strong, sustainable and responsive health systems for better preparedness and prevention.

The Council encourages those who drive the efforts on peacebuilding to take the necessary steps to ensure that women are equally engaged in the process of peacebuilding. The Council underscores the need to empower women to do so by such means as increasing representation of women at all decision-making levels in local, national, regional and international institutions and through mechanisms for the prevention and resolution of conflict and mediation, and to consider gender-related issues in all discussions pertinent to sustaining peace. The Council further welcomes the efforts of Member States to implement resolution 1325 \(2000\) and its subsequent resolutions, in particular its resolution 2242 \(2015\).

The Council calls upon all relevant actors to engage in long-term capacity-building to promote a culture of peace, tolerance and intercultural and interreligious dialogue that involves youth and discourages their participation in acts of violence and terrorism. The Council further stresses the importance of promoting policies and adopting tailored approaches for youth that would positively contribute to peacebuilding efforts, including social and economic development, supporting projects designed to grow local economies, and providing youth employment opportunities and vocational training, fostering their quality education, and promoting youth entrepreneurship and constructive political engagement. The Council recognizes that such efforts contribute to countering recruitment to violent extremism, which can be conducive to terrorism, and promoting social inclusion and cohesion, making the society more resistant to radicalization to violence.

The Council stresses the potential benefit of taking such innovative approaches as the use of science and technology, which can play a key role in support of sustaining peace, economic growth, sustainable development and national capacity-building through institution-building in Africa. The Council appreciates the efforts to develop and apply relevant technologies to activities such as elections management, border control and the prevention of disease outbreaks, among others. The Council stresses the need for strengthening capacity of relevant institutions at the local, national, regional and international levels through further innovation, including digital connectivity through improved information and communications technology infrastructure and enhanced access to energy.

The Council recalls its resolution 2282 \(2016\), and welcomes the valuable work undertaken by the Peacebuilding Fund. The Council reaffirms the importance of the advisory functions of the Peacebuilding Commission and requests it to further consider and share good practices on institution-building for sustaining peace in Africa. The Council reaffirms the importance of strengthening coordination, coherence and cooperation with the Commission.

The Council emphasizes the need for predictable and sustained financing to United Nations peacebuilding activities, including through increased contributions, and strengthened partnerships with key stakeholders, while also noting the significance that non-monetary contributions can play in peacebuilding efforts, taking into account the need to ensure transparency, accountability and appropriate monitoring of funds.

The Council recalls the decision of the General Assembly to invite the Secretary-General to report to the Assembly at its seventy-second session, at least 60 days prior to the high-level meeting on “Peacebuilding and sustaining peace”, on efforts to implement its resolution 2282 \(2016\). The Council further recalls the Secretary-General’s suggestion to provide an oral briefing to the Council no later than December 2016.

On 16 December 2016, the President of the Security Council addressed the following letter to the Secretary-General:<sup>461</sup>

I have the honour to refer to Security Council resolution 1646 \(2005\), in which the Council, in keeping with its resolution 1645 \(2005\), decided that the permanent members listed in Article 23, paragraph 1, of the Charter of the United Nations should be members of the Organizational Committee of the Peacebuilding Commission and that, in addition, the Council should annually select two of its elected members to participate in the Organizational Committee.

The Security Council reaffirms its primary responsibility for the maintenance of international peace and security, in accordance with the Charter of the United Nations, and recognizes the primary responsibility of States in the eradication of piracy and armed robbery at sea.

The Council, in this regard, reiterates the primary role of States in the region to counter the threat and address the underlying causes of piracy and armed robbery at sea in the Gulf of Guinea, in close cooperation with organizations in the region and their partners.

The Council reaffirms its respect for the sovereignty, independence and territorial integrity of States concerned.

The Council remains deeply concerned about the threat that piracy and armed robbery at sea in the Gulf of Guinea pose to international navigation, the security and economic development of States in the region, the safety and welfare of seafarers and other persons, and the safety of commercial maritime routes.

The Council expresses its deep concern at the reported number of incidents and level of violence of acts of piracy and armed robbery at sea in the Gulf of Guinea since 2014, and strongly condemns the acts of murder, kidnapping, hostage-taking and robbery by pirates operating in the Gulf of Guinea. The Council further calls upon States in the region to cooperate, as appropriate, on the prosecution of suspected pirates, and calls upon all States in the region and all relevant stakeholders to intensify their efforts to secure the safe and immediate release of all seafarers held hostage in or around the Gulf of Guinea.

The Council notes the link between piracy and armed robbery at sea and transnational organized crime in the Gulf of Guinea and expresses its concern about the fact that pirates benefit from it.

The Council underlines the importance of determining the existence of any possible or potential links between piracy and armed robbery at sea and terrorist groups in West Africa and the Sahel region, and urges Member States and relevant international organizations to assist States in the region, as well as regional and subregional organizations, in making arrangements to ensure that necessary measures are taken to prevent the revenues generated by acts of piracy and armed robbery at sea from contributing to the financing of terrorism.

The Council notes with concern the damage being done to economic development efforts and the destruction of essential infrastructure, and urges support for multilateral efforts for the development of an international framework to address issues of crude oil theft and piracy and armed robbery at sea.

The Council stresses the importance of implementing a comprehensive approach led by States of the region to counter the threat of piracy and armed robbery at sea in the Gulf of Guinea, as well as related criminal activities, to address their underlying causes and to strengthen both justice systems and judicial cooperation in the region. The Council recognizes the efforts of the countries in the region in adopting relevant measures in accordance with the relevant framework established by international law to counter piracy and armed robbery at sea and to address transnational organized crime, such as drug trafficking, as well as other measures to enhance maritime safety and security.

The Council emphasizes that regional peace and stability, the strengthening of State institutions, economic and social development and respect for human rights, and the rule of law, are all necessary to create the conditions for a durable eradication of piracy and armed robbery at sea in the Gulf of Guinea.

The Council stresses that the coordination of efforts at the regional level is key to counter the threat of piracy and armed robbery at sea, and also notes the need for international assistance to support national and regional efforts to assist the Member States taking steps to address threats of piracy and armed robbery at sea. The Council thus encourages the regional organizations, including the African Union, the Economic Community of Central African States, the Economic Community of West African States, the Gulf of Guinea

The Council further reiterates the urgent need to investigate and prosecute, in accordance with international law, including international human rights law, those who incite or intentionally facilitate such crimes, including key figures of criminal networks involved in piracy and armed robbery at sea who illicitly plan, organize, facilitate, finance or profit from such attacks.

The Council urges States and international organizations, as well as the private sector, to share information, as appropriate, related to counter-piracy and armed robbery at sea in the Gulf of Guinea, and to strengthen joint coordination on regional information-sharing.

At the same meeting, following consultations among members of the Security Council, the President made the following statement on behalf of the Council:<sup>507</sup>

The Security Council recalls its primary responsibility for the maintenance of international peace and security, in accordance with the Charter of the United Nations.

The Council recalls the United Nations Convention against Transnational Organized Crime<sup>500</sup> and the Protocol to Prevent, Suppress and Punish Trafficking in Persons, Especially Women and Children, supplementing the United Nations Convention against Transnational Organized Crime,<sup>502</sup> which includes the first internationally agreed definition of the crime of trafficking in persons and provides a framework to effectively prevent and combat trafficking in persons.

The Council condemns in the strongest terms reported instances of trafficking in persons in areas affected by armed conflict. The Council further notes that trafficking in persons undermines the rule of law and contributes to other forms of transnational organized crime, which can exacerbate conflict and foster insecurity.

The Council deplores all acts of trafficking in persons undertaken by Islamic State in Iraq and the Levant (ISIL, also known as Da’esh), including of Yazidis, as well as all ISIL’s violations of international humanitarian law and abuses of human rights, and deplores also any such trafficking in persons and violations and other abuses by the Lord’s Resistance Army and other terrorist or armed groups, including Boko Haram, for the purpose of sexual slavery, sexual exploitation and forced labour which may contribute to the funding and sustainment of such groups, and underscores that certain acts associated with trafficking in persons in the context of armed conflict may constitute war crimes.

The Council reiterates the critical importance of all Member States fully implementing relevant resolutions with respect to ISIL, including resolutions 2161 \(2014\), 2170 \(2014\), 2178 \(2014\), 2199 \(2015\) and 2249 \(2015\). The Council further reiterates the critical importance of all Member States fully implementing relevant resolutions, including resolution 2195 \(2014\), in which it expresses concern that terrorists benefit from transnational organized crime in some regions, including from trafficking in persons, as well as resolution

2242 \(2015\), in which it expresses concern that acts of sexual and gender-based violence are known to be part of the strategic objectives and ideology of certain terrorist groups.

The Council calls upon Member States to reinforce their political commitment to and improve their implementation of applicable legal obligations to criminalize, prevent and otherwise combat trafficking in persons, and to strengthen efforts to detect and disrupt trafficking in persons, including implementing robust victim identification mechanisms and providing access to protection and assistance for identified victims, particularly in relation to conflict. The Council underscores in this regard the importance of international law enforcement cooperation, including with respect to investigation and prosecution of trafficking cases, and in this regard calls for the continued support of the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime in providing technical assistance upon request.

The Council calls upon Member States to consider ratifying or acceding to the United Nations Convention against Transnational Organized Crime and the Protocol to Prevent, Suppress and Punish Trafficking in Persons, Especially Women and Children. The Council further calls upon States parties to the Convention and to the Protocol to redouble their efforts to implement them effectively.

The Council takes note of the recommendations made by the Working Group on Trafficking in Persons established by the Conference of the Parties to the United Nations Convention against Transnational Organized Crime, since its inception, and calls upon States to strengthen their efforts in building the political, economic and social conditions necessary to tackle this crime.

The Council notes the particular impact that trafficking in persons in situations of armed conflict has on women and children, including increasing their vulnerability to sexual and gender-based violence. The Council expresses its intention to continue to address this impact, including, as appropriate, in the context of its Working Group on Children and Armed Conflict, within its mandate, and in the framework of its agenda to prevent and address sexual violence in armed conflict.

Resolution 2310 (2016) of 23 September 2016

The Security Council,

Recalling its resolution 1887 (2009) of 24 September 2009, and reaffirming its firm commitment to the Treaty on the Non-Proliferation of Nuclear Weapons<sup>512</sup> in all its aspects,

Reaffirming that the proliferation of weapons of mass destruction, and their means of delivery, constitutes a threat to international peace and security,

Recalling that the Comprehensive Nuclear-Test-Ban Treaty (the Treaty),<sup>514</sup> adopted by the General Assembly by its resolution 50/245 of 10 September 1996, was opened for signature on 24 September 1996, and that States signatories, by their resolution of 19 November 1996, including paragraph 7 thereof, established the Preparatory Commission for the Comprehensive Nuclear-Test-Ban Treaty Organization,

Recognizing also that early entry into force of the Treaty will constitute an effective nuclear disarmament and non-proliferation measure that would contribute to the achievement of a world without nuclear weapons,

Welcoming progress made towards universalization of the Treaty, noting that 183 States have signed the Treaty and 166 States have deposited their instruments of ratification, and further noting that of the 44 States listed in annex 2 to the Treaty, whose ratification is needed for its entry into force, 41 have signed and 36 have both signed and ratified the Treaty, including several nuclear-weapon States,

Welcoming also the efforts of Member States of the Preparatory Commission and its Provisional Technical Secretariat to build all elements of the Treaty's verification regime, unprecedented in its global reach, recognizing the maturity of and progress achieved in the establishment of the International Monitoring System, as well as the satisfactory functioning of the International Data Centre that has demonstrated its ability to provide independent and reliable means to ensure compliance with the Treaty once it enters into force, and emphasizing the continuing progress in developing, exercising and demonstrating the advanced technologies and logistical capabilities necessary to execute on-site inspections,

Stressing the vital importance and urgency of achieving the early entry into force of the Treaty,

1. Urges all States that have either not signed or not ratified the Comprehensive Nuclear-Test-Ban Treaty,<sup>514</sup> particularly the eight remaining annex 2 States, to do so without further delay;

2. Encourages all States signatories, including annex 2 States, to promote the universality and early entry into force of the Treaty;

3. Recalls the statements by each of the five nuclear-weapon States, noted in resolution 984 (1995) of 11 April 1995, in which they give security assurances against the use of nuclear weapons to non-nuclear-weapon States parties to the Treaty on the Non-Proliferation of Nuclear Weapons,<sup>512</sup> and affirms that such security assurances strengthen the nuclear non-proliferation regime;

4. Calls upon all States to refrain from conducting any nuclear-weapon test explosion or any other nuclear explosion and to maintain their moratoriums in this regard, commends those States' national moratoriums, some of which are established by national legislation pending entry into force of the Comprehensive Nuclear-Test-Ban Treaty, emphasizes that such moratoriums are an example of responsible international behaviour that contributes to international peace and stability and should continue, while stressing that such moratoriums do not have the same permanent and legally binding effect as entry into force of the Treaty, and notes the joint statement on the Treaty by China, France, the Russian Federation, the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland and the United States of America of 15 September 2016, in which those States noted that, inter alia, "a nuclear-weapon test explosion or any other nuclear explosion would defeat the object and purpose of the CTBT";

5. Underlines the need to maintain momentum towards completion of all elements of the Treaty verification regime, and in this regard calls upon all States to provide the support required to enable the Preparatory Commission for the Comprehensive Nuclear-Test-Ban Treaty Organization to complete all its tasks in the most efficient and cost-effective way, and encourages all States hosting International Monitoring System facilities to transmit data to the International Data Centre on a testing and provisional basis, pending entry into force of the Treaty;

6. Welcomes the voluntary information in the national statements in the Preparatory Commission by States listed in annex 1 to the Protocol to the Treaty<sup>514</sup> as responsible for one or more facilities of the International Monitoring System on the status of completing the construction of those facilities as well as regarding the status of transmission of data from their facilities to the International Data Centre, encourages States hosting International Monitoring System facilities to complete construction of the International Monitoring System facilities in a timely manner as provided for by the Treaty and text on the establishment of the Preparatory Commission, and invites the Provisional Technical Secretariat to provide a report to all States signatories within 180 days of the adoption of the present resolution on the status of States signatories' assessed contributions to the Preparatory Commission and any additional support provided by States signatories for the completion of the Treaty's verification regime and for the maintenance and operational needs of the International Data Centre and the International Monitoring System;

7. Recognizes that, even absent entry into force of the Treaty, the monitoring and analytical elements of the verification regime, operating on a testing and provisional basis, are at the disposal of the international community in conformity with the Treaty and under the guidance of the Preparatory Commission, and that such elements contribute to regional stability as a significant confidence-building measure, and strengthen the nuclear non-proliferation and disarmament regime;

8. Affirms that entry into force of the Treaty will contribute to the enhancement of international peace and security through its effective prevention of the proliferation of nuclear weapons in all its aspects and through its contribution to nuclear disarmament, and recognizes that the Provisional Technical Secretariat has demonstrated its utility in bringing tangible scientific and civil benefits to States, for example through early tsunami warnings and seismological monitoring, and in this regard encourages the Preparatory Commission to consider ways to ensure that these benefits can be broadly shared by the international community in conformity with the Treaty, through capacity-building and the sharing of relevant expertise on the verification regime;

9. Decides to remain seized of the matter.

At the same meeting, following consultations among members of the Security Council, the President made the following statement on behalf of the Council:<sup>515</sup>

The Security Council recalls the purposes and principles of the Charter of the United Nations, and reaffirms its primary responsibility under the Charter for the maintenance of international peace and security.

The Council reaffirms the basic principles of peacekeeping: consent of the parties, impartiality and non-use of force except in self-defence and defence of the mandate; and the Council recognizes that the mandate of each peacekeeping operation is specific to the needs and situation of the country concerned. In this regard, the Council underlines that the basic principles are consistent with the mandates that it authorizes that seek to tackle new challenges faced by peacekeeping operations, such as force protection and safety and security, protection of civilians and asymmetric threats, and that the Council expects full delivery of the mandates it authorizes.

The Council welcomes the efforts of the Secretary-General to advance the cause of reform as well as the initiative of the Secretary-General to undertake a comprehensive review of United Nations peace operations in an effort to consider measures to further strengthen the role, capacity, effectiveness, accountability and efficiency of the United Nations system, including its peace operations, and in this regard welcomes the appointment by the Secretary-General of the High-level Independent Panel on Peace Operations and the wide and significant consultations undertaken by the Panel with diverse groups and stakeholders.

The Council takes note of the recommendations in the report of the Secretary-General entitled “The future of United Nations peace operations: implementation of the recommendations of the High-level Independent Panel on Peace Operations”<sup>516</sup> and of the recommendations in the report of the Panel<sup>517</sup> including the recommendations with respect to the strategic partnership with the African Union. The Council commends the commitment of the Secretary-General to continue to take steps, including within the Secretariat and in consultation with Member States, host States, troop- and police-contributing countries and the Council, in order to improve United Nations peace operations.

The Council notes that the report of the Secretary-General identifies a number of areas in which the Council could play a key role in strengthening United Nations peace operations and expresses its intention to continue to consider the relevant recommendations of the report of the Secretary-General. In this regard, the Council welcomes the initiative of the Secretary-General to brief the Council on 20 November 2015 on recommendations for further consideration by the Council, as well as other intergovernmental formats. The Council underscores the critical importance of improving the accountability, transparency and performance of United Nations peace operations.

The Council underlines the significant impact that its statements and actions can exert in situations of armed conflict or in support of peace processes. The Council recalls resolution 2171 \(2014\) and reiterates its commitment to take early and effective action to prevent armed conflict and to that end to employ all appropriate means at its disposal, in accordance with the provisions of the Charter.

The Council welcomes and reaffirms its commitment to cooperation between the United Nations and regional and subregional organizations and arrangements in matters relating to the maintenance of international peace and security, and consistent with Chapter VIII of the Charter, which can improve collective security. The Council notes the strategic partnership between the United Nations and the African Union and, in this regard, looks forward to the results of the Secretary-General's review and assessment of various mechanisms currently available to support African Union peace operations authorized by the Council. The Council stresses the need to secure more financial resources from within the African continent, without prejudice to the support from the United Nations and other partners. The Council encourages regional and subregional organizations involved in peace processes to keep the Council informed of developments, where relevant. The Council encourages the Secretary-General to ensure that, where applicable, the United Nations is involved at the early stages of peace processes and keeps the Council informed on the parameters of United Nations involvement in such peace processes.

The Council recalls its determination to upgrade its situational awareness and strategic oversight of United Nations peacekeeping operations, mindful of the important role that peacekeeping operations play for the protection of civilians. The Council reaffirms its support to the efforts of the Secretary-General to review peacekeeping operations and to provide enhanced planning and support and renews its encouragement to deepen these efforts, in partnership with troop- and police-contributing countries and other relevant stakeholders. The Council welcomes the commitment of the Secretary-General to keep it informed, on a regular basis, of situations of escalating risk to civilians in the countries where United Nations peace missions are deployed, serious shortfalls in the capability of missions to fulfil their mandates and of any incident in which a mission or uniformed personnel or unit fails to act to implement their mandate, including to protect civilians, while bearing in mind that States bear the primary responsibility to protect civilians.

The Council will pursue more prioritization when evaluating, mandating and reviewing United Nations peace operations in order to enhance the effectiveness of such operations, including through consultation with troop- and police contributing countries, regional and subregional organizations and other relevant stakeholders. The Council encourages the Secretary-General to strengthen his engagement and reporting to the Council by emphasizing enhanced analysis and planning, including on safety and security, so as to facilitate prioritization by the Council. The Council will consider sequenced and phased mandates, where appropriate, when evaluating existing United Nations peace operations or establishing new United Nations peace operations.

The Council affirms that proper conduct by, and discipline over, all personnel deployed in United Nations peace operations are crucial to their effectiveness. In particular, the Council underscores that sexual exploitation and abuse by United Nations peacekeepers is unacceptable and affirms its support for the United Nations zero-tolerance policy on all forms of sexual exploitation and abuse. The Council welcomes the proposals by the Secretary-General to strengthen the prevention, enforcement and remediation efforts of the Organization for all forms of misconduct and reiterates its request to the Secretary-General to include a section on conduct and discipline, including, whenever relevant, adherence to his zero-tolerance policy on sexual exploitation and abuse, in all his thematic reports and reports on country-specific situations to the Council. The Council reaffirms the primary responsibility of troop- and police-contributing countries to investigate allegations of sexual exploitation and abuse against their uniformed personnel and calls upon them to ensure that allegations of misconduct are investigated promptly, that criminal accountability is enforced and that the United Nations is informed in a timely manner of the status and outcome of all investigations. The Council asks the Secretariat to keep troop- and police-contributing countries fully informed as soon as allegations against peacekeepers are made and stresses the need for full and appropriate reporting within the United Nations system. The Council also encourages the Secretary-General to continue his efforts to ensure that mechanisms are available and widely known for victims to register complaints confidentially, and that feedback to victims is provided.

The Council recalls its high-level review of resolution 1325 \(2000\) and its commitments through resolution 2242 \(2015\), notes the report of the Advisory Group of Experts on the Review of the Peacebuilding Architecture,<sup>518</sup> encourages coherence, synergies and complementarities among the ongoing reviews of the United Nations peace and security architecture, and reiterates the importance of cooperation between all relevant United Nations organs to further consider these reviews, as appropriate and in accordance with established procedures and in compliance with their respective purviews.

The Council encourages the Secretary-General to take forward those steps under his authority he has set out to take to contribute to improving United Nations peace operations, in areas such as enhancing analysis and planning, strengthening reporting to the Council, reinforcing partnerships and cooperation with regional organizations, strategic force generation, improving leadership and accountability, measures aimed to reduce incidents of sexual exploitation and abuse, and measures to improve the strategic partnership with the African Union. The Council requests the Secretary-General to provide it with updates on progress in these areas.

“Maintenance of international peace and security

“Report of the Secretary-General on the implementation of the Peace, Security and Cooperation Framework for the Democratic Republic of the Congo and the Region (S/2016/232)”.

At the same meeting, following consultations among members of the Security Council, the President made the following statement on behalf of the Council:<sup>529</sup>

The Security Council takes note of the report of the Secretary-General on the implementation of the Peace, Security and Cooperation Framework for the Democratic Republic of the Congo and the Region.<sup>530</sup>

The Council regrets that progress made in the implementation of national and regional commitments under the Peace, Security and Cooperation Framework<sup>531</sup> remains limited and stresses the importance of the signatory States fully implementing their national and regional commitments under the Framework, which remains essential for the achievement of lasting peace and security in the Great Lakes region.

The Council reiterates the importance of neutralizing all armed groups operating in the eastern Democratic Republic of the Congo, particularly the Forces démocratiques de libération du Rwanda , the Allied Democratic Forces, the Lord's Resistance Army and the Mai Mai groups, in line with Council resolution 2277 \(2016\). It notes in this regard the announcement of the resumption of joint military operations between the Government of the Democratic Republic of the Congo and the United Nations Organization Stabilization Mission in the Democratic Republic of the Congo and calls for immediate restart of joint operations to be undertaken in earnest to bring about the complete neutralization of all armed groups operating in the eastern Democratic Republic of the Congo.

Peace, Security and Cooperation Framework and reiterates the importance of ensuring that all provisions of the signed documents are implemented swiftly and in good faith.

The Council recalls the regional commitment under the Peace, Security and Cooperation Framework not to harbour war criminals or provide support to armed groups, including recruitment, and urges all countries in the Great Lakes region to implement this provision of the Framework and to make concerted efforts to investigate any allegations that former 23 March Movement members have committed serious crimes under international law and to hold accountable those responsible.

The Council is of the view that children have been major victims of the conflicts in the Great Lakes region, and stresses the absolute need to eliminate their recruitment into armed groups, and the need to empower young people and promote youth employment initiatives at the regional level.

The Council calls upon all countries in the Great Lakes region to comply with their obligations under international law, including international human rights law and international humanitarian law, and encourages them to actively pursue accountability for those who commit human rights violations and abuses and violations of international humanitarian law.

The Council welcomes the credible and peaceful conduct of elections in some States of the Great Lakes region. The Council notes, however, that recent and ongoing electoral processes in some countries of the Great Lakes region raise deep concerns about the risk of instability, insecurity, the potential for violence, human rights violations and abuses and violations of international humanitarian law and further displacement of people which impact all countries of the Great Lakes region.

The Council urges regional support for initiatives aimed at promoting inclusive dialogue among national stakeholders and stresses the importance of opening political space to enable the full and free participation of peaceful political parties, civil society and the media in the political process. The Council further urges regional support for strengthening and improving capacity for elections and governance in the countries of the Great Lakes region. The Council calls upon Member States in the Great Lakes region to take steps to ensure that electoral processes promote peace and security through timely, peaceful, inclusive and credible elections, in line with countries' own constitutions and the African Charter on Democracy, Elections and Governance, as applicable.

The Council is gravely concerned about the continued illicit exploitation of and trade in natural resources in the eastern Democratic Republic of the Congo. The Council urges the signatory States to the Peace, Security and Cooperation Framework, regional organizations and the international community to coordinate their efforts to undercut the economic lifelines of armed groups that benefit from the illegal exploitation of and trade in natural resources, and prevent the exploitation of women and children in the trade in these resources.

The Council takes note of the Great Lakes Regional Strategic Framework 2016–2017,<sup>533</sup> presented to the Council by the Secretary-General, which outlines the United Nations development approach in support of the implementation of the Peace, Security and Cooperation Framework, under six pillars: sustainable management of natural resources; economic integration, cross-border trade and food and nutrition security; mobility; youth and adolescents; gender and sexual and gender-based violence; and justice and conflict prevention.

The Council also notes that the Regional Strategic Framework seeks to shift the illegal exploitation of natural resources into legal, regulated business, more sustainable use of natural resources and its transformation into development outcomes, implying the transparent and accountable management of these resources, which could result in significant earnings for the States and the communities.

The Council, without prejudice to the conclusions of the future mandate review of the Special Envoy of the Secretary-General for the Great Lakes Region, also takes note of the road map of the Special Envoy and the priorities identified for regional action.<sup>534</sup>

The Council stresses that the 2006 Pact on Security, Stability and Development in the Great Lakes Region and the Peace, Security and Cooperation Framework for the Democratic Republic of the Congo and the Region are mutually reinforcing and are crucial tools to achieve long-term peace and prosperity. The Council emphasizes that the Peace, Security and Cooperation Framework demonstrates that peace, security and development are interlinked and underscores the importance of strengthening regional cooperation, including the deepening of economic integration.

The Council urges the donor community to contribute to the implementation of the Regional Strategic Framework and the road map of the Special Envoy, as an effective platform for partnership, in support of Member States in the national and regional commitments aimed at addressing the root causes of conflicts, promoting economic development and cooperation and bringing about durable peace in the Great Lakes region.

The Council commends the efforts of the Special Envoy and welcomes the Great Lakes Private Sector Investment Conference, which took place in Kinshasa on 24 and 25 February 2016 and was jointly organized by the Office of the Special Envoy and the International Conference on the Great Lakes Region and hosted by the Government of the Democratic Republic of the Congo.

The Council further stresses that the momentum generated by the Great Lakes Private Sector Investment Conference should be built upon through the operationalization of the International Conference on the Great Lakes Region Private Sector Forum to realize investments and stimulate job creation and livelihood opportunities as effective tools for conflict prevention and the consolidation of peace and security in the Great Lakes region.

The Council underscores that solutions to the prevailing situation in the Great Lakes region should come within a regional perspective, by addressing the root causes of conflicts, many of which are regional in nature, with cross-border issues linked to the eastern Democratic Republic of the Congo assuming crucial significance, owing to the large flows of natural resources and migrants and refugees, and activities of armed groups and criminal networks across the borders.

The Council stresses that the forced displacement of millions of persons in the Great Lakes region is a key driver of conflict, leading to regional instability, insecurity, humanitarian consequences and human rights violations and abuses.

The Council encourages regional initiatives aimed at increasing youth employment and livelihoods, to enhance young people's economic self-sufficiency and the development of entrepreneurial skills, particularly marginalized adolescents and young people in the border areas of the Great Lakes region countries and those formerly associated with armed groups.

The Council shares the view expressed in the Regional Strategic Framework that there is an urgent need to address violence and discrimination against women and girls, including rape and other forms of sexual violence, in the Great Lakes region and take into account the link between women's participation in peace and security decision-making, for peace and gender equality.

The Council supports the regional initiatives on the issue of gender-related violence in armed conflict to influence regional and local decision makers, aimed at the implementation of the commitments of the Kampala Declaration addressing impunity for gender-based crimes at the country level and to improve women's visibility, empowerment and resilience.

The Council, noting the link between justice and conflict prevention, calls upon countries of the Great Lakes region to hold accountable perpetrators of human rights violations and abuses and violations of international humanitarian law and to effectively support measures of conflict prevention, by ending the culture of impunity.

The Council welcomes efforts by national Governments to reverse such trend by setting a strategy that seeks to realize tangible improvements in holding accountable those responsible for violations and abuses of human rights and violations of international humanitarian law and to build trust between citizens and Governments.

The Council underlines the importance of peacebuilding efforts to prevent relapses into conflict and encourages close cooperation between the Peacebuilding Commission and relevant regional organizations.

The Council takes note of the priority “interventions” set in the Regional Strategic Framework to strengthen institutions, mechanisms and capacities for conflict prevention, management and resolution and peacebuilding, through cross-border initiatives and partnerships at the regional level, including the International Conference on the Great Lakes Region and civil society organizations; strengthen regional efforts by increasing controls on the supply of small arms and light weapons which are a major source of conflict in the Great Lakes region; and enhance judicial cooperation, including law enforcement, border control, prosecution services, judicial bodies and the legal profession, especially by improving cooperation between Governments, justice institutions and local communities, particularly in cross-border areas of the Great Lakes region.

The Council encourages further progress by the United Nations system and its partners towards the implementation of the United Nations integrated strategy for the Sahel,<sup>538</sup> including through support to the Group of Five for the Sahel in order to assist in addressing the security and political challenges to the stability and development of the Sahel region. The Council reaffirms its continued commitment to address all these challenges, which are interrelated with humanitarian and development issues as well as the adverse effects of climate and ecological changes. The Council reiterates the importance of national and regional ownership of the strategy, and commends the growing leadership role assumed by the countries of the region. It welcomes in this regard the establishment of the Group of Five, which aims to enhance ownership of the initiatives focused on addressing the threats to peace, security and development in the Sahel.

The Council encourages the Office of the Special Envoy of the Secretary-General for the Sahel to continue to work closely with the countries of the Group of Five as well as other countries of the region and regional and international actors, including the African Union and the Economic Community of West African States, to tackle the threats to peace, security and development in the Sahel as well as their root causes. The Council is gravely concerned that Libya remains a safe haven for terrorist groups operating in the Sahel region, and expresses deep concern at the threat posed by the widespread availability of unsecured arms and ammunition and their proliferation, which undermines stability in Libya and the Sahel region, including through transfer to terrorist and violent extremist groups. In this regard, the Council calls upon the international community to provide support to Libya and its neighbours in the Sahel, including by providing them with the necessary security and capacity-building assistance in the struggle against Al-Qaida-linked terrorist groups and individuals. The Council calls upon all Libyan stakeholders to endorse and sign the Libyan Political Agreement and work swiftly towards the formation of a Government of National Accord.

The Council urges Member States of the Sahel, West Africa and the Maghreb to coordinate their efforts to prevent the serious threat posed to international and regional security by terrorist groups crossing borders and seeking safe havens in the Sahel region, to enhance cooperation and coordination in order to develop holistic, inclusive and effective strategies to combat in a comprehensive and integrated manner the activities of terrorist groups, and to prevent the expansion of those groups as well as to limit the proliferation of all arms and transnational organized crime. The Council welcomes the efforts of the African Union and the Economic Community of West African States as well as of Member States of the Sahel to strengthen border security and regional cooperation, including through the Group of Five and the Nouakchott Process on the enhancement of security cooperation and the operationalization of the African Peace and Security Architecture in the Sahelo-Saharan region, the most inclusive security cooperation mechanism in the region. It takes note of the establishment by the countries of the Group of Five of a framework to strengthen regional security cooperation as well as to conduct cross-border joint military operations, including with the support of the French forces.

The Council reaffirms that Member States must ensure that any measures taken to counter terrorism comply with all their obligations under international law, in particular international human rights law, international refugee law and international humanitarian law. The Council recalls that those responsible for abuses and violations of human rights and violations of international humanitarian law must be held accountable and brought to justice.

The Council calls for funding for humanitarian programmes in the Sahel region which continue to be underfunded, hampering timely responses to humanitarian needs. The Council expresses its concern at the scale of the growing humanitarian crisis caused by the activities of the Boko Haram terrorist group, which has displaced over 2.5 million people, including an estimated 1.4 million children and 200,000 refugees in Cameroon, Chad and Niger. It commends the support provided to the refugees by these Governments, including with the assistance of humanitarian actors and relevant United Nations entities, and calls upon the international community to provide its support.

The Council commends the courageous and active contribution to peace and stability in the Sahel region of the African Union, the Economic Community of West African States and the States members of the Lake Chad Basin Commission as well as Benin and, in particular, pays tribute to the engagement of their soldiers in Mali and in the fight against Boko Haram. The Council reiterates its call upon the international community and donors to support the Joint Task Force. The Council reiterates its call upon Member States to contribute generously to the African Union trust fund and requests the Secretary-General to continue to advocate strongly with the international community and donors in support of this effort. It calls upon the African Union to establish its trust fund without further delay.

The Council recalls the importance of coordinating the effective implementation of Sahel initiatives and strategies, and in this regard commends Mali for its chairmanship of the Ministerial Coordination Platform for the Sahel over the past two years. It encourages Chad, as the new Chair, to intensify efforts to improve coordination between partners, including through the regular sharing of information and the strengthening of operational cooperation between partners.

The Council calls upon the international community and donors to fulfil all their pledges made towards boosting economic growth, eradicating poverty and supporting governance reforms, through projects that would support peace and security efforts in the Sahel region, and calls upon all relevant entities of the United Nations system to focus on identifying and funding such projects, as a matter of priority, in consultation with the Office of the Special Envoy and the Member States of the Sahel, including the Member States of the Group of Five and relevant regional organizations.

The Council calls upon the Member States of the Sahel region, with the support of the international community, to initiate programmes aimed at creating opportunities that would engage the youth in productive activities to reverse the tide of radicalization and recruitment into terrorist groups. It also calls upon the Office of the Special Envoy to support, as a matter of priority, efforts focused on creating opportunities for youth and women. The Council expresses strong support to the States in the region affected by the smuggling of migrants and human trafficking, emphasizes the need to step up the coordination of efforts in order to strengthen an effective multidimensional response to these common challenges and stresses that addressing both the smuggling of migrants and human trafficking requires a coordinated, multidimensional approach with States of origin, transit and destination.

The Council takes note of the organization of the Sahel women's forum in N'Djamena on 22 and 23 July 2015 to strengthen the role of women in the Sahel region and encourages the Member States of the region to enhance the active participation of women in decision-making. The Council also takes note of the organization in N'Djamena, on 19 and 20 November 2015, of a ministerial meeting of the Group of Five and partners and an ordinary summit of the Group of Five, respectively.

Recognizing the strong nexus between peace, security, good governance and development, the Council encourages regional and international financial organizations to provide a substantial financial assistance package to countries of the region to boost economic growth and reduce poverty. The Council welcomes plans by the United Nations to establish a multi-partner trust fund for the Sahel in order to pool contributions, including from donor countries and the private sector, to support the region's efforts. The Council notes the active resource mobilization efforts of the Special Envoy to continue to engage with potential donor countries and organizations to accelerate the implementation of selected regional projects in consultation with the Member States of the Sahel region, including the Member States of the Group of Five and relevant regional organizations.

The Council takes note of the adoption of a declaration of the countries of the Group of Five on the fight against radicalization and violent extremism in the Sahel. The Council requests the Counter-Terrorism Implementation Task Force and its member entities, including the Counter-Terrorism Committee Executive Directorate and the United Nations Counter-Terrorism Centre, to support the efforts of Sahel countries to counter terrorism and address conditions conducive to the spread of violent extremism which can be conducive to terrorism. It calls upon the Task Force to explore expanding its Integrated Assistance for Countering Terrorism initiative to all the countries of the Group of Five. The Council recalls that the Security Council Committee established pursuant to resolution 1540 (2004), as its subsidiary body, remains committed to supporting States, including the Sahel States, that require assistance in their efforts to comply with the obligations contained in resolution 1540 (2004). The Council calls upon the United Nations to accelerate action to also support the Group of Five in the implementation of the “Silencing the guns” flagship project of the African Union, consistent with the statement by the President of the Council of 16 December 2014.<sup>539</sup>

The Council strongly encourages another high-level visit to the Sahel region as soon as possible by the Secretary-General of the United Nations, the Chairperson of the African Union Commission, the President of the World Bank Group, the President of the African Development Bank and the European Union Development Commissioner, to assess the implementation of the vision set out during the November 2013 visit and to strengthen the focus and commitment of the international community in the region.

The Council notes with satisfaction the series of consultations between the United Nations, the Group of Five and its permanent secretariat, which helped to promote convergence between the United Nations integrated strategy for the Sahel and the priority investment programme of the Group of Five, and led to a road map for consolidating cooperation between the two entities. The Council calls upon the Office of the Special Envoy to continue to coordinate with the national focal points appointed by the Group of Five, and calls upon the United Nations Secretariat to hold at least one meeting per quarter with the Permanent Representatives of the Member States of the Group of Five in New York, to share information and follow up on the implementation of the strategy. The Council encourages the Special Envoy to continue to meet with the officials of the Member States of the Group of Five to discuss developments in the region, activities of the Office and progress toward the implementation of the strategy as well as the priorities of the Member States of the Group of Five.

The Council looks forward to considering the recommendations of the Secretary-General’s strategic review of the Office of the Special Envoy to be conducted in December 2015, and requests the inclusion of recommendations on the location of the Office, in consultation with the Member States of the Sahel region, including the Member States of the Group of Five, and regional and international actors, bearing in mind the need to more fully and directly anchor the implementation of the United Nations integrated strategy for the Sahel in the region including the five priority countries, namely Burkina Faso, Chad, Mali, Mauritania and Niger, as well as to maximize synergies with the relevant entities of the United Nations system.

The Council requests the Secretary-General to inform it of the progress towards the implementation of the United Nations integrated strategy for the Sahel through oral briefings as needed, as well as through a report and a briefing no later than 31 October 2016. The Council also requests the Secretary-General to include in his report detailed information on the financial contributions towards boosting economic growth and eradicating poverty, through projects that would support peace and security efforts in the Sahel region, noted in paragraph 26 of his report of 24 July 2014,<sup>540</sup> and recommendations for strengthening the capabilities of Sahel Member States to prevent drivers of violent extremism which can be conducive to terrorism. The Council encourages the Special Envoy to pursue her efforts and good offices in order to enhance regional and interregional cooperation and strengthen coordinated international assistance to the countries of the Sahel region in close coordination with the Special Representatives of the Secretary-General for West and Central Africa. In this regard, the Council welcomes updates on the overall situation in the Sahel region in the regular reports of the Secretary-General on the situations in West and Central Africa.

The Security Council recalls its previous relevant resolutions and statements by its President which underscore the importance of developing effective partnerships between the United Nations and regional organizations, in particular the African Union, in accordance with the Charter of the United Nations and the relevant statutes of the regional organizations.

The Council reiterates its primary responsibility under the Charter for the maintenance of international peace and security and recalls that cooperation with regional and subregional organizations in matters relating to the maintenance of international peace and security and consistent with Chapter VIII of the Charter can improve collective security.

The Council commends the increased contribution of the African Union to the maintenance of peace and security and welcomes the continuing important efforts and enhanced peacekeeping role of the African Union and its subregional organizations, consistent with Council resolutions and decisions, to prevent, mediate and settle conflicts on the African continent, paying tribute in this regard to the courage and sacrifice of those serving with African-led peace operations.

The Council acknowledges the progress made in the ongoing cooperation between the United Nations and the African Union and stresses the importance of further strengthening cooperation and developing an effective partnership with the African Union, underpinned by mutual consultations between the Security Council and the Peace and Security Council of the African Union in their respective decision-making processes and common strategies for a holistic response to conflict, as appropriate, based on respective comparative advantage, transparency and accountability to address common security challenges in Africa in accordance with the Charter, including Chapter VIII and the purposes and principles.

The Security Council commends the efforts of the African Union to further strengthen its capacity, including through the operationalization of the African Peace and Security Architecture, and welcomes the continued United Nations-African Union cooperation on different components of the Architecture, including on early warning, preventive diplomacy, mediation, electoral assistance, peacekeeping, conflict prevention and resolution, promotion of human rights and the rule of law, protection of women and children in conflict and post-conflict, and post-conflict recovery and reconstruction.

The Council notes that the reviews of the United Nations peacebuilding architecture, United Nations peace operations and the implementation of Council resolution 1325 \(2000\) on women and peace and security provide an opportunity to build a stronger, forward-looking partnership between the two organizations, in line with Chapter VIII of the Charter, and to further harmonize their efforts to achieve a coherent and coordinated continuum of engagement throughout conflict and post-conflict phases with a view to sustaining peace, which should be broadly understood as a goal and a process to build a common vision of a society, ensuring that the needs of all segments of the population are taken into account, and which encompasses activities aimed at preventing the outbreak, escalation, continuation and recurrence of conflict.

The Council recalls its resolution 2282 \(2016\) and reiterates that cooperation with regional and subregional organizations is critical to contributing to the prevention of the outbreak, escalation, continuation and recurrence of conflict, emphasizes the importance of a comprehensive approach to sustaining peace, particularly through the prevention of conflict and addressing its root causes, and further stresses the importance of partnership and cooperation between the United Nations and the African Union to improve cooperation and coordination in peacebuilding, increase synergies and ensure the coherence and complementarity of such efforts.

The Council notes that shared information and analysis between the United Nations, the African Union and its subregional organizations is important for developing joint strategies and coordinating action on conflict prevention, conflict resolution and peacebuilding, and encourages strengthened cooperation in this area.

The Council recognizes the potential role that the African Union can play in post-conflict peacebuilding, recovery, reconstruction and development processes, noting in this regard the utility of the African Union Post-Conflict Reconstruction and Development Framework policy of 2006 and the African Solidarity Initiative, launched in 2012, for mobilizing support from within the continent for countries emerging from conflict, as well as the initiative to establish an African Union centre for post-conflict reconstruction and development.

The Council recognizes that regional and subregional organizations are well positioned to understand the root causes and the triggers of armed conflicts in their respective regions and encourages initiatives to strengthen the use of preventive diplomacy within the African Union and its subregional organizations and to enhance the coordination and complementarity of their efforts, including through the establishment of a mediation support unit at the African Union Commission.

The Council welcomes the United Nations partnership with the African Union in the field of peacekeeping, including support to the efforts of the African Union to develop policy, guidance and training, in particular in the areas of security sector reform, post-conflict reconstruction, women and peace and security, and the protection of civilians, including child protection and prevention of and response to sexual and gender-based violence in armed conflicts and post-conflict situations, and underscores the need to enhance the United Nations and African Union predeployment joint planning and joint mission assessment processes, as appropriate, to promote common understanding and increase the effectiveness of peacekeeping missions and to improve planning for African Union-led peace operations and, when relevant, the management of transitions from African Union-led to United Nations peacekeeping missions.

The Council recognizes that the success of peacekeeping operations increasingly depends on strong collaboration between the United Nations and the African Union and, in this regard, encourages the Secretariat to consult with the African Union, especially when transitioning from an African Union-led to a United Nations peacekeeping operation. The Council recognizes that the experience and expertise of troop- and police-contributing countries in theatres of operation can greatly assist in the planning of operations and stresses the importance of effective consultations among the Council, troop- and police-contributing countries and the Secretariat. The Council reiterates the importance of a more effective relationship between the Security Council and the Peace and Security Council, including through achieving more effective annual consultative meetings, the holding of timely consultations, and collaborative field missions of the two Councils, as appropriate, to formulate cohesive positions and strategies on a case-by-case basis in dealing with conflict situations in Africa.

The Security Council reaffirms the vital role of women in the prevention and resolution of conflicts, peace negotiations, peacebuilding, peacekeeping, humanitarian response and post-conflict reconstruction, and stresses the need for the United Nations and the African Union to work to ensure that women and gender perspectives are fully integrated into all peace and security efforts undertaken by the two organizations, including by building the necessary capacity. The Council welcomes the efforts of the African Union to implement resolution 1325 \(2000\), including through the appointment of the Special Envoy of the Chairperson of the African Union

Commission on Women, Peace and Security and through the five-year Gender, Peace and Security Programme (2015–2020), and encourages the African Union to pursue further implementation.

The Council stresses the importance of further strengthening cooperation with the African Union in order to assist in building its capacity in conflict prevention and crisis management and resolution, as well as post-conflict peacebuilding, and encourages all Member States and international partners to continue to contribute, and as appropriate more actively, in this regard.

The Council acknowledges the substantive contribution of the 10-Year Capacity-Building Programme for the African Union, which expires in 2016, towards enhancing the institutional and technical capacities of the African Union, including in the area of peace and security, and notes the adoption of the Framework for a Renewed United Nations-African Union Partnership on Africa's Integration and Development Agenda 2017–2027 at the African Union summit held in Johannesburg, South Africa, in June 2015, as the successor programme to the Capacity-Building Programme, aiming at promoting closer and more effective partnership between the United Nations, the African Union and its subregional organizations and supporting the implementation of the African Union Agenda 2063.

The Council reiterates that regional organizations have the responsibility to secure human, financial, logistical and other resources for their organizations, including through contributions by their members and support from partners, and welcomes the valuable financial support provided by partners in this regard.

The Council recognizes that one major constraint facing the African Union in effectively carrying out the mandates of maintaining regional peace and security is securing predictable, sustainable and flexible resources, and encourages further dialogue on options for addressing this issue.

The Council welcomes the appointment by the African Union of the African Union High Representative for the Peace Fund and recognizes the benefit of joint planning missions and assessment visits in determining the needs of regional peace support operations.

The Council notes the ongoing work by the Secretariat and the African Union Commission to finalize, in 2016, the Joint United Nations-African Union Framework for an Enhanced Partnership in Peace and Security, which will provide a blueprint for early and continuous engagement between the two organizations before, during and after conflict, with a view to finding political solutions to the crises on the continent.

The Council looks forward to receiving the annual report of the Secretary-General, as initially requested by the Council in December 2014, on ways to strengthen the partnership between the United Nations and the African Union on issues of peace and security in Africa, including the work of the United Nations Office to the African Union.

groups to cease hostilities immediately, to strictly adhere to the ceasefire arrangements and to resume dialogue without delay for the implementation of the Agreement.

The Council urges the Government of Mali and the Plateforme and Coordination armed groups to fully and sincerely maintain their commitments under the Agreement. The Council recalls its readiness to consider targeted sanctions against those who take actions to obstruct the implementation of the Agreement as well as those who resume hostilities and violate the ceasefire, as expressed in its resolution 2295 \(2016\).

The Council acknowledges the steps taken by signatory parties over the last year to implement the Agreement, welcomes the progress towards establishing interim administrations in the north of Mali and expresses its deep concern over the persistent delays for the full implementation of the Agreement. The Council underscores the pressing need to deliver tangible and visible peace dividends to the population in the north and other parts of Mali in order to keep the momentum of the Agreement.

The Council urges the Government of Mali and the Plateforme and Coordination armed groups to take urgent and concrete action to fully deliver on their obligations under the Agreement without further delay, in particular to deploy joint security patrols, to accomplish the process of establishing interim administrations in the north of Mali, to operationalize the commissions for disarmament, demobilization and reintegration of armed combatants and to accelerate the redeployment of the Malian Defence and Security Forces throughout the country within the framework of the Agreement.

The Council urges the Government of Mali to engage with the Secretary-General, through his Special Representative for Mali, to establish concrete benchmarks and timelines to assess the progress toward the full implementation of the Agreement, and recalls its request to the Secretary-General to include them in his December 2016 report.

The Council calls upon members of the Agreement Monitoring Committee and other relevant international partners to sustain their support to the implementation of the Agreement. The Council emphasizes the central role the Special Representative of the Secretary-General should continue to play to support and oversee the implementation of the Agreement by the Government of Mali and the Plateforme and Coordination armed groups.

The Council encourages bilateral and multilateral partners to increase their support to accelerate the redeployment of the Malian Defence and Security Forces, once reformed and reconstituted, to the north of Mali, particularly by providing relevant equipment and training, in coordination with the Government of Mali and the United Nations Multidimensional Integrated Stabilization Mission in Mali and within the framework of the Agreement.

The Council reiterates its concern over the expansion of terrorist and other criminal activities across Mali and, in particular, into central and southern Mali, as well as the intensification of intercommunal violence in the centre of Mali. The Council emphasizes that the Malian authorities have primary responsibility for the provision of stability and security throughout the territory of Mali.

The Council strongly condemns the continuing attacks, including terrorist attacks, against the Malian Defence and Security Forces, the Mission and the French forces. The Council underlines the need to bring perpetrators, organizers, financiers and sponsors of these reprehensible acts of terrorism to justice. The Council urges the Government of Mali to take measures to ensure that those responsible for these attacks are held accountable.

The Council acknowledges the significant capability gaps within the Mission, and underlines its request to the Secretary-General to expeditiously identify options and take all appropriate additional measures to enable the Mission to fully implement its mandate and to ensure the safety and security of its personnel. The Council urges Member States urgently to provide adequate capabilities to the Mission, in particular aviation and transportation capabilities, to fill in these gaps.

The Council reiterates its serious concern over the insecurity which hinders humanitarian access, condemns attacks against humanitarian personnel, and emphasizes the need for all parties to respect the principles of humanitarian assistance (humanity, neutrality, impartiality and independence) in order to ensure the continued provision of humanitarian assistance. The Council also emphasizes the need for all parties to ensure the safety and protection of civilians receiving assistance and the security of humanitarian personnel operating in Mali.

The Council calls upon Member States in the region, notably through the Group of Five for the Sahel and the African Union Nouakchott Process, to advance their cooperation with the Mission in order to strengthen regional security and facilitate the implementation of its mandate.
